A Chinese maxim says: "We require four things of woman - that virtue dwell in her heart; that modesty play on her brow; that sweetness flow from her lips; that industry occupy her hand."

A nosegay is easily obtained. Four brandy toddies a day for a couple of months will put you in the way of one that will astonish your friends.

Of all the men in the world, Daguerotypists should be the most fond of children, for they universally find it very difficult to get along without a little sun.

"Why do you continue to sell spirituous liquor?" "If I did not sell, these drinking fellows would not come to my shop, and I should have no chance to give them good advice."

A French writer, in describing the trading powers of the genuine Yankee, said: "If he was cast away on a desolate island, he'd get up the next morning and go round selling maps to the inhabitants."

The last case of insolence is related in one of our exchanges; it is that of a man named John Hole, who was so lazy, that in writing his name he simply used the letter J, and then punched a hole through the paper!

A poor man once came to a miser and said, "I have a favor to ask." "So have I," said the miser; "grant mine first." "Agreed," "My request is," said the miser, "that you ask me for nothing."

The best adhesive label you can put on luggage: stick to it yourself.

Why should the British Government strive to abolish the use of the shillelah in Ireland? Because it militates against the security of the crown.

A man out West advertises a new patent stove which saves three-quarters of the wood, while the ashes which it makes pays for the other quarter.

The clergyman in a certain town, as the custom is, having published the bans of matrimony between two persons, was followed by the clerk's reading the hymn beginning with these words, "Mistaken souls, who dream of Heaven."

MORAL GEMS.

Religion is much talked of, but little understood, till a man's conscience is awakened; then a man knows the worth of a soul and the want of a saviour.

Religion must be our business, then it will be our delight.

Four things a Christian should specially watch after; to be humble and thankful, watchful and cheerful.

If we would not fall into things unlawful, we must sometimes deny ourselves those that are lawful.

If you follow Satan, you will find the tempter prove a tormentor; if you follow the Spirit, you will find the Counsellor prove a Comforter.

They that spend their days in faith and prayer, shall end their days in peace and comfort.

Engage in no pursuit in which thou canst not look unto God and say, "Bless me in this, O my Father!"

Intoxication has filled our world with tears and groans, with poor and helpless, with wretchedness and want.

When a man lives with God his voice shall be as sweet as the murmur of the brook and the rustle of the corn.

Love is the law of the universe - emanating from God, binding myriad worlds together in the boundless space and harmonizing all their motions without conflict.

If you let trouble sit upon your soul like a hen upon her nest, you may expect the hatching of a large brood.

Folly does not know when to hold its tongue. Wisdom does, and this shows the difference between them.

Remember you are at the door of eternity, and have other work to do than to trifle away time.

Turn to God and he will turn to you - then you will be happy though all the world turn against you.

He that loveth not, knoweth not God, for God is love.

If we forget God when we are young, he may forget us when we are old. If we expect to live with Christ in heaven we must live with him on earth. Christ satisfied the law of God to the uttermost, and therefore can save those who believed in him to the uttermost.

Benefit your friends, that they may love you more dearly still.

Benefit your enemies that they may at last become your friends.

BEHAVIOUR IN COMPANY.—On the subject of behaviour in company Leigh Richmond gives the following excellent advice to his daughters:

"Be cheerful, but not gigglers. Be serious, but not dull. Be communicative, but not forward. Be kind, but not servile. Beware of silly, thoughtless speeches; although you may forget them others will not. Remember God's eye is in every place, and his ear is in every place, and his ear in every company. Beware of levity and familiarity with young men; a modest reserve without affectation, is the only safe path. Court and encourage serious conversation with those who are truly serious and conversable; do not go into valuable company without endeavoring to improve by the intercourse permitted to you. Nothing is more unbecoming, when one part of a company is engaged in profitable conversation, than that another part should be trifling, giggling, and talking comparative nonsense to each other."

Amos Lawrence said, when asked for advice, "Yoting man, base all your actions upon a principle; preserve your integrity of character, and in doing this, never reckon the cost."

When we find our temper ruffled towards a parent, a wife, a husband, a brother or child, we should pause, and think that in a few more months or years they will be in the spirit-land, watching over us; or perchance, we shall be there watching over them.

Commercial Hotel. G. W. Howland's Establishment.

Starting, but True! THE dark ages of medication now draw to a close. Dr. Maggill's two grand specific—PILLS and SALVE—have struck at the root of the cruel idea that make it necessary for a man to pour masses of dead and effluvia down his throat to aid the cure of his disease.

ONE TO TWO PILLS are enough at any time for any man to take if the pills are made of pure, unadulterated drugs. MAGGILL'S PILLS and SALVE are superseding all the stereotyped physics of the day, because they are made of the finest materials in the laboratory, and never fail.

HEAR WHAT IS SAID: "Dr. Maggill, your pill has rid me of all biliousness." "No more noxious doses for me in five or ten pills taken at a time. One of your pills cured me." "I thank Doctor. My headache has left me. Send a other box to keep in the house." "After suffering torture from Bilious Cholera, two of your pills cured me, and I have no return of the malady."

"Our doctors treated me for Chronic Constipation, as they called it, and at last said I was incurable. Maggill's pills cured me." "I had no appetite; Maggill's Pills gave me a hearty one." "Your pills are marvellous." "I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggill has cured my headache that was chronic." "I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day." "My nausea of a morning is now cured." "I let me have three boxes of your Salve and Pills by the return mail."

FOR DISEASES OF THE Kidneys, Retention of the Urine, &c., Maggill's Pills are a perfect cure. One dose will satisfy any one.

FOR FEMALE DISEASES, Nervous Prostration, Weakness, General Lassitude, Want of Appetite, Maggill's Pills will be found an effectual remedy.

MAGGILL'S PILLS AND SALVE are almost universal in their effects, and a cure can be almost always guaranteed. Each box contains twelve Pills, one Pill in a dose.

Sold by all respectable dealers in medicine throughout the United States and Canada, at 25 cents a Box or Pot.

All orders for the United States must be addressed to J. Haydock, No. 11 Pine street
