Scout News and Notices

Registration

To date three hundred and forty Scouts, Cubs, and Leaders have registered with Provincial Headquarters and so have taken advantage of the Scout Group Insurance Policy. This is approximately one half of our present Scout population.

1st Basilea Scout Troop

With the enrollment of ten new recruits, of which five were former Cubs, the following Patrols were formed:

Foxes—P.L. Leo Dolron, Sec. Billie MacDonald, Bernard Connolly, Hubert McKenna, Pat Connolly, George Trainor, Garnet Steele.

Beavers—P.L. James Fardy, Sec. Ian MacDonald, John Burke, Billie Kelly, Merrill Flynn, Frankie Roberts, James Kelly.

Robins—P.L. John Walsh, Sec. John Hughes, Frank Murnaghan, Freddy MacGuigan, Billie MacDougall, Brian Rush.

Due to the small space of our hall it is only possible for us to handle twenty-four boys, making it a Troop of three Patrols. A full Troop consists of thirty-two boys.

The following are the Leaders: S. M. Abe Zakem, A.S.M. Harry Pinesau, Frank Zakem, Elmer Fowler, and John MacDonald.

With the four most capable Leaders mentioned, I am sure that now the attention and care needed will be given to the boys in their work.

A competition has been started, which will last for about six weeks. The purpose of our competition is to create an interest in the Troop and thereby train the boys to be on the alert and to become more efficient.

Leading in the competition are the Beavers, who won the Honour Patrol Flag for last week.

Tests passed—Scout Promise—Billie Kelly, Hubert McKenna, Merrill Flynn, Freddie MacGuigan.

Next week, Good Scouting.

The WEEK at S. D. U.

Tempus fugit! Yes, indeed, time is certainly sailing along. The sheets of the passing months are gradually being torn from the calendar; the Seniors are becoming jittery as they peep into the future, and there seems to be a good deal of concern about exams as a result of rumours. All in all, college life is in high gear. But getting back to the question of time. It used to be your writer's opinion that the period elapsing from Friday to Friday was the equivalent of seven days, (at least that's what we learned in school). But the speed of the modern era must be changing such time-established facts, for the duration between dippings in the ink bottle for a dash at reporting seems to be getting shorter all the time! Indeed, if today time flies, it is not motor-driven, but jet-propelled. Those scientists! Here we are complaining again! News is what you desire. That's why we're drawing our pen right now—recon we'd better shoot.

Since the sports activities dominated the scene this week, sports first it will be. Have you been following the sports reports lately? If you have, then you are already aware of the record-breaking feats in basketball and hockey alike. You didn't hear about it? Pardon us if we shout—come to think of it, the report is worth shouting out—we dood it!

Listen! Last Saturday night our basketball team, without a cheering section, and without a hope-you-win sendoff from the campus, fought single-handed against an army—and won. But they did more than win; when the game ended two records had been shattered. The score of 88-63 was the highest in any league game this year. Besides that, and most deserving of mention, is the performance of Jack Reardon who all year has been really dropping 'em in and who garnered 48 points, the well up in the rating. So you see, that line can tickle a goalie, but it's no laughing matter for him!

As we write now, about 8.30 Friday night, our Intercollegiate team is facing the towering Mount A crew. Wonder how it's coming. Better not make any guesses as you'll have only to consult another column to test our aptitudes in this regard. Anyway, we're mostly wrong in our predictions and such-like. Of course we can rest assured our Red and White boys are dashing in a blue streak right now. Hope they win. I'm liable to ramble on all night like this, quite likely I will... no I won't.

Now to make a sudden change from the board-hanging sport's reporter to the long-haired, be-cloaked theatre observer. I say... well what we wish to say is this: Congratulations to all those responsible for the success of the play, "The Rosary". Probably you were among the capacity crowd which watched the performance last Monday night. You say it was tip-top, pip-pip and all that? Right, that's what everyone says! Oddly enough, most of us on the campus have yet to enjoy the evening's entertainment. The success clearly points out the benefits to be derived from cooperation, for it was the combined efforts of the Dramatic Society, the Glee Club and the I.S.S. which made the finished product what it was. We think we'd best drop the curtain on these jottings for this week. Till next week, so long!
