ICE SKATING IN SUMMER.

The San Francisco Ice is Real, and So is the Fun.
Skating on real ice in summer attire, says the San Francisco Call, is rapidly becoming one of the most popular indoor amusements in San Francisco. To nativous and daughters who have never experienced the rigors of an Eastern winter, it is a thrilling novelty. To those who have enjoyed the exhilarating sport in the land of blizzards and frosts, it is made more enjoyable by the fact that winter dress is unnecessary.

These are only a few of the reasons why the frozen lake in the big Mechanics' Pavilion with nearly 10,000 square feet of polished surface, is visited daily by hundreds who can skate and many who have speedily learned. The sheet of ice is five inches in thickness, 100 feet long, and sixty feet wide. At least 500 persons can skate with comfort at a time, but it was a trifle crowded on the opening night, for no less than 511 skated or struggled over the slippery surface, according to the respective skill of the skaters.

"This idea of a big skating rink with natural ice," said W. W. Donaldson, "is not exactly a new one in this country.
It has been tried here in this city it has been tried three times, but each attempt failed because the ice was not made in the manner of the San Francisco rink. This is the first natural ice skating rink operated in the United States, and the fourth in the world. There is one in Paris, another in Berlin, and a third in Southampton, England."
"How is this natural ice produced?
There is no secret about it. The ice is produced by a machine of the ordinary type employed in cold storage work. The difference here is in the manner of freezing. In cold storage it is done in tanks and insulated rooms. Here the ice is frozen three times a day, and the refrigerant used is sublimed ammonia. This is employed to cool the strong brine. After the brine is cooled it is pumped through a system of pipes 40,000 feet in length, which run through the water that is turned into ice. The cold brine absorbs the heat. The floor beneath is insulated and made up of dead air cells and covered with wood to make it water-tight."
"In the placing of the pipes lies the principal secret. The pipes run in three centres from a header at each end of the rink. These headers are six inches in diameter, and the pipe is taken out of each header at six-inch centres. This admits of circulating the brine from both ends at the same time. The return is also taken from both ends and carried back to the brine tank. By this means we have a cooling surface exposed to the outside air.
In this way we can get the surface of the ice to have an even temperature all over.
Through inch pipes leading from the headers the brine is kept in constant motion."

"Of course, after being used several hours the surface of the ice becomes cut up and somewhat rough. That is why we have three sessions daily—morning, noon and night. During the intervals the snow is swept off the ice, and with a hose or sprayer a thin coating of water is sprayed over the ice to fill up the cuts. In this manner we have a perfectly smooth surface three times a day. The water is frozen at a temperature about ten degrees above zero, which would be cold, probably, and as hard as ice frozen in an cold country when the temperature is about zero."

The Most Beautiful Woman.
Which, says Marmalade, in the London Graphic, was the most beautiful woman of the century? Was she the celebrated Constance Castiglioni? Some years ago I started the problem, proposing the Contessa, as my own favorite, for the distinction, and at the time most of those who possessed the best qualifications for forming an opinion upon it supported my choice. Anyhow, there died at West Hampton last week, a lady who it is said was not the most beautiful of the century, was decidedly, in her youth, one of the most fascinating. This was Mrs. Thistlethwaite, more generally known as Mrs.
Langtry—then at the height of her reputation as a "professional beauty"—the outer rims of the circle being composed of banks of chairs hastily dragged to the spot, and upon which people were standing, so as to be able to obtain a view of her over the heads of the crowd. And the lady was Mrs. Langtry after all. It did not signify, they thought she was.

Kipling Doing Good Work.
Rudyard Kipling continues to pour out ballads and short stories. He has four books in the press now. I with many others have modified my views of him within three years, for within that time he has done his best work, which has in it a promise of something really like genius.
At all events, what he does is manna—much of it jolly brutal, as if he revelled in an excess of gender—and whatever his fallings no one can accuse him of exhibiting any "femininity" in his work. Probably the very best evidence of his large, overweening sex in writing is the fact that women do not care for him. They cannot read him without shrinking a little at his fresh and riotous oar. But I think this very quality is a capital answer to the laments of the Sarah Grenvilles and the Devereux Dicks that our men are all writing down to the desires of weak girls.
It is a comfort to think that somebody can write as that Mrs. Langtry after all. It Kipling retains in whatever he does the smell of the barracks. The weak girl prefers the smell of manna.—Nym Crick.

The Most Miserable of Men.
The most wretched man on earth is said to be a monarch—Norsford, King of Cambodia. He has a gorgeous palace furnished according to the most expensive taste, but he adheres to the customs of his ancestors, and sleeps on an mat of reeds, and a kind of shed that has not been cleaned since his coronation. He is a miserable victim to hypochondria, and all day long he has a long apoplexy of water in his eyes. The monarch is short for parsimony. One eye.

LANSING, Mich., July 2.—A friend of William Lansing formerly of this city, now of London Ont., received a letter a few months ago stating that Mr. Lansing had Bright's disease. Of course no hope of his recovery could be held out. Within a month, the same friend had received a letter from Mr. Lansing stating that he is completely cured of the supposed fatal disease. Mr. Lansing says no medicine did him any good until he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. These helped him from the first and in the end restored him to perfect health.

PEOPLE SAY IT IS MIRACULOUS.

Wonderful, Certainly, But the Same Work is Being Done Every Day by Paine's Celery Compound.

Tis Folly to Spend Money for Medicines That Cannot Cure.

G. J. McDONALD, Cornwall, Ont.
A well-known politician and business man quite recently expressed his sentiments very strongly to a small circle of friends. He said: "Our laws should prohibit the sales of all medicines—liquids and pills—that are made to sell only for the benefit of the manufacturers. Thousands of our people are daily deceived; they seek for health by using these nostrums, and the result in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred is failure and loss of money. I have myself been deceived many times."
"For the benefit of sufferers and society generally, I am pleased to say that there is one grand medicine in our midst that all can rely on—one that is worthy of a place in every home where suffering exists. I refer to Paine's Celery Compound; it cured me, and I know of several others who owe their lives to its use." Yes, reader, this Paine's Celery Compound is certainly a triumph of modern medical science. People often assert that it effects miraculous cures. We know the cures are wonderful and marvellous, and wrought frequently after other medicines failed to even give relief. What other folly, then, to spend money for nostrums that cannot cure.
For the benefit of the sick and afflicted, we give the experience of Mr. J. Mc-Donald, merchant tailor, Cornwall, Ont.; his portrait appears above. Mr. McDonald writes as follows—
"After having given your Paine's Celery Compound a thorough testing, I am pleased to say a few words in its favor.
For three years I suffered terribly from rheumatism. It seemed to me that I was forced to endure all the agonies and pains that a mortal could possibly experience from the dreadful disease.
"While suffering I tried many of the advised medicines and also doctor's prescriptions; but never found a cure until I procured a supply of Paine's Celery Compound from MacLellan & Rividge, druggists, of this town. Paine's Celery Compound worked like a charm—it seemed to strike at the very root of my trouble. I am now cured; every pain is banished, and in every respect I am a new man.
"I shall always consider it a pleasure and duty to strongly recommend Paine's Celery Compound to all who are afflicted with rheumatism."

WELL NURTURED

Raised from Weakness to Strength Lactated Food the only Life Giving Diet for Babies.

BABY BARNHART.
Babies, like men and women, must receive pure, healthy and nourishing food every day, or they cannot thrive and become strong. The ideal food for all babies who are deprived of mother's milk, is Lactated Food. Scores of mothers every week send in the glad tidings, that after failures with other forms of prepared foods they have tried the Lactated, and find that in every way it agrees with the delicate stomach, improves digestive vigor and increases the growth of flesh, bone and muscle. Lactated Food is the best preventive of those dreadful summer complications, cholera infantum, dysentery and diarrhea.
Mrs. S. Barnhart, of Port Erie, Ont., says: "My baby was raised entirely on Lactated Food; it never fell from the breast.
Your Lactated Food was always used, prepared according to directions; and now, at nine months old, he weighs 20 pounds, and he is strong, healthy, fat and good natured. His picture was taken when he was four and a half months old. We would not be without Lactated Food, and intend feeding baby with it until he is through teething."

THE DELINEATOR.
The DELINEATOR for September is called the Autumn Announcement Number, and is the strongest issue of this popular magazine that has yet come to hand. The display of styles is unusually large and attractive, and is the first authentic representation of the Autumn Modes, and there is besides a special illustrated article on Clothing the "Widow." A most interesting contribution is the plea for and against according the Suffrage to Women by such well known writers as L. G. Runkle and Edith Thomas, and there is also a valuable paper on Painless parturition, and an Employment for Women. The first article of a series on the Kindergarten appears in this number, and should prove of much service to both public and private teachers. In the College Series a new Life and Work at Radcliffe (late Harvard Annex) is described. Further information is given in the making of ornamental articles from Crepe and Tissue papers, in Bent Iron Work, and in the Cultivation of the Voice for Singing and Declamation.
The instructive talks on the Relations between Mother and Daughter are continued, and in the papers on Health there is much good advice on the proper exercise for both body and brain. Grapes are considered in the Hints on Serving Fruit, and there is a suggestive description of a Cotton Weaving. There are also the usual illustrated papers on Knitting, Crocheting, Netting, Tatting, etc., etc.
The subscription price of The Delineator is one dollar a year. Single copies, fifteen cents. Address orders to The Delineator
