Rapid Progress Being Made On Industrial Area Sites

Already nailing on the roof of the first section of the Island Fertilizer Plant before the last trusses of the same section have been put into place...

Mr. Harold Nesbitt of St. Stephen, N. B. is general superintendent in charge of the construction of the fertilizer plant and the Government Garage.

Dimensions of the fertilizer plant are 528x205 feet. A railway spur will run through the extreme north side of the plant and will permit loading and unloading operations in any weather.

There has been no work on the spur line for several weeks as the rails have been laid as close to the plant as working conditions permit.

The tenth truss was being put into place on the first section yesterday afternoon. Two cranes were employed to lift the truss and after about thirty minutes work the truss was placed and the men went to commencing the job of bolting the framework into place.

While a swarm of carpenters were laying down a roof and by evening the area covered by four trusses had been roofed. Dimensions of the roof laid were approximately 224x64 feet.

Supporting the framework of each section are thirty-three steel columns each with a concrete foundation. The columns have not yet been erected for the second section.

The hangar trusses are ready for erection in the second section as soon as the first section is completed.

Some of the problems being dealt with by the Charlottetown board of Trade were reviewed by Lt. Col. Frank Storey, President of that organization in an address to his fellow Rotarians at their luncheon yesterday.

After explaining the organization of the Board, Rotarian Storey said that transportation had always been on the agenda, was now, and probably always would be, the order of the day.

The rail strike had revealed the weakness of the P. E. I. situation, and the Board took an active part in making the best immediate arrangements and recommended measures to ensure that a similar upset would not happen again.

Previous to the tragic fire in the Sporting Club, the Board had recommended to the City Council the appointment of a Fire Marshall and the introduction of regulations to ensure public safety in places of assembly.

Col. Storey also said the Board had taken up the matter of traffic lights when the Council had said the cost of these were too high.

He was pleased now to see that the revised figures which the Council were now contemplating, are practically the same as those originally mentioned in the Board's presentation.

Princed Edward Island's first dragger, the South II, has been launched on her first trial run on the fishing grounds in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, it was announced yesterday by Hon. Eugene Cullen, Minister of Industry and Natural Resources.

It is not yet known if the dragger will call at her Island base, Souris, during the trial trip. It may be necessary for her to go back to Carquey for additional adjustments before beginning normal operations.

Reports from Carquey say the builders and Francis Campbell of the Prince Edward Island Fishermen's Loan Board expressed full satisfaction with the performance of the boat during her initial run last week.

The dragger will be registered in Prince Edward Island within the next week or ten days and will be operating out of the province by that time.

Col. Storey said that a report would be made at the Board meeting Tuesday evening.

While making a reconnaissance of their patrol area, at dawn, the British cruiser and the Canadian destroyer spotted several shore batteries occupied by Communist troops.

The Canadian destroyers returned to familiar ground when they sailed with the invasion fleet into the Inchon approaches.

Heavy Demand For High Grade P.E.I. Swine Continues

Five of the Province's finest swine were shipped out of the Province last week to points ranging from Davenport, Iowa, to Truro Agricultural College, Nova Scotia.

Boars were exported to MacDonald Agricultural College, Quebec; Dr. W. J. Huls, Davenport, Iowa; A. G. Perley, Morrisburg, Ontario and Truro Agricultural College, Truro. One bred sow was shipped to Mr. Clarence Wallace of Morrisburg, Ontario.

Orders have been received recently from New Brunswick men for Island swine which cannot be filled at the present time, as the heavy demand on high grade swine has cut deeply into the available shipping stock.

The emphasis of buyers is definitely on animals from high scoring sows it was pointed out and sons or daughters from sows with scores of less than 85 are in little demand.

P. E. I. Cancer Drive Launched Last Night

"You are the army which has led the good people of Prince Edward Island in the fight against cancer and has kept the name of the province in the forefront among the provinces of Canada," Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, O. B. E. told the group of canvassers assembled in Trinity Church Social Hall last night for the launching of the 1950 general campaign for funds. Dr. MacMillan is one of the founders of the Canadian Cancer Society and has been Provincial president since 1938.

Faced with the task of collecting a City objective of $5,000 the workers were inspired by Dr. MacMillan's statement that "the cancer campaign was the most important in the province even superseding the Red Cross drive. Every dollar that is subscribed is an investment in human life," he stated.

"In no province in Canada has there been more progressive work in combating cancer than in Prince Edward Island, thanks to the people who have generously contributed the money," he continued.

"We are doing more operations on P. E. I. than ever before on cancer and as many of the patients have recovered as well. We have three methods of combating the disease, by surgery, X-ray and radium," said P. E. I. is the only province outside Saskatchewan with free diagnostic clinics.

Speaking of the great benefits derived from the cancer educational campaign Dr. MacMillan stated "we know in the medical profession that we are getting results because the people are coming to us earlier than was formerly the case and so much valuable time in treating the patients is gained."

"It is a great satisfaction," he told the canvassers, "to advise you men that you are doing the greatest Christian work you can possibly do in collecting for this campaign."

"We are trying to bring home to the people that they need not be afraid of cancer if they come early enough," he stated. He thanked the Senior Women's Association of Trinity Church for the fine men they served the workers.

The workers will assemble in Trinity Church Hall again tonight at 5.30 to compile the results of the days canvassing. The "special names" canvassers under the chairmanship of Mr. Arthur Belcher will turn in their first returns at the same time.

The Senior Women's Association of Trinity Church served dinner. Favorable comments on the quality of the meal was expressed by the canvassers.

The three day drive in Charlottetown concludes on Thursday evening when the canvassers will meet at Trinity Church Hall for the compilation of final results.
