

PROVINCIAL ELECTION!

Liberal-Conservative Candidates for the City:

HON. NEIL MCLEOD, PATRICK BLAKE, ESQ.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JUNE 3, 1886.

A Lame Defence.

The Patriot defends Mr. Thomas Morris by attacking the Hon. William Campbell! Suppose Mr. Campbell to be as deep in the mud as Mr. Morris is in the mire...

But Mr. Campbell is not as deep in the mud as Mr. Morris is in the mire. Mr. Campbell has been in the Legislature and in office for many years, and we question whether there lives the man who has seen him drunk and incapable of transacting public and private business...

Here let us remark that the Patriot entirely misrepresents THE EXAMINER on this point—misrepresentation is required of the Patriot by the exigencies of the very bad case it has on hand.

"THE EXAMINER'S objection to Mr. Morris appears to be that he is not a supporter of the Scott Act."

That is not THE EXAMINER'S objection at all. There are many pronounced opponents of the Scott Act for whom we have the highest respect and esteem. Upon the merits of the Scott Act men have a perfect right to differ, and on questions in which the Scott Act is not primarily involved we might side with them and support them in preference to those who support the Scott Act.

The Patriot seems to have dropped from its list of Mr. Fred. Peters' personal qualifications as a legislator, the item, to wit: that "he is a man of independent means."

Thoughts for the Electors.

A PROMINENT and influential Liberal of this city has directed our attention to an excellent article which appeared to-day in the Protestant Union. The article is entitled "Thoughts for the Electors of P. E. I."

If then we would have "wise and faithful counsellors" to manage the affairs of the country,—which all admit is greatly to be desired,—electors must remember that this result rests entirely with themselves.

ably connected with poverty, and crime and vice,—be elevated to sit in the Councils of the country. For professed temperance advocates to give their support to such an one, would be to stultify themselves, and proclaim to the world that their profession is but as "a sounding brass or tinkling cymbal."

Souris' Breakwater.

We are glad to find that Mr. A. C. McDonald, M. P. for King's, has succeeded in having placed, in the Supplementary Estimates, an additional $5,000, making in all $7,000, to be applied in repairing the damage done to this work last fall.

On account of the necessary outlay at Souris, the building of the Red Point Breakwater, has, we understand, been postponed. There is little doubt, however, but the people of that part of the country will obtain the proposed breakwater at no distant day.

Wreck of the Olivette.

CAPTAIN DAVIES and seven seamen of the barkentine Olivette arrived from Pictou Wednesday evening. To an EXAMINER representative, who called upon him at the Revere House this morning, Captain Davies gave the following statement:

"The Olivette left Summerside for Bridgewater, England, on the 21st ult., with a crew of eight, (including myself) and a cargo of oats. All went well until the night of the 25th, about 8.45. At that time a south-east gale was blowing, accompanied by a thick fog, and my ship went ashore on St. Paul's Island, about 14 miles from Cape North. At the time she struck, I judged myself to be at least eight miles off the Island. The courses I steered after making Cape St. Lawrence, would give me ten miles off. After the ship struck, I hove my yards back, not knowing that she was so badly damaged. Finding the bows all knocked in and the ship sinking and drifting off from the land, I ordered the boat to be hoisted out. The pumps were tried before we took the boat. Finding the water rushing in the crew and myself made for the Island in the boat. I lost my clothes and everything belonging to me. The only thing I took when we left the ship was the compass, which I took in case of being blown off. But I am happy to say that I effected a landing at the east end light of the Island, where I was cared for that night by the keeper of the light. The next day I was taken to the Superintendent of the Island. I remained with him until the Newfield arrived two days—myself and crew receiving every kindness. I am unable to account for the loss of my ship, knowing my compass to be correct. There must have been some extraordinary current sweeping me bodily to windward, as I was so perfectly certain of Cape St. Lawrence when I took my departure. I am deeply thankful to Capt. Guildford and officers of the Government steamer Newfield, for their very great kindness to myself and crew while on board."

The Olivette was 289 tons register, and owned by Hon. W. Richards. Capt. Davies has been her commander for almost five years, and the fatal trip was her first from here this spring.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

SIR,—As the electors of this Province will shortly have to return their representatives to Parliament, let them do their duty in the fear of God, and elect men who will legislate for the benefit of the community.

No doubt different questions will be discussed at the various political gatherings; but there is one question (viz.) that of temperance, which is of infinitely greater importance than any other—than even that of the Subway under the Northumberland Straits.

It would be a comparatively easy matter to govern the Island and the Dominion at large, if the accursed traffic in strong drink were placed under the ban.

The time has arrived when all (independent of party proclivities) who desire the spread of truth and of righteousness, should record their votes for the man who will give an uncompromising adherence to whatever will help to destroy this the greatest enemy of our country.

It would most assuredly be a standing disgrace to the electors of this city and Province to return members who are in sympathy with this mildeering, blighting, and nefarious business. It can no more be made respectable, although the actions of some in authority show they think it so, than water can wash an Ethiopian white. It is evil—only evil—and evil continually.

The writer sincerely trusts that the temperance question will be brought to the front in all the electoral districts, and that all the candidates for Parliamentary honors who will not pledge themselves on this very important matter will be elected to stay at home.

Yours as ever, S. H. RICE.

The Irish National Press and Mr. Costigan.

While here in Canada certain newspapers have been "hounding down"—as far as in them lay—Messrs. Costigan, Curran, Burns, Coughlin and other Irish Catholic members of Parliament, backed by the "whereases" and "resolveds" of some half-dozen out of the scores of Irish National societies that exist in Canada, owing no doubt to the manipulations of the party wire-pullers, it is refreshing and at the same time interesting to learn the opinions of some of the leading newspapers in Ireland as to the action of those gentlemen on the Home Rule question. We first give that of Mr. Parnell's own organ, United Ireland, which is edited by Mr. Wm. O'Brien, M. P., merely pointing out that our contemporary falls into an error in saying that the "snub" alluded to came from the "Tory" Government in 1882. On the contrary, it was the act of Earl Kimberley, the then Colonial Secretary in Mr. Gladstone's government of that time. We now give, verbatim et literatim, what the United Ireland says in its issue of the 15th instant:—

"Great capital is sought to be made by a couple of Tory papers out of the fact that the Dominion House of Parliament has by a large majority rejected the resolution of Mr. Blake, leader of the Opposition, in favor of Self-Government. On looking at the telegraphed report of the debate on the question we are opaque enough to fail to discern any particular ground for Tory delight. The debate, we perceive, lasted until five o'clock in the morning, and in the result an amendment of Mr. Costigan, a member of the Ministry, was adopted. The amendment differed very little in substance, though it did in construction, from the proposed resolution. It expressed a cordial interest in the welcome and prosperity of the Irish people, and adhered to the sentiments expressed in the former address to the Crown on the subject of granting a measure of Self-Government to Ireland. While declining to forward any fresh Address, having regard to the snub then administered by the Tory (?) Government, the Canadian Parliament reiterates its good wishes for Ireland, and earnestly hopes that some measure satisfactory to its people may be passed. Now, where is the cause of our contemporaries' unholty joy? Between amendment and resolution it is all but a case of tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee. The advantage, if any, is on the side of Irish liberty; for it is from the responsible Ministry these good wishes emanate, not from the irresponsible Opposition."

The Dublin Freeman's Journal, one of the oldest—if not the oldest—papers in Ireland, owned and edited by Mr. E. Dwyer Gray, M. P., reproduces Mr. Costigan's cable message to Mr. Parnell, which we published at the time, and speaking of the numerous congratulatory messages received by the latter gentleman, says:—

"The most notable of these is the long and deeply earnest communication of the Minister of the Inland Revenue in Canada. The Hon. John Costigan, who speaks on behalf of the Irish representatives in the Dominion Parliament, is, we need hardly remind our readers, the mover of the celebrated series of resolutions in favour of Home Rule for Ireland, passed in 1882, and which was the first expression of its kind in favour of the Irish National demand. Mr. Costigan also moved the amendment to the resolutions in the Dominion Parliament a few days ago, and the purport of which was so judiciously misinterpreted by several of our home journals, as well as some across the Channel."

The sentiments of the journals quoted, which are recognized, as reflecting the views of Irish Nationalists, present a striking contrast in their estimate of the action of Mr. Costigan and his confederates to that of Grit journals in Canada, whose only object is to endeavor to win over the Irish Catholic vote. But while the newspapers on the other side were misled by telegrams sent from here, the same excuse does not exist in case of those in Canada who knew better, and who deliberately and maliciously distorted the facts so as to prejudice the Irish Catholics of this country against their tried representatives in the Canadian Parliament.—Ottawa Citizen.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites

Is more reliable as an agent in the cure of Consumption, Chronic Coughs and Emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable specifics is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

Hon. Donald Smith has been created a K. C. M. G., by the Queen, in recognition of his services to the country in connection with the C. P. R.

It is gratifying to learn that the formidable name of a new Tokyo newspaper, "The Do-Kurisu Shimbun," is merely the Japanese for Independent.
