Conservative Senator Hits At CBC Living Beyond Means

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator Grattan O'Leary has accused the CBC of being a party to the destruction of the national magazine industry in Canada.

Speaking in the Senate during consideration of the government's spending estimates, the Conservative senator bitterly attacked the publicly -owned radio and television network for living beyond its means.

The CBC was granted an $88,000,000 budget and a loan of an additional $15,000,000 in the estimates approved shortly after the senator's speech

Senator O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal newspaper and chairman of the recent royal commission on publications, said it is a mockery of free enterprise that newspapers and magazines in Canada are taxed to help provide subsidies for programs on the competing CBC.

The CBC must share responsibility with two United States magazines (Time and Reader's Digest) for the sad plight of Canada's national magazines. Senator O'Leary predicted Maclean's Magazine would discontinue publication in two years at its present rate of losses.

TERMED A STATE

The CBC must share responstate and there was a conspiracy in both Parliament and the press not to say harsh words about it. Those who spoke against it could expect to be classed as not caring for culture and be the subject of attacks, "as I expect to be tomorrow."

CBC executives felt no responsibility to Parliament in their spending. But President Alphonse Ouimet should be called before a standing parliamentary committee each year —as CNR President Donald G. don is—to account for the network's spending of public funds.

The Crown - owned CNR had been considered a millstone about the neck of the nation and a white elephant when it asked Parliament for budgets up to $60,000,000. Yet the CBC asked for much more and nothing was being said about it.

Senator O'Leary said he had no wish to censor the CBC—public morality would do this. At least 60 per cent of its programs were good and the proof lay in watching private network shows.

But could the country afford the CBC? Too many programs had no sponsors and the CBC had to pick up some of the tab in such sponsored shows as Front Page Challenge.

WONDERS WHAT GOOD

But he couldn't help wondering what good was accomplished when the CBC staged problems on such subjects as homosexuals. This was a subject for a medical clinic, not a TV program.

Novels used to be written around the theme of "boy meets girl, boy gets girl."

Now it is "boy gets boy," said Senator O'Leary.

He also questioned the CBC policy of having correspondents in all parts of the world when wire services and larger newspapers provide good coverage.

Senator George Burchill (L—New Brunswick) said he agrees Parliament should have more control over the CBC.

Court Rules Fanny Hill Fit To Read

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Appeal Court has ruled that the controversial 18th-century novel Fanny Hill is fit for the public to read.

In a majority decision, Chief Justice Dana Porter and Mr Justices Colin Gibson and Frederick McKay, ruled in favor of the book. Mr. Justices Wilfred Roach and J. L. McLennan dissented

Chief Justice Porter said the book, written by John Cleland in 1794, describes life in 18th century bawdy houses and normal and abnormal sex experiences in them

"Fanny was a person of happy nature who adjusted herself to a life of prostitution," he said.

"Her letters present a picture of a segment of life in a licentious age with a candor and vividness that rings true."

The chief justice said the Criminal Code is not designed to punish exploitation of sex where sex is a dominant characteristic of the book unless that exploitation is "undue."

"Community standards must be contemporary," he said. "This is a liberal age in which we live. Even in parlor conversation various aspects of sex are made the subject of comment with a candor that in earlier days would have been regarded as indecent and intolerable."

Chief Justice Porter said it is his view that "people in Canada today who read books generally prefer candor."

The appeal was from a judgment of Judge Everett Weaver last February when he ordered all copies of Fanny Hill off the street after ruling the book obscene.

Appointments Announced By Bank Of Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP)—F. William Nicks of Toronto, chairman and president of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has announced the appointment of J. Douglas Fibson of Toronto as deputy chairman and executive vice-president of the bank. Mr. Gibson was formerly chief general manager.

Also announced was the appointment of Thomas A. Boyles of Toronto, formerly general manager, as chief general manager. Gordon J. Touchie, formerly a deputy general manager in charge of Eastern Canada region, is appointed general manager.

Mr. Nicks also announced that Robert L. Dales of Toronto, who retires Dec. 31 from the office of deputy chairman and executive vice - president, will continue to serve on the board of directors.

Two retiring directors, Roy A. Jodrey of Hantsport, N.S., and W. Norman McLeod of Toronto, were named honorary board members.

The two were succeeded by John J. Jodrey of Hantsport, vice-president and managing director of the Minas Basin Pulp and Power Co., Ltd., and W. Herman Brown, president and chief executive officer of Moore Corporation Ltd., Toronto. Mr. Jodrey is the son of the retiring member.

At a directors meeting which followed the annual meeting here three new vice-presidents were appointed. They are: Donald McInnes, senior partner in a Halifax law firm; Percy R. Gardiner, partner in Gardiner, Wardrop Co. Ltd., Toronto; and Fred B. Brown, president of Vanwest Logging Co. Ltd., Vancouver.

Officials also announced that the bank has declared a dividend of 65 cents a share for the quarter ending Jan. 31 payable to shareholders of record Dec. 31. This is an increase of five cents a share over the previous quarterly rate.

Officials said this increase replaces the extra distribution normally made in the last quarter of each year thus placing it on a regular quarterly basis.

The increase in the quarterly dividend brings the current annual dividend rate up to $2 60 a share. Last year the bank paid $2.55 in dividends which included an extra 25 cents, now eliminated.

$16,000-Year Gov't Man Has Staff Of One Secretary

OTTAWA (CP)—The $16,000-a-year president of the Canadian Commercial Corporation a Crown company, said here he signs no documents on behalf of the corporation and doesn't know who does sign them.

Marc H. Lamoreaux told the Commons defence committee over his objections his signing powers were taken away from him on instructions of Defence Production Minister Drury when 82 members of the corporation's staff were transferred last year to the defence production department.

Mr. Lamoureux now has a staff of one—a secretary.

Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) said: "You sign no documents. You sign n cheques and you have no sta What are you?"

Mr. Lamoureux denied M Winch's suggestion he is a "figurehead" but said he is performing presidential duties as set out in the act off Parliament establishing the corporation.

He said he acts as an adviser to the assistant deputy minister of defence production and arranges appointments for representatives of Canadian industry with officials of the defence production department.

ACTS AS AGENT

The corporation acts as agent for foreign government's buying goods, chiefly defence equipment, in Canada.

Mr Drury said the act requires a president. The corporation was used as a legal vehicle though all its work was done by his department.

"Obviously we will have to have another meeting on this," committee chairman David Hahn (L—Toronto Broadview) said at one point.

Mr. Lamoureux said members of the Glassco royal commission on government organization, which recommended transfer of the corporation's staff to the defence production department, had never come to see him.

Mr. Drury said the corporation and his department were duplicating work. The transfer had increased efficiency.

DOING DIFFERENT WORK

In reply to Mr. Winch, Wilfred Harris, former assistant general manager of the corporation, said he now is employed in the emergency supplies planning branch of defence production He had 23 years experience in negotiating contracts but his present job was completely divorced from this type of work.

Mr. Winch has charged—and Mr. Drury denied—the corporation has been brought to "ruination and incompetence."

Paul Martineau (PC — Pontiac-Temiscamingue) said Mr Drury has by-passed an act of Parliament and robbed the corporation of its effective powers

Mr. Drury said he couldn't accept this statement.

Mr. Lamoureux said that when the corporation's bylaws were changed removing his authority he had been given the choice of resigning or agreeing with the changes. He had finally agreed.

New Method Is Possible For Power

TORONTO (CP)—By 1970 Ontario may be producing electricity by blowing hot helium or argon through a magnet, Robert Macaulay, the province's former energy resources minister, said here.

The equipment is less costly than other methods, he told a meeting of the Electric Club of Toronto, and requires no moving parts. He said it could be installed in existing steam generating plants because coal is the fuel used to heat the gas.

The big problem is heating the gas to 1,600 to 1,700 degrees centigrade, Mr Macaulay said. This technique has been known for some time but getting the gas to the high temperaure has been a stumbling block.

The method, not yet used commercially, is being tested by American and English companies. It is known as magnetohydrodynamics or magnetoplasmadynamics, he said.

OPEN 4,000 MILE CABLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A 4,000-mile transcontinental telephone cable designed to withstand any nuclear blast but a direct hit was opened for service Wednesday by the Bell Telephone system. The New York-to-California cable, which cost 200,000,000 adds 9,000 telephone circuits to the 15,000 previously in use across the country, the company said.
