His wife, the former Jessie Chisholm of North Tryon, predeceased him about nine years ago. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Monday, June 9, with service at North Tryon Presbyterian Church at an arrival. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Retirement Of Horticulturist At Experimental Farm

It has been announced that Mr. D. C. Schurman, M.S.A., assistant to the Superintendent at the Dominion Experimental Station, Charlottetown, and officer in charge of field husbandry and forage crops, will go on retirement leave on June 17. He will retire on pension on December 17, next. He has been on the staff of the Experimental Station since 1918.
Mr. Schurman was born at North Bequete, Dec. 17, 1885, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Schurman. After receiving his early education at the North Bequete school, he attended Prince of Wales College from 1902 to 1904. He spent the next nine years on the homestead and then attended the Truro Agricultural School in 1914 and 1915 where he won an associate diploma. He spent the next two years at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph where he obtained his B.S.A. degree. There, he specialized in horticulture.
Mr. Schurman joined the staff of the Dominion Experimental Station in Charlottetown in 1918 as assistant horticulturist and from 1919 to 1923 was in charge of the poultry section. In 1924 he was placed in charge of horticultural activities of the Station and of the Cultural Area records. Winning the MacDonald College Scholarship for P. E. Island in 1924, he took graduate work there in Agronomy and Plant Pathology and secured his M.S.A. degree in 1925. In October of that year, he was placed in charge of Field Husbandry and Forage Crops and has held that position ever since.
In March of 1920, he married Sally A. MacLeod, R.N., daughter of Mrs. Alexander MacLeod and the late Mr. MacLeod of Valleyfield.
Tribute From Superintendent
R. C. Parent, Superintendent of the Station, in commenting on the retirement of Mr. Schurman, said that the abilities and knowledge of Mr. Schurman in the agricultural field are of such a wide and varied nature that he will be greatly missed not only by the officials of the Station, but by the many farmers and others who continually sought his advice.
"During his 34 years of service with this Station," Mr. Parent said, "Mr. Schurman was worked on at least 50 projects some of which were of the very highest importance. He is an expert on crop rotations and has worked on cost-of-production projects weed eradication problems, pasture experiments, manure fertilizer experiments, the control of erosion, and has conducted many studies on the determining of the relative value of new and standard forage crops such as clover, alfalfa, grasses, millet, soy beans, corn and roots."
Mr. Parent said that the advice of Mr. Schurman is sought not only by himself and other members of the Experimental Station staff, but also by persons in all walks of life who have some agricultural problem to solve or who want the latest information on some recent agricultural discovery.
"As a horticulturist," Mr. Parent continued, "he is looked upon as an authority and his opinions are treated with the greatest respect even by the officials of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Ottawa. This Station has in its beautiful Linden-lined driveway, extending from the Station to the Malpeque Road, a living memorial to Mr. Schurman's love for trees, the beauty of which memorial will be enjoyed by generations still to come. With loving care, Mr. Schurman grew those Linden trees from seeds. He tended the young seedlings, and when he thought they were vigorous enough, set them out with his own hands on each side of the driveway. Tall and straight they have grown and even now, before they have reached their full development, are the admiration of the many hundreds of people who visit this Station each summer.
"He is a lover of all things beautiful. Never was this love more graphically shown than in his work among his beloved dahlias. He has developed many varieties of this beautiful flower and the splendid assortment of dahlias which this Station now has, sprung from the original stock grown by Mr. Schurman.
"I am at a loss," Mr. Parent concluded, "to find words which would adequately express the deep regret all of us here at the Station felt when we learned of Mr. Schurman's retirement. To all of us he was both counsellor and friend. I express the sentiments of our whole staff when I say that I wish for Mr. Schurman and his good wife many long years of happiness and well-deserved leisure.
"Is spending a thirty day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston, Cedar Street, left for Toronto by motor, to spend a couple of days with his brother and sisters, Keith, Ruth and Pauline. On his return he will leave shortly for his ship at Halifax.

Bread Labelling
The labelling of brown bread was raised by Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre). He said that some brown bread actually is white bread dyed brown. He did not wish to suggest that the dye is harmful, but people thought they were getting whole wheat bread when actually they were getting white bread.
Mr. Martin, who has trimmed 30 pounds off his weight by dieting, said he had learned by experience that not all brown bread is non-fattening.
Regulations now being drafted will make it necessary for labels to show the whole wheat content of brown bread.

Work To Begin On New Church At Wellington
Work will begin immediately on the construction of a new Catholic church at Wellington to replace the one destroyed by fire on January 21st, 1951. The contract for the work has been awarded to M. F. Schurman Co. Ltd.
Located on the site of the old church, the new edifice will be of wood construction. It will be 132 feet by 47 feet, somewhat larger than the one destroyed by fire and will require additional excavating. It will have a concrete basement and separate boiler room. In addition to the main building it will also have a vestry.

Aid To Student Nurses Discussed At Conference
ST. ANDREWS, N. B., June 6 - (CP) - Financial aid to student nurses and the role Maritime hospitals would have to play in a civilian defence program were among matters referred to by Mrs. Gladys M. Porter, Truro, N.S., in her annual report today as secretary-treasurer of the Maritime Hospital Association.
Mrs. Porter said many potential good nurses were being denied the possibility of training because of non-sufficient funds. Scholarships financed by hospital auxiliaries and service clubs, would be a great help. She suggested that local sponsorship seemed the most logical plan for such scholarships.
On the matter of civilian defence, Mrs. Porter said all hospitals of over 26 beds should be prepared for any disaster. The support of most Maritime hospital boards and superintendents was to be commended.
Mrs. Porter reported that during the last year further progress had been made in the way of good relations with the Maritime Hospital Service Association as a result of meetings held with the Blue Cross executive.
She reported the association finances to be in a sound condition with a bank balance of $5,842.

NOTICE
All taxes owing Cape Traverse School must be paid before June 16th, 1952. This is the final notice.
By order of trustees, Mrs. David W. Murphy
