The government, at the present session, will table the report of the Royal Commission on Higher Education for study by the House.

S'IDE COUNCIL ANNUAL

Big Surplus Reported Despite Extra Expenses

By CARMAN SMITH

A decrease in liabilities amounting to $91,000 was given in the financial statement for the year 1964, at the annual town council meeting here last night.

Earl Hickey of the chartered accounting firm of T. E. Hickey and Company, auditors for the town, in presenting the statement to the council also announced an overall surplus for the year of $3,452.

This is $411 over the previous year when the surplus was $3,041.

The council was unanimous in its praise for Councillor Leo Wood for his fine effort as chairman of the finance committee. Coun. George Key for bringing "the ship of state" through another year.

In the statement it was noted that the surplus for the year's current operation was made despite a number of unbudgeted and non-budgeted items of expenditure such as snow removal, equipment maintenance and centennial expenses being met.

Centennial expenses were not in the budget for the year and amounted to $12,000. The town had anticipated taking a couple of years to pay this off, but through the efforts of the finance committee the entire amount was paid out of current revenue during the year.

FIRST SURPLUS IN YEARS

The water and sewage department under the chairmanship of retiring Coun. D. Alex MacDonald, reported a surplus of $6,000 - the first since 1957 - as compared to the 1963 deficit of $34,000.

The surplus was made possible by an increase in revenue from interim rates ordered by the public utilities commission. These interim rates will be reviewed in March, at which time a further adjustment may be made by the commission.

Commenting on the water and sewage department, Coun. Key commended the water and sewage committee and more specifically, the chairman, Coun. MacDonald. Coun. Key stated that from the time Coun. MacDonald had taken over as chairman the committee had instituted a number of changes in the department. One of the most significant, he said, was the department keeping one year ahead in the streets department in its work.

This way, he said, the streets were not paved first and then torn up to install the water and sewage systems.

On behalf of the citizens he expressed thanks to Walter Peters, superintendent of the department and to Coun. MacDonald.

ELECTRIC DEPARTMENT

The electric department report was read by Coun. Key, chairman of the electric committee. In the report it was stated that the time the average customer on the utility was without power over the year was 2-82 hours.

Comparing this to the total outage for the two previous years - 4.13 hours in 1963 and 5.08 hours in 1962 - Coun. Key stated this reflected on the efficiency of the department which he estimated "is second to none." He added further that this low outage over the past 12 months was "fabulous - amazingly low".

Coun. Key told the council that the electric committee was contemplating "off season" rates for the industrial park to attract new industries here.

An increased purchase of kilowatt hours from Maritime Electric, 89.2 per cent, and a decreased generation of 37.7 per cent was reported for the year. This was the direct result of purchased energy being cheaper than generated energy.

ANSWERS QUESTION

The report also answered a question which has been posed on a number of occasions as to why not purchase all of the energy if it is cheaper.

It stated that there are several answers. The first is that Maritime Electric can not always supply the town's total needs. Secondly, the heavy oil units must be started and stopped on light fuel. As a result, once an engine is started it must be run for 15 hours or so in order to maintain a high percentage of heavy oil consumption and so keep the purchased energy price down to a minimum.

The third reason is that by agreement the electric department must maintain sufficient generating capacity to carry 4/3 of its peak load or else pay capacity charges to Maritime Electric.

"In other words," the report said, "the town must maintain its ability to carry its own load and this means having the capacity on hand and knowing how to use it."

A detailed resume of the department's work over the last 12 months was given.

Through its allowable surplus the department contributed $90,000 in 1964 to town revenue. Without this assistance an additional increase would have been required in the annual tax rate of $4.90 per $1,000 of assessment.

The fire listings and losses sustained during the year, as compiled by the fire department committee, amounted to $28,843. This amount was accounted for in nine fires, the most extensive being the burning of a private dwelling on Poplar Avenue which accounted for $9,000 of the amount.

The Civic Stadium showed an operating deficit for the year of $2,300. In his report the manager of the stadium, Charles Hogan, stated that this was approximately $1,400 more than 1963 but $1,600 better than 1962 and an improvement over 1961 when the deficit was in the vicinity of $6,400.

The reason for the larger deficit last year was attributed to improvements made to the stadium for Centennial year. Mr. Hogan stated "the extra money that was spent in preparing the stadium for centennial year was, in my opinion, worthwhile".

Although many compliments had been made about the fine condition of the stadium, he said, none had been more appreciated than those spoken by Joe Blinco of the Billy Graham Crusade who stated he had never been in or held a crusade in a cleaner rink than the stadium.

The stadium, during 1964, catered to an estimated 127,721 people. This total included the Graham crusade, lobster carnival, hockey, skating and practice sessions as well as those playing miniature golf.

Mr. Hogan recommended that a number of repairs be made to the stadium.

BUSY YEAR

Coun. Frances Perry, chairman of the property committee, in enumerating all the work done by her department, stated it had been a "busy year".

The town engineer's report, presented by J. C. McKenna, reviewed all the work done by the street department as well as other projects during the year.

Chief S.D.A. Wannamaker, in his police department report, stated that there was no great and remained on a level with 1963. A total of 115 criminal cases went before the court last year as compared to 118 during 1963 and only one person was committed to Dorchester Penitentiary over the past 12 months as compared to four in the previous year.

Chief Wannamaker noted a slight increase in the number of juveniles appearing in juvenile court.

A total of 115 accidents were investigated by the department where damage to either vehicle was in excess of $100 and 144 accidents where damage was under $100. As a result it was estimated that the value of property damaged was in excess of $302,000.

ONE FATALITY

Thirty persons were injured and received treatment as a result of these accidents and one fatality was registered.

Commenting on the traffic lights installed on Water Street late in 1964, the police chief stated that, as a result of the installation of these lights, a great improvement in vehicular traffic had been noted.

One disturbing factor, however, he said, is that there are not enough pedestrian crossings and they are very short. The matter is being investigated, he added, "and I am sure that a correct measure will be reached."

Two resolutions were passed on the appointment of returning officers, poll clerks and doorkeepers for the forthcoming civic elections.

A number of interested citizens attended the meeting including councillor-elect Herbert Schurman along with candidates J. Ernest Morrison and Peter Pope.

During the course of the meeting sympathy was extended to the family of William R. MacLure, who died Tuesday in his 36th year. Mr. MacLure was a member of the Summerside Fire Department.

Regret was also expressed for the recent and sudden death of the civic building janitor Calista Gallant, who had been an employee of the town for some years. Mayor W. E. Jenkins extended sympathy to Mr. Gallant's family on behalf of the council.

Mayor Jenkins, in a prepared statement, expressed thanks to the auditors for the time devoted in the preparation of the financial statement and the town employees for the "hours of devotion to duty for the welfare and administration of the town's affairs."

Offenders Appear On Minor Charges

Alexander MacNevin of Charlottetown was given a 20-day suspended sentence on a drunk and disorderly charge by Magistrate A. J. Haslam, QC, in city police court Wednesday.

Roland Carr of Charlottetown was fined $20 and costs on a similar charge.

Nelson G. Hurry of Charlottetown was fined $15 and costs for speeding. Harvey Ralph Younger of North River was fined $10 and costs for illegal parking and a resident of New Wiltshire was fined $10 and costs for going through a red traffic light.
