Losses Are Sustained On Wall Street

(By Frank MacMillen)
(Associated Press Financial Writer)
(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)
NEW YORK, April 19—Securities markets tilted downward again Saturday as foreign and domestic developments apparently were less reassuring.

The stock list turned heavy following a sharp break in John-Manville on an earnings statement that was considered somewhat unfavorable.

The major building material issue was weak from the start and finished at its low of the day at 102, off 10 points.

Losses of fractions to 2 or more points were general at the close, although support appeared for some categories in the final few minutes. Several New Year's lows were recorded in the retreat.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 7 of a point at 62.7. "Transfers of 809,550 shares compared with 798,280 last Saturday.

Case lost 3 points at 163, and lesser recessions were shown by Eaton Mfg. at 34 1/4, Briggs Mfg. at 51 1/8, Electric Autolite at 39, Santa Fe at 79, Union Pacific at 129 1/2, Chrysler at 98 1/2, Standard Oil of New Jersey at 63 5/8, Seaw Roebuck at 66, Douglas Aircraft at 63 3/4, Deere at 102 1/4 and Pullman at 43 5/8.

Firmness in Dome Mines bolstered an easing Canadian list. While others showed fractional downturns, the Canadian mining stock advanced one to 46.

In the course of the program it was pointed out that while the team had not yet reached its ultimate goal, yet it had a splendid record and a successful year.

Evangelist Johnson Lectures

Under the title of "The Conflict between Christ and the Pharisees" Evangelist F. W. Johnston spoke of how Christ was in constant opposition to the traditions of the Jewish church. The common people he said heard Christ gladly because he spoke with the authority of the written word of God. He stuck to the scriptures and admonished his hearers to do the same. The scribes and pharisees who through in possession of the written word were however more zealous for the tradition of men, and the Lord declared that they were worshipping Him in vain. He spoke of how the pharisees love to wear flowing robes, and made broad their phylacteries, enlarged the borders of their garments and in their forms of worship loved to go through certain ceremonies purely to be seen by men. Their alms giving and philanthropic enterprises were given because they wanted the esteem of men. They loved to be greeted in the market places and called by high sounding titles. Their religion became distasteful to God and Christ refused to recognize them and in fact was very active in warning the people against their hypocritical formalities. He told the interested listeners to beware of their hypocrisy for while posing as teachers of the truth they were simply blind guides and that if the blind lead the blind that both would fall into the ditch.

Christ Himself was a close student of the written word. He drew very interesting lessons also from the works of nature and people went in multitudes to hear but only a few accepted of Him. The envy created by the religious leaders however against him eventually brought about his crucifixion. He spoke about how they tried to entangle Him in His talk on various occasions but that Christ was too alert intellectually for them so that they got discouraged in trying to trap Him in that way. His miracles had gained Him considerable popularity for a time but after raising the dead Lazarus he did not dare walk openly after that.

He reasoned that if they would let Him alone the Romans would come and take away their place and nation. So having met in council they decided to resort to secret and unfair methods to accomplish his destruction. The evangelist said that religious persecution had always followed in the way of the truth, that as soon as a man would undertake to give the plain naked truth he would meet with opposition as did Christ. It is a good sign when opposition is rife.

Europe, by gas would be the end of European civilization." Looking into the future Mr. Baldwin said the situation was not hopeless. He added the French and German proposals for ending the Rhineland crisis were a sign of their good intentions.

"This is the first time that anything of this kind has come simultaneously from those two great countries," he said.

assistance with all the world's nations in it, and today, if you take the great powers and combine their armed resources with their industrial resources, you have three of the greatest outside the League altogether—the United States, Germany and Japan.

"To a great extent sanctions are so slow in action that they lose a great deal of their force unless they can be supported by ultimate sanctions which blockade or force," he declared.

A system of collective security alone can forestall another war, he said.

"We are working for it and shall work for it. We have not yet achieved it and we have some way to go before we shall. Collective security will never be achieved unless all nations that take part in it are prepared simultaneously to threaten with sanctions and to fight if necessary any aggressor, and that means that nations taking part in that collective security must be ready."

Referring to Italy's use of poison gas in Ethiopia, the Prime Minister said that "if this method of warfare exists in Africa, there is no guaranty that it will not be used in

22 Groups Entered In Drama Festival

(By Ray Brown Canadian Press Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, April 19—This drama festival week in Ottawa. The Little Theatre here assumed unique importance with the opening tomorrow night of that nationwide annual competition, the Dominion Drama Festival. It is a struggle of winners, a contest between 22 picked amateur dramatic groups. Eleven of these groups came first in regional contests held in eight provinces. Presentations by the other eleven were invited to compete in the festival by the central committee.

From the week of seven performances before capacity audiences will emerge the victorious Bessborough trophy winner, to wear the crown of amateur dramatic supremacy for the year. This winning group will have won the highest approval of Harry Granville-Barker, newly arrived in Canada from Paris for the particular purpose of judging the final competition. The adjudicator, one of the most distinguished figures associated with the stage today, arrived in Ottawa tonight accompanied by his wife. They will be guests at Government House during festival week.

The honor of opening the festival will go to the players guild of Hamilton, Ont., with its presentation of "Come Out of Your Cage," "Judge Lynch" presented by the Sixteen-thirty Club, Montreal, will be second of the three first-night presentations. "The final offering" will be "Nellie McNabb" with which the playwright's studio group of Toronto will seek to carry off the award.

The Bessborough Trophy is now held in Ottawa. Last April a group from the school of music and declamation of Ottawa University carried off the prize with the presentation of "Innocence" by H. R. Lenormand. It was an admirable production, in the opinion of Allan Wade, finals adjudicator at that occasion, and marked the first time a French-speaking group had won the highest award.
