

THE DAILY EXAMINER, NOVEMBER 19, 1894.

PRODUCTION AND MANUFACTURE.

The steamer Florida took away to-day upwards of $70,000 worth of cheese. It would take a good many potatoes at twenty cents to make up this amount.

It is hoped that our agricultural products will, more and more, in the future, be subjected to processes of manufacture, and be shipped in a more condensed form.

It is hoped that this movement will be energetically prosecuted. Our soil and climate are as admirably adapted to the production of fruit as to the production of milk.

THE THORNE CASE.

The law of civil liberty requires that no man—not even a liquor dealer—shall be deprived of his liberty except upon good and sufficient legal evidence that he is guilty of a crime or offence.

That the Stipendiary-Magistrate made a mistake in the case of Thorne is inferentially admitted by the fact that in the case of Martin, referred to by correspondents of THE EXAMINER, he ordered a dismissal though the evidence of a sale of liquor in contravention of the law was stronger in the latter case than in the former.

The Guardian sees in this contention evidence that THE EXAMINER is not a staunch friend of the Scott Act. Our contemporary should not permit its prejudice to get the better of its reason and make itself ridiculous.

A HORRIBLE TALE.

Three to Four Hundred Women Hacked to Pieces by Soldiers.

The chairman of the Patriotic Association, of London, G. Hagapyn, has sent the following letter, received from an Armenian whose name is not given because it would jeopardize his life, to the Earl of Kimberley, the secretary of state for foreign affairs.

The letter of the Armenian previously referred to is dated Bittis, October 9, and comments by saying that the chief magistrate appears to be a second Nero, and continues: "The so-called rebellion of the Armenians in 1892 was a gotten-up affair for the repression of which the chief magistrate got detention."

It is said that one hundred fell to each of them to kill. No compassion was shown to age or sex, even by regular soldiers, not even when the victims fell suppliant at their feet.

Another place some 200 women begged for compassion, falling at the commander's feet, but the wretch, after ordering their dispatch there in a similar way.

At another place still a large company under the lead of their priest fell down before them begging for compassion, and averring that they had nothing to do with the cultists.

One or more consuls have been ordered that way to investigate the matter. If the Christians, instead of the Turks, reported these things in the city of Bittis, this region where I have been touring, the case would be different, but now we are compelled to believe most of it.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

—Uncle Sam's offer to mediate between China and Japan has not been accepted by either party.

—Populism in Kansas is defined by the Topeka Capital as having been "drunkness noticeable on the streets on Saturday night."

—President Harrison says "the recent elections show that a vast majority of our people believe in a protective tariff, never so many and never so strongly as now. They differ as to rates and schedules, but not as to the principle."

—Salt rheum with its intense itching, dry hot skin is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it purifies the blood.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WHERE IS THE DIFFERENCE?

Sir,—I find on reading the Guardian that the Magistrate could not make a conviction in a Scott Act case on the following evidence: "One witness said that he was into Martin's stable between those dates, but that he purchased no liquor of any kind on or about the premises."

Now if the Magistrate could not find any evidence in the above upon which to convict, how on earth did he find any in the case of Thorne? Martin's case is far stronger. He is a hotel keeper, and was asked for a bottle of whiskey and gave it and received the money.

THE THORNE CASE AGAIN.

Sir,—In Saturday's EXAMINER, a letter appears over the signature "Citizen," evidently from the pen of that gentleman whose presence is particularly noticeable in the police court on those occasions when doubtful cases against some unfortunate parties, who have been dragged before His Honor for a supposed infraction of the Canada Temperance Act, are under consideration of the court.

It is well known—for it appeared in the public press—that in the trial of the Thorne case before the Stipendiary Magistrate the defendant's counsel contended that there was no evidence whatsoever in breach of the Act; and the Magistrate was notified that the case would be appealed to the Supreme Court.

—The man in the moon, who is he? how he got there, what he thinks of us and of him—St. James' Hall to-morrow night.

—His Leg Sprained.—As Mr. William Gough was working on a platform in the refrigerator in Messrs. Auld Bros.' establishment on Saturday, the platform gave way and Mr. Gough fell about twelve feet, spraining one of his legs.

—POLICE COURT.—This forenoon, the two Scott Act cases against George Oiler were further adjourned until Wednesday, and two drunks were disposed of for fines of $2 or 10 days and $5 or 30 days, respectively.

—CANADA FOR THE CANADIANS.—An order for the manufacture of a number of new buoys has been given by the Department of Marine to Messrs. J. Matheson & Co., New Glasgow, N.S.

—Other makes of dress goods may have many excellencies, but in the texture, the finish, the possibility of lovely contours in the completed costume, Priestley's noted dress goods are superior to any other manufacture.
