"THE MILKMAN" DELIVERS HILARIOUS LAUGH TEAM

If you don't think the fellow who leaves the milk at your door leads an interesting life, wait until you get a gander at Universal-International's "The Milkman." The hilarious comedy with music, which opens Thursday at the Prince Edward Theatre, put Donald O'Connor and Jimmy "Schnozzola" Durante in the middle of some of the gayest, most nonsensical goings-on to hit the screen in many a crazy moon.

The two comedians, paired for the first time in "The Milkman," will have movie fans throughout the world yelling for more of the same. Aided by two of the slickest chicks to bow on the screen in years, Piper Laurie and Joyce Holden, Durante and O'Connor spin their way through four catchy tunes and a million rib-tickling situations which stamp "The Milkman" as one of the finest comedy offerings of the season.

O'Connor is great in the wacky role of a wealthy playboy who tries to escape the hangovers of the war by becoming a milkman. Durante, cast as his pal, plays the part of a 25-year veteran along the milk routes. Piper Laurie and Joyce Holden, cast as the comical respective girl friends, race along with them through a succession of laugh provoking events which left opening day audiences holding their sides with joy.

The Misses Florence Higginbotham and Anna Power, Montague were recent visitors to Murray Harbour South, visiting friends and relatives.

THE THIRD PLANK IN THE LIBERAL PLATFORM

3. A study of soil stabilization is now proceeding to determine if our roads can be cheaply and successfully stabilized. The construction of improved highways about four miles apart will be continued until districts are served. An all-season road across King's County to Wood Islands will be gradually built as a counterpoise and complement to the Trans-Canada Highway and the Western Road extended to Tignish and the O'Leary road extended westerly. Twenty-ton bridges will be completed. Rebuilding the Charlottetown to Borden highway in portions which are no longer usable will proceed, and in general to balance the cost of the Trans-Canada in other areas. Continued effort will be made to connect thickly settled areas with the main road system.

These Are not matters for the distant future. The plans have been made and the implementation of this plank will commence immediately.
