N.B. Voting System Scheduled For Reform

By DAL WARRINGTON

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Canadians who move to New Brunswick from another province are often surprised and a little confused when they come to vote here in a provincial election.

New Brunswick is the only province in Canada where a sheet of plain white paper constitutes an official election ballot.

It is also unique in that all ballots are placed in envelopes before being dropped into the ballot box.

However, next Monday's election may be the last in which New Brunswick voters have this distinction. Both Liberal Premier Louis J. Robichaud and Conservative leader C. B. Sherwood have made electoral reform part of their election platforms.

The system dates from pre-Confederation days. Researchers at the New Brunswick Museum say it began in 1855 with introduction of the secret ballot, this being the first province to adopt it.

In federal elections, of course, New Brunswickers use a printed ballot listing all candidates alphabetically—the form other provinces also use for provincial elections.

HANDED ENVELOPE

When a New Brunswick voter enters a polling station the deputy returning officer hands him an official envelope which has been initialed in his presence.

The voters takes the envelope to the private voting compartment. There he normally finds three or more kinds of ballot papers provided. One is a plain blank sheet on which he may write the names of the candidates he wishes to vote for. The others are printed papers provided by the political parties. Liberals and Conservatives each supply ballots naming only their candidates. The agent for any other party may do the same.

If you wish to vote a straight party ticket you merely place the appropriate ballot in the envelope unsealed and return it to the deputy returning officer. But if you wish to split your vote—all New Brunswick constituencies elect more than one member — you must use the blank ballot, writing in the names, or strike out some names and write in others on a party ballot. Use of either pen or pencil is permitted.

The demand for reform arises from some obvious abuses. Ballots provided by one party are often stolen from the booths by opponents. Ballot-box "stuffing" is easier and so is spoiling your ballot. Counting is complicated by the need to remove ballots from envelopes after the boxes are opened.

PROMISE REVISION

The Liberal government platform promises "a thorough revision, including standard form of official ballot." Premier Robichaud, in announcing it, said reform is "long overdue and has been sought in all parts of New Brunswick." He predicted adoption of voting forms patterned on those used in federal elections.

The Conservative platform says: "We shall undertake a complete revision of the Elections Act, which will include reform of the electoral ballot, enlargement of the polling hours and lowering the age limit. In general, to bring provincial electoral procedures in line with present day needs."

So far neither party has mentioned the subject of redistribution of seats. No change has been made since 1946, when the McNair Liberal administration added four members, bringing the number of seats to 52. In the last House Liberals held 31 and Conservatives 21.

LAUNCH VESSEL

MONTREAL (CP) — The $2,600,000 federal transport department depot vessel Narwhal was launched Thursday, christened by Mrs. Gordon W. Stead, wife port minister. The 251-foot ship, to be based at Dartmouth, N.S., will carry out cargo supply work in the Arctic. It has living quarters for 69 stevedores.

The hand was played in a multiple team contest in England. At most tables, the opening bid with the North hand was either a club or a weak no-trump (12 to 14 points).

However, at one table North chose a heart as his opening bid, and when South, reasonably enough, eventually climbed to six hearts, which went down one, he berated himself by saying he should have known North would lose two trump tricks!

This was the bidding at another table:

North	East	South	West
1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
1NT	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♥	Pass	4♠	Pass
5♥	Pass	6♥	Pass

The jump to four hearts was a slight overbid, but the eventual contract was a good one, even though it did go down because of the unlucky trump division.

West led a diamond and declarer took it in dummy and played a heart to the ace to cover the possibility of a singleton king in the West hand. He then entered dummy with a club and led another heart. When East showed out, South conceded down one, which the opponents accepted after seeing his cards.

However, if West had played on, he could have defeated the contract another trick by winning the heart and playing another club. Since declarer would be barred from taking a club finesse, having made an improper claim, he could also have made a club trick.

At another table, where the bidding went: 1C, 1H, 3H, 6H, the West player doubled and collected 200 points, but his teammates offset this score when they bid as follows:

North	East	South	West
1NT	Pass	4♥	Pass
4♠	Pass	4NT	Pass
5♦

This pair were using the Texas convention, under which the direct jump to four hearts required North to transfer the bid to four spades. South had forgotten about the convention and remembered it only when North responded four spades. In an effort to get out from under, he used Blackwood, passing the five diamond response which showed one ace. North went down two.

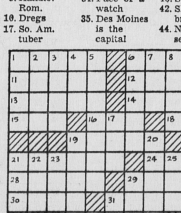
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
