WALK AWAY The Devils began to walk away from S.D.U. in the middle frame and MacDonagh shot two of the three goals. Sandwiched in between the two was an unassisted marker by Parent.

It's funny how things start. In 1492 Columbus set out to find India and discovered a useless place called North America instead.

In 1900, when automobiles were progressing nicely, an American engineer decided he should have a rear vision mirror on his steam car. (No one had ever thought of having a mirror to look backwards.)

So he installed the first rear vision mirror—but the purpose was to help him look backwards at the water level gauge, an important thing to watch in the steam car of course.

A lot of automobile innovations had a hard time catching on. The first cars steered with a tiller, something like the "stick" in an airplane. One brave manufacturer tried to introduce the steering wheel in 1901, but the public reaction was so bad he went back to the tiller.

It was another three years before the steering wheel came into popular use.

Today, we expect the gear shift lever to be on the steering post. It's comparatively a new innovation. (That's what you think.)

In 1904, the wonderful old Pierce-Arrow introduced the steering post gear lever—but it took another 40 years before the idea really caught on.

The luxuries and the easy-driving aids we have on our cars today have been tried and proved through the years. That, we think, is what you should keep in mind when you're shopping around for a used car, a new car, or for a service garage.

As a franchised new car agency, we, too, have been tried and proved through the years. We'll be here tomorrow, next week and next year to make sure you get the most out of your car.

And here are only a couple of our used cars which have proven to be just what we say they are—dependable, economical and just raring to go.

A 1933 BUICK two-door sedan with radio, heater, Dynaflo transmission. Light green paint with interior like new. Only $1600.

A 1934 PONTIAC four-door sedan—radio, heater. This car is all black and in excellent shape. Come in and ask us about it. This may be the car you have been waiting for. Only $1500.
