CHARLOTTETOWN Business College Writing Academy

Let these eight of practice illuminate the dark places of Theory.
THOROUGHLY Progressive Practical Institution, in which young men and women are not only taught Book keeping (with its applications to commerce) both in single and double entry, but are trained how to do business, by actual business transactions. The students act as buyers, sellers, traders, bankers, book-keepers and accountants, in actual business operations, and the currency issued by the College Bank and the mds. issued from the Emporium, are used in bona fide business transactions, just the same as in mercantile and banking houses. Book-keeping in itself may be learned at home, but a knowledge of how to transact business, cannot be thus acquired. That our course system of training is eminently practical write for testimonials from business men, and from students who are now holding lucrative and responsible positions.

SUBJECTS:
Book-keeping by single and double entry (theoretical and practical), Actual Business Practice, Business Penmanship, Business Correspondence, Commercial Arithmetic, Commercial Law, Railroading, Steamboat Ing, Banking, (actual practice in the College Bank) Typewriting, Shorthand and Navigation.

FACULTY:
L. B. Miller, Principal, Teacher of Book-keeping, Arithmetic, Business Practice, Business Correspondence, Typewriting and Navigation.
J. W. Coulson, (Vice Principal) Teacher of Railroading, Steamboat Ing, Accounting and Actual Business Practice.

Was Rudely Interrupted.
"How beautiful is the snow!" he said. "So white, so pure, so universal! It falls alike on rich and poor. It turns the beggar's hovel to a dream of glistening beauty. It!"
But just then a snowball caught him under the ear and a half ton of the same material fell from a cornice and lodged between his collar and his neck. And he spake no more.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Modern Warfare's Horrors.
The commander of the ironclad peered through the porthole at the enemy and then turned to the gunners.
"Give him grape and canister!" he shouted hoarsely, grinding his teeth. "Give him grape anyhow! Perchance we shall lodge a seed in his appendix vermiciformis!"
And the horrible carnage went on.—New York World.

At Last.
She started from her sleep with a wild cry.
"There are burglars in the house!" she screamed.
In her joy she could not forbear to waken her husband and tell him how, at last, there was a likelihood that a full list of their jewelry and plate would get into the newspapers.—Detroit Journal.

One Way of Escape.
"The big guns on our war vessels," said Gobang, "have a range of 12 miles."
"Twelve miles, is nt?" asked O'Kelly. "Thin why in hivin's name don't the other fellies run up in six miles uv us an do their foightin' out uv range?"—New York Journal.

Looked That Way to the Office Boy.
The Office Boy—Say, I believe the shippin clerk is thinkin' about marryin you.
The Typewriter—Why, the ideal!
"On the dead, I do. I heard him askin the bookkeeper how much salary you got."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Two Saving Accidents.
"To what do you attribute your long life?" asked the tourist.
"Waal," said Alkali Ike's grandfather, "mostly to a rope that broke and a catteridge that didn't explode."—New York Journal.

Her Refusal Final.
Arthur—They say, dear, that people who live together look alike.
Kate—Then you must consider my refusal as final.—Tit-Bits.

A Lyric.
The poet fashioned a lyric
Out of his soul's gloom pent.
'Twas elusive as the moonbeam
Kissing the peach bloom's scent.
The lover warbled it softly,
Lost in a day dream deep.
The mother fondly crooned it
To lull the baby to sleep.
Nor lover nor mother fancied,
Singing with joy apace,
This frail white rose of a lyric,
This bird dream of airy grace,
Was wrought by the frenzied poet
Out of his troubled soul
In heart throbs of sad, sweet music
To pay for a ton of coal.
—R. K. Munkittritz in New York Press.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Helts of plain leather, with plain leather shopping bags to match, are seen in the large stores and bid fair to gain popularity.

Jeweled buttons are seen on handsome gowns of silk and velvet. Turquoise, rubies, emeralds and topazes are the jewels most in use.

Satin, as having greater luster than silk, is chosen for the underdress of the organdie and gauze dresses now being made for the summer.

In silks taffeta still holds its place. Four yards of plain taffeta are required for a tucked yoke-collar, folded belt and two long sash ends to fall from a rosette or small bow.

The erstwhile omnipresent white kid gloves are now being relegated almost entirely to evening wear, while light tan and pearl gray are much worn at smart afternoon functions.

From all appearances it will be the exception this spring or summer to find a gown without a silk or ribbon sash. Even the tailor made gowns, it is predicted, will be worn with a ribbon tie or stock.

Among the novelties in dress fabrics are the new cashmeres, woven in two colors. They are beautiful and will make lovely gowns. Silk faced serge is a handsome material for tailor made, seaside and country gowns.

Among the prettiest summer goods for next season will be seen flowered muslins on plain and brocaded grounds, barege muslins, plunetis, grass lawns and plain batistes. Bright colors will be a feature of next summer's dress fabrics.

Plaids now appear in ginghams and claim a share of the popularity given to the same designs shown in wool and silk goods. Some pretty patterns are seen also in organdies and lawns and in delicate tints of the same color as well as in the real tartan.—New York Tribune.

No Place For Great Men In Austria.

I must take passing notice of another point in the government's measures for maintaining tranquillity. Everybody says it does not like to see any individual attain to commanding influence in the country, since such a man can become a disturber and an inconvenience. "We have as much talent as the other nations," says the citizen resignedly and without bitterness, "but for the sake of the general good of the country we are discouraged from making it over-conspicuous, and not only discouraged, but tactfully and skillfully prevented from doing it if we show too much persistence. Consequently we have no renowned men. In centuries we have seldom produced one—that is, seldom allowed one to produce himself. We can say today what no other nation of first importance in the family of Christian civilizations can say—that there exists no Austrian who has made an enduring name for himself which is familiar all around the globe."—"Stirring Times In Austria," by Mark Twain, in Harper's Magazine.

After coughs and colds the germs of consumption often gain a foothold.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites will not cure every case; but, if taken in time, it will cure many.

Even when the disease is farther advanced, some remarkable cures are effected.

In the most advanced stages it prolongs life, and makes the days far more comfortable.

Everyone suffering from consumption needs this food tonic.

What is known and Sold as

Ready-Made Clothing

Is clothing cut out by machinery, put together by machinery, and with the aid of starving female labor. Such a garment stamps the wearer on sight as dressed in slops. He not only looks it but as a consequence feels it. Men are learning that they cannot afford to be ill-dressed. Slops have had their day.

Shorey's Ready-to-Wear Clothing

expresses exactly what the name would imply

QUITE READY-TO-WEAR.

Made by tailors, designed by an artist, sewn with the best linen and silk, cut to fit the form of man be he tall, short, stout, or thin. Any man not a positive malformation can be fitted by Shorey's Ready-to-wear Clothing.

By fitted we mean dressed so that he looks a Gentleman, and possesses that feeling of comfort and air of ease that always marks the well dressed man.

See that Shorey's Guarantee Card is in the pocket of every garment.
