THE DAILY EXAMINER.

JULY 16, 1890.

Grain Plant-Lice.

ON Monday evening there were sent to the meeting of the Natural History Society a number of specimens of a small insect which is at present destroying a grain-field on the Stock Farm This insect is the common grain aphis (Siphon phora avenæ) which did so much damage to grain in some sections of the United States last year. The eggs of this insect remain on winter wheat, or on native grasses, over winter, and in the spring are hatched out into wingless females of extraordinary fecundity. A single individual will produce in twenty days 2,000,000 of its kind. In June, or earlier, winged females are produced which migrate from one district to another and spread the pest all over the country. In the fall perfect males and females appear, which establish the annual perpetuity of the species. It is the peculiarity of all aphides, or plant lice, that during summer the females produce young directly by a species of budding in their interior, without going through the slow process of laying eggs and waiting for them to hatch, hence its enormous rapidity of multiplication*.

In 1861 this insect did much damage in the United States, and about that time, for one season, ruined the oat crop here. It did not appear again in numbers in the United States till last year, and we seem likely to have our turn of it this year. No artificial means have ever devised for its destruction, but beneficent nature has provided means to check the ravages of such a scourge to vegetation. Various insects devour it, but a minute winged insect, called by the learned Aphidius Granariaphis acts as a parasite to the plant-louse laying its eggs and rearing its young in its body, and destroys it in greater numbers than anything else. These parasitic flies multiply greatly in the heat of summer, and usually destroy all the grain lice before the crop matures. Already, it may be observed, that of the few insects sent to the Society, a number have been stung by the parasite, their bodies are swollen, and they are dying.

This fine weather is very favorable to the multiplication of the parasites and if it continues we may hope soon to see the grains plant-lice gradually disappear from the fields. A good thunder shower would do much to stop their migrations and save the country from a general attack.

B.

*These plant-lice destroy the grain crop by sucking the juice of the plants and thus preventing the development of the grain.

Got the Money.

EDWARD KELLY, son of Mr. Edward Kelly, of Hazel Grove, died in the Hospital at Grand Forks, Dakota, about two years ago. A young man named Hammond, who was with Kelly at the time, took the latter's money and personal property, as well as his passbook on the Winnipeg savings bank, but was not able to draw from the bank without a power of attorney. On these facts becoming known to the deceased's father at Hazel Grove, he set to work to establish his claim to the money in question, and after a good deal of trouble succeeded in obtaining it last week. Mr. Kelly wishes to thank Rev. E. J. Conaty, of Grand Forks, Percy Pope, Esq., and Dr. Bagnall, of this city, for their kindness in helping him to prove his claim and draw the money deposited in the bank to his son's credit.

The case was traced through a letter published in THE EXAMINER some time ago. In view of the correspondence which has been carried on since Mr. Kelly began to work it up, it may not be out of place to intimate that too much reliance should not be placed in letters from strangers, and to remark also that the Dominion Savings Bank is a very secure place for young men, who go abroad and save money, to make their deposits in.

Stanley's Marriage.

SOME OF THE COSTLY AND CURIOUS WEDDING PRESENTS HE IS RECEIVING.

The marriage of Henry M. Stanley and Miss Dorothy Tennant took place last Saturday at Westminster Abbey. Stanley showed the effects of illness, by which he was attacked a day or two before, and was compelled to use a cane to assist him in walking to and from the altar. The Abbey was crowded with friends of the bride and groom. Stanley is the recipient of many costly and curious presents, which include almost everything that the ingenuity of man can devise. Among the latest arrivals—the gifts of the men of the advance guard of the Emin relief expedition—is a beautiful over mantel of ebony and silver resting upon an easel of the wood. The mantel is decorated with the photographs of Stairs, Parke, Nelson and Jephson, one in each corner, and the picture of Stanley in the centre. A firm of watchmakers presented a patent gold geographical watch, the first of the kind ever manufactured. It tells the exact time in almost every important city in the world. The Prince of Wales sent a large family Bible and a framed embossed poem. Gourand gave him a phonograph. There are only four of these instruments in England. Three of them will be placed in Westminster Abbey. During the Stanley marriage ceremony one will be placed in the tower to record the full sound of the wedding bells, another beside the organ to catch the music and another in the choir. The instruments will be given to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley, so that the singing and music may be repeated to them. The bridal cake has already been made. It is mounted on a circle of fluted silver pillars. A white silk shield, with the initials "D. T.—H. M. S." hand painted, will be pinned in front. Three cornucopias, filled chiefly with orange blossoms, will be placed on a large tier. Surmounting the cake will be a cup of flowers, upheld by Cupids, while underneath, between the pillars, a white cupid will sit with one fist manacled to the eyes, representing grief at the crippled condition.

Liberal-Conservative Convention.

A convention was held on Monday, 14th inst., at Hunter River Hall, for the purpose of nominating a candidate to contest the First Legislative Council District of Queen's County. W. E. Dawson, Esq., was called to the chair, and the undersigned appointed secretary. A large delegation from various polling divisions was present.

The meeting was addressed on the local political questions of the day by D. McKay, Esq., Wm. Campbell, Esq., J. H. Haslam, D. Cameron, Arthur Simpson, D. E. Campbell, R. Y. McCoubrey, W. B. Ramsay, James Wares, A. Collett, J. Bradley, and several others.

Moved by D. E. Campbell, of Wiltshire, and seconded by J. M. Robertson, of Cavendish, that William Campbell, Esq., be our candidate.

There being no further nomination, the motion was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

D. E. Campbell being then called to the chair, a vote of thanks was given to the chairman, which Mr. Dawson suitably acknowledged.

Ordered, that the proceedings of the meeting be forwarded to THE EXANINER for publication.

ARTHUR SIMPSON, Secy.

First District of Prince County.

At a large and representative convention of delegates to choose a candidate to contest the First District of Prince County in the Liberal Conservative interest Jeremiah Blanchard was unanimously chosen.

Centennial Echoes.

Now that the sounds of the celebration have passed and gone the echoes of the past are heard floating on the air down through the dim vistas of the long ago. Our celebration was in honor of the memory and to call forth from the almost forgotten past recollections of the pioneers of Cavendish who were men and women worthy of honor; and who, though some of them sleep in nameless graves in the old cemetery at Charlottetown, were not unwept, are not unhonored or unsung.

"Nor you ye proud impute to these the fault
If memory o'er their tomb no trophies raise."

A monument to their memory in Cavendish where they lived and labored, battled with the forces of nature, and conquered—changed the face of the country from a howling wilderness into smiling homesteads and beautiful clear fields on which their descendants enjoy life would seem to be a fitting result of this centennial celebration.

Since the celebration, and after the account of it that you published was written, I have been shown, by Miss Mary McNeill of Cavendish, some relics of a century ago. One is the corsets of Janet Winchester, wife of the first of the pioneers, William Simpson. When we noticed the size of them we thought there must have been "Giants in those days," and ceased to wonder that the Simpson's are such a large race. We were also shown quite a large piece of her wedding dress of green brocaded silk, and also the snuff horn of the pioneer of the McNeill's, and a portion of the wedding vest of William Dockendorff who was married to a daughter of William Simpson, and who sat in the Legislature during the early part of the century.

The relics call up echoes of "Ye olden time," when in the prime and vigor of youth our ancestors married and were given in marriage, plowed, sowed and reaped on some of these very fields we now cultivate or wandered along the same old sea beach and listened as we do to the music of the billows that still

"Roll the wild profound eternal bass in nature's anthem."

As a fitting conclusion to the festivities the Rev. Allan Simpson, of Halifax, preached in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday from the text, "Instead of thy fathers shall be thy children." The sermon, though not prepared specially for this occasion, was very appropriate. It was a practical discourse and a credit to the rev. gentleman, who we are proud to claim as a relative and a native of the place. We were pleased to have Mr. William Marquis, a native of Cavendish, who has been absent from the place for a quarter of a century, and who at the great age of 80 years, had sufficient interest in the celebration to come all the way from Boston to attend it.

The thought again comes up, who will gather in Cavendish 100 years hence to celebrate the second centenary of its settlement? Echo answers who. W.

The Ice in the Straits.

A VETERAN SAILOR OF THIRTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE ACCOUNTS FOR THE GREAT QUANTITIES.

The Allan steamer Buenos Ayrean, from Greenock, was the last ship to come through the Straits of Belle Isle. She arrived at Montreal on Friday. She found the Straits packed with ice, the Belle Isle side being jammed. She took the Newfoundland side, and had to slow up and stop altogether sometimes among big bergs. She passed close to numbers of them, some being very large. She lost several hours.

Capt. Richardson, of the Sardinian, who has been in the St. Lawrence trade for thirty years, was asked by a Witness reporter if he could account for the large quantities of ice this season. He said it was probably caused by the recent very warm summers in the north which would break up the ice and set it loose. He never in his experience saw such quantities of ice in the Gulf. It was not only a nuisance the captain said, but it was dangerous. At present there is no time to be gained by taking the Straits, and the officers of the steamers taking that route are having quite an anxious time.
