MOTHER'S LITTLE FINGER

(From the ench of Augusta Coupey, by the Rev. A. E. Burke)

The other day almost unto a blister I beat with a big switch my little sister. Then I bade her a single word not utter For very fear of me none did she even mutter.

We were alone; no person saw me do, And what's most strange, of it my mother knew?

Who or what told her, deciding why then linger?

It was all spoken by her little finger. Her little finger, wonderful to hear, Speaks all things clearly to her listening ear.

Yes, sure; if I a good or bad boy be E'en far away she knows it perfectly.

Would you believe? last week about our door,

My only cent and bread I gave to the poor.

We were alone; no person saw me do, And what's most strange, of it my mother knew.

Who told or what, deciding why then linger?

It was all spoken by her little finger, And whether I a good or bad boy be My mother knows it perfectly.

My little finger (understand me well) None of these things that hers reports can tell;

Not me it praises, never me it scolds, Nor sick nor well with me a discourse holds.

Tis true and known, whatever's done by me

It's always round the very first to see. Then let me ask, all further talk to hinder,

Why art so stupid thou my little finger? I have the answer. All it well doth hear it cannot whisper in my anxious ear;

Because there's wanting in my little finger

The tender heart my mamma has within her.

Voici ce que disait la semaine dernière l'Examinateur qui reproduisait le poème du Rev. Père Burke que nous publions dans nos colonnes aujourd'hui.

"From the Children's Department of the 'Boston Pilots' admirable Christmas Number, we clip the foregoing pretty little poem which will delight many hundreds of children this continent over. The busy pen of our clerical friend is equally happy in every department of literature, and his heart like that of the Master goes out tenderly to the 'little ones.'"

L'IMPARTIAL se joint de tout coeur au confrère dans les compliments bien mérités qu'il fait à l'auteur.

TIGNISH'S

Best Store

FOR Fall and Winter GOODS

More Goods now to choose from than in all years past and better than all the lowest prices we've ever quoted.

We do not see the necessity of our Tignish people going elsewhere to buy goods, when it is so well known that all that is desired: "Quality, Quantity and Price" can be had at Myricks'.

In previous years we've had splendid stocks, each better than the other. This season's assortment is the best we've ever had.

WE CAN SUPPLY ANYTHING YOU NEED

We have always endeavored to help the farmers along, by buying their product of the farm and paying as high as the market would warrant; we are doing so still and are always happy to help our enterprising farmers.

"What shall I give for Christmas?"

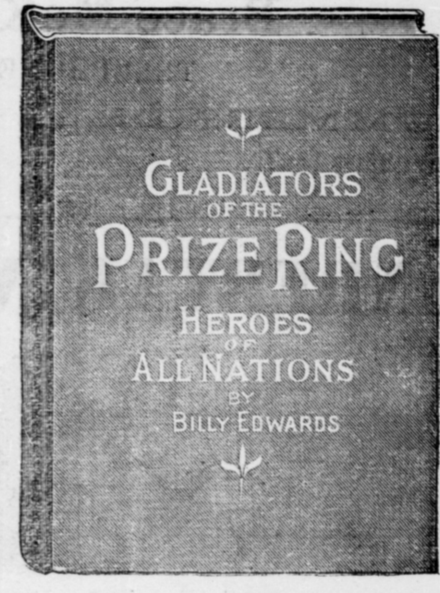

This is the problem of the day, but a visit to our store will easily, delightfully and economically solve it.

Before closing we wish to call the attention of the public on the Special Blended Tea which we carry in stock. One pound of this Tea is equal to 1 1/2 lb of ordinary Tea.

Gladiators of the Prize Ring

A MAGNIFICENT WORK FOR SPORTSMEN. 96 Large Half-Tone Portraits of ALL NOTED PUGILISTS. From Hyer to Corbett. Together with their Records in Battle and the Histories of their Lives.

OF recent years the interest taken in the noble art of self-defense has been almost universal. The cultivation in our colleges of athletic exercises, and the great interest taken by all classes of people in physical culture, would seem to indicate that this is the golden era of muscular development and the establishment of a perfect manhood.

Gladiators of the Prize Ring has been prepared in the most careful manner; every fact has been verified by exhaustive research and careful compilation of official data. Every important event in the historic arena, from the first ring encounter down to the great battles of the present day, both in this country and abroad, is given a place.

Special Features

- 1. This is the only work of the kind ever published. 2. The portraits are the finest in existence—taken at the time the men were in their prime. 3. It has been edited by the greatest authorities now living, and is the only authentic work of reference ever published. 4. The boxing lesson by "Young Griffo" and Walter Campbell is a series of twenty-four plates taken by instantaneous photography and shows every important blow with guard for same, and the positions reversed, while the instructive text accompanying and explaining them, is thorough and complete. This is the first time such results have been obtained, and the two men represented are the most scientific in their profession. 5. Three years' time has been consumed and $25,000 have been expended in collecting, compiling and reproducing the portraits for this work. 6. All "tough" phraseology has been carefully avoided in the editing of the work so that there is nothing to offend the most refined.

BEAUTIFUL BRITAIN.

The Scenery and the Splendors of the United Kingdom. Royal Residences, Palaces, Castles, Bowers, Hunting Lodges, River Banks and Islets, Abbeys and Halls, The Homes of Princes, Views of Noted Places, Historic Landmarks and Ancient Ruins in English, French, German, Italian, Spanish, and Russian.

A magnificent collection of views, with elaborate descriptions and many interesting historical notes. Text set within emblematic borders, printed in a tint. A fine example of up-to-date printing.

FOR all Americans there is an unfulfilling interest in the scenes and places of that historic little country that gave us our laws, our language, our conquering instinct and our faith. Divided many times by the bitterness of those contests that have made us what we are, she turns again to us and we to her, as the Mother Land whose splendid story is also so largely ours, and in common with whom we claim the genius of Shakespeare, the laws of Alfred, and the dominant instinct of that Saxon lineage which wins and conquers and subdues by processes known to us two alone: the American and the Briton side by side. And as the centuries have passed England has grown nearer to us. She is no longer a far-off land of which we have only heard. The first voyages of those who made America, and made it English, occupied nine stormy and perilous weeks. It required two centuries to reduce that time one-half. Now our green shores and taller trees, and more stupendous waterfalls than his islands' know. And for the old, the storied, the historic, we go to him. What he has is in a sense our own. It is a hand-made and a time-mellowed beauty; for us the beauty of history and association, ours as well as his. We give him stupendous nature dotted with new cities that seem old enough to us. He gives us the story of our common race written in piled stones and clustering ivy, representing the toil and hope of centuries; a toil and hope which we inherited, and whose memorials are also ours.
