Weekend Briefs

DELIVERING BABIES IN MID-AIR is just one of the feats performed in the call of duty by Saskatchewan's Air Ambulances. Buffeted by blizzards and bumping along improvised airfields to reach remote residents of the prairies, these dauntless crews of pilots and nurses fly an average of 900 patients one million miles a year. This unique life-saving service has just reached a landmark, having flown its 10,000th patient. Don't miss this inspiring story in The Evening Patriot Weekend Magazine on Saturday.

A CHRISTMAS PREDICTION says that your best girl has a predilection for festive frillies. It follows that you fellows will linger over the lingerie counters this season. A Weekend photo-feature gives you a feminine fashion forecast of garments so stylish that you'll scarcely recognize them as sleepwear!

LUCILE OF THE LAURENTIANS has made a decision—a very important decision. Stopping at the top may sound like a simple and logical decision for this Canadian maid of the mountains. But to the only world ski champion this country has produced, it involves giving up a whole way of life in exchange for a new life she fears may be a bit frightening in its unfamiliarity. Read Lucile Wheeler's story as she tells it to Jacqueline Moore in Weekend Magazine.

A NEW HOCKEY SERIES is featured in Saturday's magazine section, where a full color picture and story about Dickie Moore of the Montreal Canadiens starts the puck rolling.

THERE'S PEAK PLEASURE for the whole family in all these features and more in tomorrow's big three-section Evening Patriot. With Weekend Magazine, 16 pages of color comics and its main news section, The Patriot has become the Island's "best newspaper buy."

Due to the death of MR. PICTON R. McCORMAC
New Method Cleaners Limited and Sterns Limited will be closed Saturday, December 6.

Dance Cancelled
Due to the death of P. R. McCormac, the regular Main Brace members' dance will not be held.

SATURDAY, DEC. 6th
Our Store will be short staffed but open for business Friday from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Maritime Art Exhibition Opened At Prince Of Wales

An outstanding exhibition of work by Maritime artists was officially opened last evening at Prince of Wales College by His Honor, Lieutenant-Governor F.W. Hyndman.
Also present at the opening were his Honor, Premier A.W. Matheson and Mayor E.C. Johnstone and Mrs. Johnstone. Attending the Lieutenant Governor was his aide Lt.-Cmdr. Douglas Saunders.
The exhibition of 29 paintings includes three works by Island artists: "Stanhope Beach" by H. Barry Bugden; "Old Favorites" by Glad Ellis, and "The Blue Willow" by Isabel Fraser.
During the opening ceremony Mrs. B. Ellis, president of the P. E. I. Art Society, presented a magnificent painting of "Still Life" to Premier Mtheson, a gift from the Maritime Art Association, to the people of this province.
The painting, in oils, is the work of Rosamund Campbell of Saint John, N. B., and was selected by the judges as one of the top three works in this year's exhibition. In presenting the painting, Mrs. Ellis voiced the hope of the M.A. A. that it would be placed in a permanent collection, in a public place, for the enjoyment of the people of Prince Edward Island.
