DAILY DOES IT
'Tis naught but folly to resolve, Upon this New Year's Day, To start anew an unspooled sheet And then not live that way.

No one expects us to evolve At ending of the year Without a smudge or two on it, Or an unsightly tear.

But when the year has ravelled
Out
And there, before our face, Our broken resolutions stand—We're blue and in disgrace.

One of the saddest sights we view Or mortal tongue can mention Is New Year Resolutions that Have never had attention.

'Tis wiser, when we rise each morn
To make a fresh resolve Within our hearts, to meet the day
And at least one problem solve.

Our New Year Resolutions are In truth, not worth a dime, For man was meant to live his Just one day at a time.

New Year Is Welcomed At Summerside

The new year was ushered in with many social festivities in Summerside. Something new for this Town was the dinner and dance sponsored by the Canadian Legion at Coyle's Restaurant and which was most successful in every respect.

Tables were by reservation and the facilities available were all taken up. Music was supplied by Lowell Huestis and his orchestra.

Mr. W. Robertson was chairman of the committee in charge and acted as master of ceremonies.
Dinner was served at 10 P.M. and dancing commenced at midnight. There was also a dance at the Imperial Dance Hall to the music of Don Messer and his orchestra. This dance also started at midnight. Parties were also held at the various messes of the R.C.A.F. station and last evening there was a formal dance at the Officers' Mess.—S

At earliest dawn American, Australian and South African aircraft hit the Chinese with all their might. Officers estimated that 6,000 Chinese were killed or wounded by air strikes alone.

The Air Force, sending every category of plane at its command into the battle, flew about 700 sorties Monday.

Heavy artillery fire exacted large toll of the enemy.

The Allied troops were well dug in and prepared by all standards so far in the Korean war to meet the Chinese onslaught. Allied officers did not conceal their disappointment that the defence failed to stop the waves of Chinese.

"What are you going to do when they simply don't care how many men they lose?" one staff officer asked.

There was, however, no plan to yield ground readily, correspondent Randolph said. The Allies have had almost a full month to prepare for the Chinese offensive.

The defenders have more than one single defence line to hold.

AP correspondent Jack Mac-Beth said the attack on Seoul was coming down two valleys north of Uijongbu. Obviously the Reds were aiming for Uijongbu, which controls the roads approaching the capital.

Last week, Reds were reported at Singan, preparing ridge positions. Singan is 21 miles north of Seoul.

The main Chinese attack slowed during New Year's Day. Reds felt out Allied lines, evidently preparatory to resuming their push at night when Allied planes were less effective.

Enemy units facing United Nations forces along the hottest 20-mile stretch of the front have been tentatively identified as the Chinfeng 33th, 39th and 66th Armies.

Each of the three armies has an estimated strength of 40,000 men, or 120,000 in all.

The 38th Army hit from the vicinity of Yonchon, six miles north of the 38th parallel and 36 miles north of Seoul. The 39th Army came from the vicinity of Kuhwa, seven miles north of Korango, which is 25 miles northwest of Seoul. The 66th Army was last located near Changam, 17 miles east-southeast of Yonchon.

In addition, the U.S. Eighth Army reported it believed eight "reconstituted" North Korean infantry divisions, plus elements of a ninth, were operating on the western front.

The Chinese had no air power to accompany their offensive. But they were backed with artillery and Russian-built T-34 tanks.

The lack of Red big guns up front was explained by inability to get them quickly across the ice-jammed Imjin River.

Girl Guide News

There is no Sunday racing in the United States as both had to fly to widely-separated tracks to battle right to the last hours.

Culmore rode in all eight races at Havana, Cuba, and Shoemaker rode the entire card of 11 events at Agua Caliente, Mexico. Culmore flew from Florida and Shoemaker from New Orleans for the final day.

Culmore finished his chores first at Havana's Oriental Park and led Shoemaker by one until the 11th and final race at Agua.

Willie broke out in the last race of the year to win by 15 lengths and the Culmore. The Texan jumped into the winner's circle, kissed his wife and said:

"I'm happy the way it finished and I'm glad to be in a tie with two great jockeys."

Culmore showed less happiness.
"I'm disappointed I couldn't break Miller's record, but I'm happy as long as Shoemaker didn't break it.
I'll try to break it next year."

He added: "I got some tough breaks today, but I did my best."

Guide Laws were studied and the composition of the Union Jack.
Knols presented no difficulty.
Other items of the Tenderfoot Test were to be practiced at the next meeting. It will not be long before we shall have 11 more Guides to add to our numbers.

The recruits are, Shirley Car-ragher, Florence MacCormac, Hazel and Harriet Murphy, Rosalie and Joyce Callaghan, Ruth and Alice Callaghan, Ida Deagle, Audrey Carraher and Janet Murphy.
Hospital bags are being made and will shortly be completed. It is hoped that this Lane Patrol will develop by Spring and be a full fledged Company.

Culmore And Shoemaker End Year Tied Up

By FRED HAYDEN
NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—(AP)— Nineteen-year-old jockeys Joe Culmore and Willie Shoemaker wound up all even for 1950 national riding honors in a duel that didn't end until the waning hours of the old year.

They each booted home three winners on foreign tracks Sunday and ended with 388 for the year after the lightest race on record. The jockeys also tied the 44-year-old national mark set by Walter Miller.

Moncton Hawks Edge Beavers 4-3 Saturday

MONCTON, Jan. 1.—Moncton Hawks put up a respectable showing here Saturday night to edge Saint John Beavers 4-3 in a Maritime Major Hockey League game.

Except for a second period lapse, the Hawks had the game pretty well under control most of the way and for the most part had Saint John on the defensive. Brodeur handled 31 stops and Colvin 18.

The Moncton defence had a good night, figuring in the scoring as well as providing first class protection for Colvin. Danville scored a goal and had an assist while Delmonte had two assists.
