

Why is it that nearly all aged persons are thin?

And yet, when you think of it, what could you expect?

Three score years of wear and tear are enough to make the digestion weak. Yet the body must be fed.

In Scott's Emulsion, the work is all done; that is, the oil in it is digested, all ready to be taken into the blood. The body rests, while the oil feeds and nourishes, and the hypophosphites makes the nerves steady and strong.

For The Children

Fun With a Horseless Carriage.

Dear Hans and Fritz decided that To be right up to date A horseless carriage they should have To ride about in state.

They bought one of the latest style And started out one day, With clanging bell and oily smell That quickly cleared the way.

"I'll steer," said Fritz, "while you, dear Hans, Shall ring the bell to warn Each deaf old gentleman lest we Should ride on his pet corn."

They came unto a steep, steep hill, And quickly down they flew, But right before them was a sight Which nearly scared them blue.

A monstrous bull stood in the road, With red, expectant eye. "Oh dear!" cried Fritz. "Dear! me!" cried Hans, "Oh, how shall we get by?"

The bull put down his head until His two horns touched the ground, And toward him sped the carriage with A mighty bounce and bound.

And then occurred the strangest thing, As though upon a track The carriage wheels rolled up his horns

On to the bulls broad back! And down his stiff old tail they rode Unto the ground once more. The bull was so surprised that he Could only stand and roar.

Just then they struck a sleeping dog, Who had no time to wake Before they flattened him right out As flat as any cake

"I'm sad to think we killed that pup!" Cried Hans, most tearfully, But Fritz replied, "Just think instead How glad the cats will be!"

Then came a great catastrophe— In other words, a smash, The carriage ran into a wall And then, ker plunk, ker splash!

The two were sent a-flying o'er The wall into a brook That soaked them through and through and then How funny they did look!

And how the little trout did squirm When Frits said, with a grin, "Dear fish, we thought you'd be at home, And so we just dropped in!"

The War in the Playroom.

"I am a soldier," said Walter, and he marched up and down in the playroom with his gun over his shoulder.

"And I," said Alice, "am a sailor and live in a ship." Then Alice climbed up in the big, tall basket and made it rock so that it went toward the stool, where her big doll, Julia, was sitting.

"Watch out!" she said to Julia. "You are the Spaniards, and I am going to shoot big cannons at you." Then Alice began to growl deep down in her throat, to sound like the noise of a cannon, but, Julia never blinked her eyes or looked scared a bit.

"Watch out!" said Walter. "I'm going to cut your head off with my sword."

Then the fighting became louder and louder, and Walter and Alice came closer and closer to poor Julia, till at last Walter got too close and did an awful thing. He never meant to do it, but he gave one great cut with his little wooden sword, and off came poor Julia's pretty head, flying right into Alice's lap.

"Oh, my poor dolly!" cried Alice. "We didn't go to hurt you," and she kissed the broken head, while Harry stood red and sorry beside her.

Then mamma came up to see what was the matter, and she took the poor dolly's head and looked at it. "There, there," said mamma, "I wouldn't cry any more. I can mend Julia so she will never know she was hurt."

And of course if mamma said she could do it they knew it was all right and went down to supper. And sure enough, the next day they had Julia back again, with her head on her shoulders and smiling away as if nothing had ever been the matter.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Thoughtful Grasshopper.

Professor M. Victor Goodrich tells this story: Last summer, in our yard at Rock Falls, Ill., two grasshoppers became entangled in a web. A third grasshopper near by climbed slowly to the web and with admirable judgment freed the hind legs of one grasshopper and then the other, in which he was aided by the entangled insect. Having freed it, he returned to his place, and, after resting, he went back and loosened the other, and the three sped off. Mr. Goodrich observes something closely approaching reason" is not solely the property of animals.

Dr. A. W. CHASE Triumphs over the Worst Forms of KIDNEY... DISEASE

The wonderful success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills adds to the fame of the great doctor whose name is familiar in almost every home as the author of the world famous Recipe Book.

Scores and thousands of grateful men and women have been rescued from the miseries and dangers of kidney disease by this greatest of all kidney cures.

Mr. D. C. Simmons, Mabee, Ont., writes: "My kidneys and back were so bad I was unable to work or sleep. My urine had sediment like brick dust, I was compelled to get up four or five times during the night. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and concluded to give them a trial. I have only used one box and am completely cured. I was a great sufferer for 13 years, but my kidneys do not bother me now. I enjoy good rest and sleep and consider Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a boon to suffering humanity."

"I did," he says, "and got better from the time I started to take them. I am sincere in saying that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me, for which I cannot be too thankful."

In a letter dated June 19, 1899, Mr. Hauss answers an enquiry as to his cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills as follows: "I am pleased to say I am cured entirely through taking Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Yours truly, ANDREW HAUSS.
