18,881 Inoculations Given Adults In Island's Clinics

Since the inauguration of the program a total of 18,881 inoculations have been given to Island residents over 18 years of age in the 122 clinics held in various sections of the province.

This information was disclosed in the medical report of the adult polio program presented last night at the 10th annual meeting of the Prince Edward Island chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Polio-myelitis and Rehabilitation, held in the Charlottetown Hotel.

Compiled by Dr. Tudor Gencheff, chairman of the medical advisory committee, the report, in his absence was read by J. Lincoln Dewar, president of the P.E.I. Chapter.

In the report Dr. Gencheff urged every resident on the Island to get vaccinated against poliomyelitis. "This is no longer an infantile disease but can affect any group. The pattern has changed during recent years and statistics show that the most vulnerable are those in the adolescent stage and those between the ages of 20 and 40 years, although there are cases over 40 years recorded."

He noted that according to statistics compiled by the Ontario department of health on a controlled test group of 1,800,000 vaccinated and non-vaccinated persons under 18 years, in 1956, there were five cases of paralytic polio developed among a total of 1,840,000 who received two or more inoculations and of 960,000 who were not vaccinated. 71 cases were reported. In 1957, 17 paralytic cases were reported out of a total of 1,800,000 children vaccinated while there were 21 cases reported among 300,000 not vaccinated. This, he noted, was a ratio of seven to one in favor of the vaccinated group.

The meeting, which took the form of a dinner meeting was chaired by Mr. Dewar. Grace was said by Harvey Campbell.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Douglas H. Etter, of Fredericton, N.B. who is the president of the National Foundation of Polio-myelitis and Rehabilitation.

Mr. Etter gave a brief analysis of the object and program of the foundation.

"Rehabilitation in all its phases—the ultimate restoration of handicapped persons to useful living—is the foundation of our programming.

"Those physically handicapped at an early age will need years of care, training, education and guidance. Those of adult age who are stricken and their numbers are increasing yearly, pose even a greater problem, because they require not only physical rehabilitation, but also psychological adjustment, as well as re-training and economic aid", he said.

Seated at the head table were Mrs. Fred Gates, Mrs. Helen Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. Dewar, Judge St. Clair Trainor and Mrs. Trainor.

New Icebreaker Ship Is Launched

MONTREAL (CP)—The 1,050-ton Wolfe splashed into the St. Lawrence River Thursday to become the latest addition to the transport department's icebreaker fleet.

The vessel was sent down the ways of Canadian Vickers Limited with a rap from the traditional champagne bottle by Mrs. George Hees, wife of the transport minister.

The 220-foot vessel, designed for work in shallow waters out of St. John's, Nfld., is named for General James Wolfe, who won the battle of the Plains of Abraham in 1759.

She is a sister ship of the DOT's Montcalm, named for the French general who lost the battle that won Canada for Britain 200 years ago.

6,000-MILE RANGE

The ship, whose superstructure is still to be added, will have an approximate speed of 13 knots and a cruising range of 6,000 miles. She has a draft of 16 feet four inches.

Her twin screws will be propelled by two 2,000-horsepower steam engines.

For working in heavy ice, the Wolfe has shell plating 1 1/2 inches thick, closely spaced frames and a specially strengthened bow.

She has two cargo holds forward served by a derrick fitted to the mainmast and capable of handling 20 ton loads.

The aft deck is designed for a helicopter which will be used to scout ice fields. There is accommodation for 10 officers, seven petty officers, 22 crew members, four officials and eight passengers.

Built at a cost of $2,400,000 the Wolfe is one of a fleet of six icebreakers in the 3,000-4,000-horsepower class now being built.

Others, not yet ready for launching, are being built at west coast, Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River yards, other than Montreal.
