$8.00 Typewriter.

This is a well-made, practical machine, writing capitals, small letters, figures, and punctuation marks (71 in all) on full width paper, just like a $100 instrument. It is the first of its kind ever offered at a popular price for which the above claim can be truthfully made. It is not a toy, but a typewriter built for and capable of REAL WORK. While not as rapid as the large machines sometimes become in expert hands, it is still at least as rapid as the pen, and has the advantage of such simplicity that it can be understood and mastered almost at a glance. We cordially commend it to helpful parents and teachers everywhere.

Writes capitals, small letters, figures and marks—71 in all.
Writes just like a $100 machine.
No Shift Keys. No Ribbon. Prints from the type direct.
Prints on flat surface.
Writing always in sight.
Corrections and insertions easily made.
Takes any width of paper or envelope up to 8 1/2 inches.
Easy to understand—learned in 5 minutes.
Weights only four pounds—most portable.
Compact, takes up but little room.
Built solid and simple; can't get out of order.
Capital and lower case keyboard alike—easily mastered.
More "margin play" for the small letters which do most of the work.
Takes good letter-press copies.

Packed securely in handsome case and expressed to any address on receipt of price, $8.00, in registered letter, money order or certified check. We guarantee every machine, and are glad to answer all inquiries for further information as to this machine and also the "Yost."

THE FLAG.

AN INCIDENT OF STRAIN'S EXPEDITION.
I never have got the bearings quite, Though I've followed the course for many a year,
If he was crazy, clean outright, Or only what you might say was "queer."
He was just a simple sailor man,
I mind it as well as yesterday,
When we messed aboard the old
"Cyane,"
Lord! how the time does slip away!
That was five and thirty years ago, When ships was ships and men was men,
And sailors wasn't a Yankee to stow Themselves on a Frank vessel then.
He was only a sort of the-u's mate,
But every inch of him tant and trim;
Sings and anchors and logs of love, Tinkers don't build for the like of him.
He drew an account sort of name,
A regular "fo'c's'le" "Jim" or "Jack."
With a plain "McGinnis" about the same, G. ner'y reefed to simple "Mack."
Mack we allowed, was a better quater—Ballast or compass wasn't right, Till he licked four Juicers one day, a fear I prevailed that he hadn't learned to fight.
But I reckon the Captain knew his man, When he put the flag in his hand the day.
That we went ashore from the old
"Cyane."
On a madman's cruise for Darien Bay.
Forty days in the wilderness We toiled and suffered and starved with Strain,
Losing the number of many a mess
In the Devil's swamps of the Spanish Main.
All of us starved and many died.
One laid down, in his ill despair,
His stronger mate went to his side—
We left them both in the jungle there.
It was hard to part with shipmates so;
But standing by would have done no good.
We heard them moaning all day, so slow We dragged along through the weary wood.
McGinnis, he suffered the worst of it;
Not that he slept piped his eye,
Or wouldn't have answered to the call, If they'd sounded for "All hands to die." Guess't would have sounded for him before,
But the grit inside of him kept him strong.
I'll be well relieved on the river shore;
And we all broke down when it came along.
All but McGinnis. Gaunt and tall, Touching his hat, and standing square, "Captain, the flag," ... And that was all.
He just keeled over and fondered there,
"The flag?" We thought he had lost his head—
It might be much to lose at best—I'll be damned, he'd piped his eye, And we found it folded around his breast.
He laid so calm and smiling there,
With the flag wrapped tight around his heart.
Maybe he saw his course all day,
Only—see couldn't read the chart.
—James Jeffrey Roche.

FERMENTATIVE DYSPEPSIA.

In nearly every case of functional dyspepsia that has come under my observation within the last ten months, I have begun the treatment by giving five grains of bismuth subgallate, either before or after each meal. In some cases it seems to act more favorably when given before meals, and in others its action is better if taken after eating. In studying my records and memoranda of cases, I find that the treatment by salicin has often been unsuccessful. The proportion of successful cases was about 25 per cent., but in some cases the effects of this remedy given alone have been remarkable.
I have full records of one case of severe dyspepsia of ten years' standing that was completely relieved in a week without any return, now for more than a year.
The bismuth subgallate, however, is almost a specific cure of purely functional dyspepsia with flatulence.—Dr. Austin Flint, N. Y. Medical Journal.

THE GREAT WALL OF CHINA.

It would seem from the account of this extraordinary work that there was a time when the Chinese possessed a most remarkable persistence and were masters of what is even now one of the greatest wonders in existence.
This great wall was recently measured by Mr. Unthank, an American engineer engaged on a survey for a Chinese railway. His measurement gave the height eighteen feet. Every few hundred yards there are towers twenty-five feet high.
The foundation of the wall is of solid granite. Mr. Unthank brought with him a brick from the wall, which is supposed to have been made 200 years B. C. In building this immense stone fence to keep out the Tartars, the builders never attempted to avoid mountains or chasms to save labor or expense. For 1,300 miles the wall goes over plains and mountains, and every foot of the foundation is of solid granite, and in the rest of the structure solid masonry. The most of the wall is built of brick, and there is a bank or excavation on either side there is a sheer descent of 1,000 feet.

RUSSIA AND HER POPULATION.

Attention has lately been called to the fact that the recent official estimate of Russia's population places the total at the enormous sum of 124,000,000. This is almost double the population of the United States, and more than double that of any one of the other so-called "great powers" of Europe. According to the census of 1890 the German Empire, the most populous of European countries after Russia, contained some 40,000,000 inhabitants, and the growth of the Muscovite Empire is as marvellous as its proportions are stupendous. At the beginning of the present century the number of inhabitants was approximately 38,000,000. In fifty years it had risen to 68,000,000. It has more than doubled since the year 1840. The Czar rules over more people by the sum total of Great Britain's inhabitants than he did at the period of the Russo-Turkish war barely sixteen years ago. Some of this increase is due to annexation and conquest, but not so much as many people will imagine.
The recent acquisition of territory has been mostly in Central Asia. The total population of the Czar's Asiatic dominions is about 20,000,000, and a considerable share of Asiatic Russia has belonged to the empire for a great while. When we consider that vast portions of the Muscovite population consist of people who yet retain some elements of barbarism, and that love of war is one of their chief characteristics, it will not seem surprising that some European statesmen are appalled by the preponderance of this fiery despotism, and that some ill-balanced minds are completely unhinged by the ominous shadow.

DEAFNESS CAUSED BY CATARRH.

Capt. S. F. Belyea, of Greenwiche, King's Co., N. B., suffered from an aggravated form of catarrh which had in his case induced serious deafness, closely the nasal catarrh of the throat, and he did not He tried many remedies, but all failed until he got Hawker's Catarrh Cure, three 25 cent packages of which effected a cure.
He can honestly say, says Capt. Belyea,
"that I am practically well, and I feel a great pleasure in recommending Hawker's Catarrh Cure to those who may be suffering from this very troublesome disease."

QUEER HAPPENINGS IN A HURRI- CANE.

A story comes by mail from the far east and tells one more of the wonderful things which happen to those who have their homes on the great waters. The story concerns the big four-masted iron ship Lupara. She sails from Glasgow, and recently made a voyage from Sharpness to Sydney, New South Wales. While sailing along between the Cape of Good Hope and Australia the ship ran into a hurricane, or was overtaken by one, about midnight.
Suddenly the sea, which had been dangerously high, became calm, and to those on the ship it seemed as if the surface of the ocean had been subjected to an enormous pressure, by which the waves were stilled. Without warning, the men were almost blinded by a sheet of flame, which enveloped the ship from stem to stern, and reached half-way up the masts. The wave of flame surged back and forth, fore and aft, for a few seconds, and was then snuffed out as suddenly as it appeared, leaving captain and crew groping about in intense darkness. The blinding glare was extremely painful to the eyes, but caused no damage either to the men or to the ship. Captain Witt said it was his first experience of the kind, and he hoped it would be the last.—New York Tribune.
