That Body Of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Physicians report that notwithstanding our advanced knowledge of sanitation there are still a great many cases of pinworm throughout the United States and Canada.

I have written before of the regular treatment of pinworm in children's hospitals, which consists of putting two ounces of quassia chips in a quart of water, boiling it down to one pint, and using this pint of infusion for an enema.

Miss Alice Mary L. Bate Dr. Thomas A. Foster Wed

St. Paul's (Valley) Church was the scene of a wedding of wide interest on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Miss Alice Mary Longworth Bate, daughter of Venerable Archdeacon A. F. and Mrs. Bate of Saint John, became the wife of Dr. Thomas Ainslie Foster, son of Mr. T. A. and the late Mrs. Foster of New Glasgow, N.S.

The bride was met at the vestibule of the church by the best man, which proceeded her to the chancel singing the wedding hymn. Given in marriage by her brother George W. Bate the bride wore a gown of bluish pink satin, the fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline outlined with a fluting of the material...

The bride was attended by her sister Miss Margaret Anne Bate and by Miss Annette Murray as bridesmaids and by her niece little Miss Janet Bate as flower girl. Dr. F. C. Eaton was the groomsmen, and the ushers were Dr. C. A. Gordon and Dr. J. A. Myrden.

The bridesmaid's gowns were fashioned like of pale green nylon marquisette over a taffeta, trimmed with violet ribbon. Their half-hats were in bonnet style and were trimmed with violets. They carried Colonial bouquets of harmonizing sweetpeas. The flower-girl was wearing a long frock of yellow organdy over taffeta and a tiny bonnet of matching material. She carried a miniature nosegay of sweetpeas.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at St. Paul's Rectory. The toast to the bride was proposed by H. L. Crocker of Rousesay, uncle of the bride, and the groom responded fittingly, and proposed a toast to the bride's attendants, to which Dr. Eaton responded.

Later Dr. and Mrs. Foster left on their wedding trip to points of interest in the Eastern States and on their return will reside in Halifax. The bride traveled in a powder blue suit and navy and white accessories. The bride is a graduate of the Victoria Hospital School of Nursing in Halifax, and the groom is a graduate in Medicine from Dalhousie University.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included: T. A. Foster and Miss Jean Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sutherland, and Miss June Mosher, New Glasgow, N. S., Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Forbes, Miss Shirley Forbes and Clyde Teasdale all of Dartmouth, N. S., Miss Margaret Penney, Bridgewater, N. S., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nicholson, St. Stephen, Miss Margaret Wilkinson, and Harold Eate, Fredericton, and Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Gordon, Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Eaton, and Dr. J. A. Myrden, all of Halifax.

The Stars Say

By Genevieve Kemble

For Sunday, June 11

IT IS probable that there may be a tricky, baffling, even sinister condition to confront, and while it may cause uncertainty, dismay and doubt, yet a well-ordered, calm and self-possessed attitude would allay all fears and strain.

Those whose birthday it is, are urged to get at the root of certain obscure, menacing, perhaps malicious and inexplicable undertones interfering with stability and peace of mind and emotions.

Not only this, but a practical and shrewd analysis of underlying factors, with some fast work to "lay the ghost" of enmity, gossip, treachery, could attract the decisive support or intervention of some who are near and dear.

For the Birthday

The sincere sympathy of their many friends go out to Mrs. C. L. MacCallum and family in their recent sad bereavement.

The members of the Okto Club, Summerside, had a luncheon meeting at the Queen Hotel on Tuesday.

At the conclusion of the Pharmaceutical Convention in Summerside on Wednesday, an enjoyable dance was held at Leo Coyne's Restaurant with music furnished by Lowell Huestis' Orchestra.

On Thursday afternoon the delegates of the Maritime Conference of Catholic Nurses were guests of the St. Veronica Guild of the City Hospital, at a delightful tea in the nurses' residence. Table decorations consisted of silver candelabra with white and blue tapers, and a silver and crystal centerpiece with beautiful spring flowers.

Part of this price is personal liberty. When a man marries he is not free to come and go as he pleases, as a bachelor is. Nor is he free to philander, or even to indulge his personal tastes and habits. His money is no longer his own to spend upon himself, and unless he happens to be rich he cannot have the indulgence to which he has been accustomed as a single man.

Morning Smile

BRIEF

A few years ago a gentleman departing for Europe told his son, a senior in college that if the boy got his degree he would be rewarded by being permitted to join his father for a tour of the continent.

The student graduated with honors, and cabled his father the single word "Yes."

Unfortunately, the father had entirely forgotten his promise and, after puzzling over the message for awhile, cabled back: "Yes, what?"

Promptly came the reply, "Yes, sir."

ELLEN'S DIARY

Yes, purple lilacs are unfolding their petals, the first of this hue we have had at Alderlea. These are of the common variety to be found in gardens and yards country-over, filling their neighborhood with exquisite perfume, and providing first bouquets it may be, to be carried to the teacher, or at home to grace a mantel or table.

We recall after many years, during which incidents of supposedly greater account have faded and even disappeared from mind, the memory of small girls, now mothers and even grandmothers in their own right, shyly placing a spray of fragrant purple lilac on our school-desk.

McLellan - Pickard Wedding At Trinity United Church

Bouquets of apple blossoms arranged with white and mauve lilacs decorated the altar of Trinity United Church for the wedding on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock of Alfreda Jane Pickard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alfred Pickard of this city, and Loran Johnstone McLellan son of Mr. and Mrs. Newman A. McLellan of Charlottetown, formerly of Saint John, N. B. Reverend H. E. D. Ashford officiated at the ceremony. The wedding music was played by Dr. Harry Dunlop of St. John, N. B. and "At Dawning" was sung by Mrs. Ralph Beck of Montague, while the bridal party signed the church register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Eileen Burke. The groomsmen were Mr. Earl Taylor and the ushers, Dr. Eric Found, S-Sgt. J. T. Lines, Mr. Murray Smith, St. John, and Mr. Ralph Beck, Montague. A white taffeta gown, appliqued with patterned lace was chosen by Miss Pickard for her wedding. Fine lace outlined the portrait neckline and fitted bodice, and extended over the bouffant skirt of the bridal gown. She wore a fingertip veil and headdress of white tulle and carried a bouquet of Peerless roses and lily of the valley.

over taffeta with matching head-dress. Her flowers were pink carnations. The wedding reception was held at "Oakwood" where sprays of honeysuckle and lilacs were placed in the reception and dining rooms. Receiving with the bride party, Mrs. Pickard wore a jacket dress of powder blue and celise. Pale pink carnations were worn on her grey handbags, while her furs were silver-blue mink. Mrs. McLellan was wearing a light blue dress with navy redingote and corsage of pink carnations.

The traditional three tier wedding cake centred the bride's table with yellow roses and ivy circling the centerpiece and silver candelabra which held lighted ivory tapers. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. McLellan left on a trip to Boston, The White Mountains and Toronto, the bride wearing a dark brown linen suit with white accessories and cluster of yellow rosebuds.

Cleaning Tinware To clean tinware, make a paste of powdered whiting and ammonia, olive oil or sweet oil. Dip a rag into this solution and rub the tin thoroughly. When dry, polish with a soft cloth.

The Bread Board Rub some lemon juice well into the bread board periodically. This absorbs all grease and dirt, and whitens the wood beautifully.

Hard Water Hard water can be softened with borax, lemon juice, or an oatmeal bag.

Modern Etiquette
