SUBURBANITE MEMORY.

Employed by Wives to Remind Husbands of Errands.

"Talking of memory systems," said the suburbanite on the accommodation... "I can't for the life of me see a man who is unable to remember... thing is helped by having to remember two. If I tie a string around my finger, I must recall the purpose of wearing it, which I never can do. If I always think of rain when I want to carry an umbrella, I have double trouble. Now, my wife wanted me to remember something today, and she gave me a word to say over to myself, and I forgot the word."

"Pooh! It's easy enough to remember things if you give your mind to it," said another suburbanite. "My wife told me to be sure to order something for the mischief was it? Soap? Well, that's funny. I thought I would be sure to remember."

He plunged his hands into his overcoat pockets to cover his chagrin and pulled out of one a rough bit of scented soap with a memorandum in lead pencil attached.

"Well, I vow! My wife must have stuck that thing in there. Oh, yes, I was a load of kindling she wanted me to order. But one could hardly be expected to remember a thing like that."

"I wish I could find a reminder of what I am to get as easy as you did, but my wife doesn't believe in giving a sample to help out a poor memory. Hello, old fellow, how's that?"

He had pulled a little rubber shoe out of his pocket and was regarding it with loving eyes.

"Sammy's overshoe, by all that's good! And here's something inside. Length, five inches. Bless his little heart, I'd have forgot all about them if it hadn't been for this memory lesson. There's something in the system after all."—Chicago Times-Herald.

A woman's headaches may come from several causes. She may have a headache arising from nervousness, or from digestive disturbances. Nine cases in ten, her headaches come from disorders peculiar to the sex. It may show itself in the symptoms which are characteristic of a dozen disorders. Thousands of times, women have been treated for the wrong disorders. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was compounded for the sole purpose of relieving womankind of these ills and pains. Thousands of women have testified that after taking treatment from several physicians without benefit, the "Favorite Prescription" cured them completely and quickly. It has been used for over thirty years, and has an unbroken record of success.

The woman who hesitates is invited to send 31 one-cent stamps to cover only the cost of mailing a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which contains plain, clear information about all the organs of the human body and their functions.

Colonel Kit Chinn.

A St. Louis footpad attempted to hold up Colonel Kit Chinn of Kentucky one night recently, and the aforesaid footpad hasn't done anything since. If there is a man on earth whom footpads should shun as a temperate man shuns a blind tiger, that man is Kit Chinn. He is a born fighter, and his favorite weapons are the ones which the Creator endowed him with at his birth. He is one of the few men in Kentucky who hold the use of pistol or knife in contempt and is totally devoid of fear. He has fought a wildcat in the open with nothing but his bare knuckles and come out winner, and it is said that upon one occasion he offered to fight a rattlesnake and give him the first bite.—Glasgow (Ky.) News.

Time's Changes.

"Did you ever," asked the young husband, "have your wife look you in the eye when you came home and ask you if you had not forgotten something?"

"Many a time, me boy," answered the old married man. "She does yet. In the early days it used to mean a kiss; now it is usually a reference to wiping my shoes."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE HOUSE OF WISDOM.

[I had not thought—ah, God, had I but known!— That this sad hour should ever me befall When thou I judged the holiest of all Should come to be the thing I most disdawn. Was it not true, that April morn, thy blown Gold hair around my hair for coronal, Or is this truer—thou at the outer wall, Unroyal and with unrepentant moan?

Yet prize I now this wisdom I have won Who must always remember—nay, my tear Must close mine eyes, as thou wouldst hide thy face

(If some great meteor, kindred to the sun, Should haunt the undying stars ten million years To fall, some noon, dead in thy market place. —Francis Sherman in Bookman.

THE LITTLE TITMOUSE.

One Free Bird That Attracts Attention Among Hundreds of Captives.

In a big bird store where there are hundreds of birds of many kinds incessantly squawking, chirping and singing there is one that is free—a tiny titmouse. The window is full of cages containing birds of various sorts, and one side of the store is lined with bird-cages stacked up high all along. But there is none that attracts so much attention as the little titmouse flitting about the store at will. At night it perches on a gas fixture in the window, and to that it comes back from its various excursions by day.

Customers that come in to buy birds and birdcages and bird seed and one thing and another never fail to notice the titmouse. They may not notice another bird there individually, but their attention is sure to be attracted by this one as it darts about, free among so many captives, and they are likely to smile at it, they are so pleased with it. And sometimes children, looking in at the windows of the bird store, come in to tell the clerk that one of the birds has got loose.

When it has nothing else to do, the titmouse sits on its gas pipe perch and perks its head this way and that and looks about. Sometimes it whets its beak on the gas pipe. Every now and then it dashes off somewhere. If it wants a drink, it perches on the rim of a goldfish globe—for home aquariums and stock for them are sold here as well as birds—no doubt to the great surprise of the goldfishes and certainly to that of the human beholders, who wonder that it doesn't fall in, it has to bend over so far to reach the water. But it gets it, and when it has taken its fill it flashes back to its perch on the pipe in the window.

The titmouse catches spiders and other insects, and it feeds in the larger cages when it will. It goes in and out of them between the bars with perfect ease. It is a very little bird, even with its plumage in its natural form. With its feathers pressed against its sides it can get through a very narrow space—between the bars of a parrot's cage, for example—with ease. There are in the window a number of parrots' cages in a row. The titmouse almost flies through these cages, stopping in each perhaps to eat of the parrots' food, but they never molest it. Parrots that would bite at the finger of a man who should put his hand near enough to the outside of their cage stand back in fright or sheer amazement when the little titmouse dashes in and perches on their feed cup.—New York Sun.

SCROFULA in its worst form yields to the blood cleansing power of Hood's Sarsaparil. Thousands of cases have been perfectly CURED.
