A Warning.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Empire writes:

The people of Canada are too easily deceived by the glare, the hollow glittering of assumed prosperity in many parts of the United States. If these people who emigrate would only have a little more patience, patriotism and thought for the welfare of their children, they would be content to wait, even if times are somewhat bad in localities, until clouds now lowering temporarily had cleared away. We live not alone for ourselves, but for our families, for our children. I do not blame the burdened, beggared classes of European countries, such as Russia, some parts of Germany, Bohemia and Italy, and even some parts of Great Britain, emigrating to other countries, but for our well-to-do classes—that is, people who have small or large farms and at least a modicum of wealth and comforts, to leave Ontario or the Maritime Provinces and flee to new fields of labor, and peoples often ignorant Europeans who can't speak our language, it is the greatest of folly. Even if they do ultimately succeed in getting homes—perhaps no better than those they leave it takes a generation to do so and to understand the ways and laws of the new country.

The United States Potato Market.

Great Britain has sent to the United States since October 1st to date, the enormous quantity of 1,166,205 sacks of potatoes, while last season the receipts only amounted to 36,349 sacks, giving an increase of 1,130,856 sacks over last year. The bulk of the potatoes have come from Scotland, though England and Ireland have contributed their share; and in addition to above figures may be added 80,083 sacks from the continent, compared to 6,640 sacks last year. Bermuda and West Indies have furnished about the same as last season, 27,230 bbls. arriving, against 29,465 bbls. last year, but there has been a marked increase in the supply from Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. The total amount from these points for the season to date is 88,506 barrels and 211,476 bushels, with last year's figures, only 8,715 barrels and 216,940 bushels. The choice quality of most of the European potatoes have given them an excellent reputation, especially the variety called the Magnum, and the wide outlet and eager demand has made them easily saleable at profitable prices the entire season, except once or twice when the market staggered under enormous receipts. The Scotch Magnum is most in favor and generally commands from 5 to 15c. per sack more than the English or Irish Magnum. Some varieties of German potatoes have also become very popular. Latest advices from England show a perfect glut of potatoes. The railroads into London have every siding full of loaded cars which are being forced into cash at ruinously low prices. Even in the metropolis champions are being sold at 15s. per ton. While for the best Magnums 25s. to 40s. are all that can be got. These prices certainly will not leave much profit to the grower after paying carriage and commissions.

Irish Affairs in Chicago.

The letter of the Pope explaining the rescript on the Irish question has caused an unusual stir among the Irish citizens of Chicago. Ex-Congressman John F. Finerty, prominent as a protestor, said: "The rescript is an interference in Irish politics. If the Irish bishops of the 19th century had the backbone of the English bishops of the 13th century they could easily have brought Leo XIII. to terms. As it is, the fight falls on the people. The issue is made at last. For the last seven hundred years the Irish people have been suffering the tortures of the damned because of papal interference in Irish affairs. Next to England, Rome has been Ireland's greatest political enemy. And it is on questions of politics now alone, and not on matters of faith, that I am speaking. The Pope has no power to damn me or any other Catholic. His latest utterance is an outrage on Irish Catholic manhood and womanhood. The Pope of Rome, the head of the Catholic Church, is in all matters of religion supreme, but the Pope of Rome, an Italian Prince, with an Italian policy to carry out and at no matter what expense to the other Catholic people, is a fair subject for Irish criticism, and it is from this standpoint that I criticize him. I am a Catholic—but I am an Irishman and not an Italian, and I am not to be sacrificed for the needs of Italian diplomacy.

Some Thieves.

The New York Herald has published a list of embezzlements and defalcations by cashiers and other employes during the past ten years. The list contains the names of all defaulters whose stealings exceed $2,000, with the amount appropriated. The total defalcations for the ten years amount to the astonishing sum of $50,750,472.44, and the amount for the six months of 1888 is $2,240,000. The stealing of 1887 came to $4,456,468. The great year for defaulters was 1884, the season of Mr. Ward and his co-adjutors, the total losses that year being over $22,000,000. The largest operators for this year are Charles A. Pitcher, late teller of the Union Bank of Providence, who is now in Canada, while his bank misses $818,000; C. J. DeBaum, cashier of the Park Bank, New York, whose defalcations amount to $95,000; the cashier and book keeper of the First National Bank of Auburn, N. Y., who have taken $180,000 and are in Canada; James Tate, state treasurer of Kentucky, $405,000; the treasurer of the Williamantic, Con., savings bank, $150,000; officials of the State National Bank of Raleigh, N. C., who, with their booty, $200,000, are now in Canada, and a banking firm of Newburg, N. Y., who are defaulters in the sum of $100,000.

Reading between the lines, it is easy to see that the Summerside Journal regrets its wild, injudicious, uncalled-for and unjust attack upon the Lieut.-Governor of Nova Scotia. Further comment is therefore unnecessary. We shall merely say that its citation from THE EXAMINER of 1880 is irrelevant, because the acts criticised by THE EXAMINER of that day were gubernatorial acts—not acts which were done before the Lieutenant Governor of that day was appointed, while he was yet in the sphere of party politics. The Journal cannot take to its soul the flattering unction that its attack on the Lieut.-Governor of Nova Scotia is justified by the conduct of THE EXAMINER.

Another Elopement.

A MARRIED MAN RUNS AWAY FROM HALIFAX WITH ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE.

LAST summer a man by the name of John Pierson arrived from Charlottetown with his wife and two children, and took a house on Tower road, near Morris street. Shortly after settling in their new home, Mrs. Pierson called on a Mrs. Brown, a neighbor living on Morris street, who is the mother of two children. After this the two families became very intimate. Mrs. Pierson called frequently at the Browns. One day Mrs. Brown was told that her husband had been seen at the theatre and out driving with Mrs. Pierson, and she immediately asked him for an explanation. He pleaded innocence, and all went well for a few days, until a woman named Black informed Mrs. Brown that her husband and Mrs. Pierson had been again seen together in the park. She lectured her husband a second time, whereupon he left the house and has not been seen by her since. It is said that Brown and Mrs. Pierson left the city about the same time for the land of the free.—Halifax Herald.

[Who is John Pierson, anyway? He probably does not belong to Charlottetown]

Jay Gould is a good deal worn out. Now that nature has begun to yield somewhat, the tendency to hypochondra has increased. He cannot get rid of his diseased nerves, and he cannot sleep at night. A doctor spends the night in his house constantly. A Wall street man who knows a good deal about Mr. Gould's affairs said that, in his judgment, the ex-king of the street is liable to become either insane or a confirmed invalid.

We regret to hear of the departure from our midst of the Rev. Mother St. Angelina, for over twenty years Superior of St. Joseph's Convent in this city. During this period the rev. lady has done much for the Catholic youth of the city, and her career of usefulness has extended to many of the country parts of the Island. Her self-abnegation and her desire to do good to others seemed to be the sole aims of her life. St. Joseph's Sodality, a society of young ladies which she organized in her early years on the Island, and which comprises nearly five hundred members, shall certainly miss her good advice and kindly aid. It is useless on our part to undertake to enumerate the good deeds done by this good lady; they will never be known until the reading of the last accounts when every one shall be rendered. The rev. lady takes her departure on Friday morning to Villa Marie, Montreal, the Mother House of the congregation.

Rest Cometh After All.

Beyond the toil, the burdens of the day,
Beyond the tempest and the storms of life;
Far from the tumult of the weary way,
Beyond the longings and the ceaseless strife;
Out of the darkness and the gloom of night,
Beyond the hills where shadows never fall,
And far beyond the range of mortal sight,
Rest cometh after all.

After the fever and the restless pain,
After the waiting and the weary years;
After the conflict and the lots and gain,
After the sorrow and the useless tears;
Far, far beyond the lofty heights of Fame;
Beyond the hills where shadows never fall;
Beyond the fear of censure and of blame,
Rest cometh after all.

A Much-Married Woman.

THE CHAMPION FEMALE BIGAMIST OF THE UNITED STATES TURNS UP.

The champion heart-breaker and female bigamist of the United States has been traced to Wilkesbarre, Pa. Her name is Marthina Hart. She is aged 31 years, and it is said has no fewer than eleven living husbands. Her home is somewhere in the west, and for many years past she has traveled from state to state selling books. While not good-looking, strictly speaking, Miss Hart has a fascinating manner, which makes her quite a successful saleswoman. But her greatest success is in capturing the hearts of the opposite sex. As she came in contact with men every day her circle of acquaintances was very large. She had no use for old men, however, for the young men with plenty of money found most favor in her eyes.

After she had found the man of her choice she wanted to know if he meant business, and if he did an early marriage was proposed. If he did not mean business he had to make way for some other visitor who had more push. Directly after marriage Miss Hart would ask her husband for a couple of hundred dollars, saying her mother was sick and needed the money at once. Of course the newly-made husband could not refuse the request and the cash was forthcoming every time. This would be the last seen of the cash or the bride.

In this way she deluded and victimized many men. A man named John Evans has arrived in Wilkesbarre looking for the woman. He says he met her about six weeks ago, and was so smitten with her charms that he proposed and she accepted him. They had not been married two days before she asked him for the loan of some money to send to her sick mother. He gave her $350, and this was the last seen of her. She also forged his name for a considerable amount. Another husband named N. M. Phineo, from the western part of the state, has arrived. He, too, gave the woman $200 to send home, but never saw anything of her after he gave her the cash. Phineo has since learned that there are several other men who married the woman now looking for her, and their money.
