

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WOTTON
Double Ring Ceremony Is Held At Trinity United

Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, was the setting for a double ring ceremony when Rev. John G. E. Ball united in marriage Lois Marilyn, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wakelin, Charlottetown, and George Frederick Wotton of Dartmouth, N. S. son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wotton, Charlottetown.

The organist, J.B. Herdman accompanied Mrs. Gordon Peterson as she sang "Now Thank We All Our God" prior to the ceremony and "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register. Baskets of gladioli decorated the Church and guest pews were marked with white satin bows and white ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white organza, highlighted by a French, chantilly lace floor length coat with long lily point sleeves and a stand up organza collar. The gown was fashioned with empire waistline and scooped neckline with a bodice of French lace and seed pearls. A turban head piece of organza roses with lily points held her silk illusion bridal veil. She wore cultural pearl earrings, a gift of the groom, and carried a cascade of gladioli centered with pink sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Steven MacLean was a matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Brenda Wakelin and Mrs. Gordon Vessey, sister and cousin of the bride. Valerie Wakelin, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Donna Marie Doyle was flower girl.

The bridesmaids and matron of honor wore identical floor length gowns of brocaded pink taffeta fashioned with empire waist line, sheath skirts, and elbow length sleeves. Their head pieces were bows of matching material and net and they carried nosegays of pink and white carnations.

The junior bridesmaid and flower girl were dressed alike in floor length gowns of rose pearl de soie, trimmed with French lace. Their headpieces were bows of matching material edged with lace. The junior bridesmaid carried a miniature nosegay of white and rose carnations and the flower girl carried a miniature basket of white and rose carnations edged with mixed flowers.

The groom was attended by Roger Gallant. Ushers were Steve MacLean, Ralph Wotton and Alfred Wakelin, brothers of bride and groom.

Mrs. Wakelin chose for her daughter's wedding a powder blue sheath dress of chantilly lace with matching three quarter length coat and matching shoes and hat. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Wotton, mother of the groom, wore a cranberry dress with matching hat and shoes, and brown mink stole, and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Trinity social hall where Myrna Lea was in charge of the guest book.

Steve MacLean acted the best man, Roger Gallant read the congratulatory telegrams and proposed a toast to the bride.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Wotton left on a honeymoon trip to Cape Breton. For travelling the bride wore a baby blue two piece suit and a white clipped feathered hat with matching white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Out of province guests included Mr. and Mrs. George Clark, Dartmouth, N. S.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM LANK
A September Wedding Is Held At Cornwall Church

A wedding ceremony was solemnized on September 3rd, at Cornwall United Church when Miriam Sarah daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hyde, Meadow Bank, was united in marriage to William Windsor Lank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lank, West Royalty. The church was decorated with baskets of cut flowers and the guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

Rev. Clayton R. Lewis officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Walter Gregor was organist and accompanied Mrs. Ian MacLeod who sang "O Perfect Love" prior to the ceremony and the "Wedding Hymn" during the signing of the register.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a floor length gown of candlelight French duchu satin pea de soie which she had designed and made. It featured an A-line skirt with an empire waistline accented with Belgian lace and a scooped neckline, and short sleeves also trimmed with Belgian lace. A detachable cathedral length train trimmed with the lace fell from the waistline. Her bridal veil of tiered silk illusion was held by a bow of the same material as her gown, trimmed with lilies of the valley. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink sweetheart roses, feathered mums and ivy and wore a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor was Eleanor Hyde, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Ella MacLeod, and Mrs. Eric Bent. They wore identical, floor length gowns of candy crepe featuring A-line skirt, short sleeves and empire waistlines trimmed with selfbows. Their headpieces were matching bows with short tiered veils. They carried cascade bouquets of deep rose-sweetheart roses, feathered mums and fern.

The best man was Bruce MacKinley and the ushers were Charles Lank, brother of the groom and Gerald Murray.

Mrs. Hyde chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece dress of emerald green silk boucle trimmed with matching lace and beige and green accessories. Her corsage was of yellow sweetheart roses. Mrs. Lank, mother of the groom, wore a black velvet dress trimmed with white lace and black and white accessories. Her corsage was of pale pink and deep rose sweetheart roses.

The reception following the ceremony was held in Cornwall Christian Education Centre. Mrs. Richard Farmer was in charge of the guest book.

For a honeymoon trip to Cape Breton and the Cabot Trail the bride wore a cranberry suit with navy accessories. Her corsage was of white sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lank have taken up residence in West Royalty.

Out of province guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon MacMillan, Moncton, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bent, Truro, Carolyn Thompson Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sutherland, Montreal; Mr. S. Roger Worth and Kim; Woodstock, N. B. (Photo by R. B. Hambly)

ELLEN'S DIARY
Thanksgiving Especially Meaningful To Farmers

The year moves on up the sunset trail to the west. Where, not long ago, the adlers and goldenrods blossomed prettily down by the brookside, seeds drift by on the bit of breeze which keeps a little there among the ripened reeds and the cattails. Sometimes rime of frost covers crisply the near meadow at sun-up. Then, in the sunshine, Autumn continues painting with understanding eye and inimitable brushes the landscape faultlessly, in bright colorful spots against the tawny tints of the pastures, and amid the dark of the woodlands' greens. And as one says of the season, "Every weed is touched with beauty every bush a-flame."

In the barns of the farmsteads in loft and mow, are stored the gifts of the fields, held down by the sunbeams, that shortened now by the fullness-gathered, steals in at high gable windows. Granaries-but was there ever before better return from the seedtime, which in the turn of the months has given the increase - the riches of the harvest-home? And now, when last harvestings have been saved, comes the Thanksgiving Season. . . We think that of all the special days and seasons, and there are many, all significant and meaningful, it is that of the Thanksgiving which belongs particularly to farm-folks. It is they who can realize best its meaning, because they are those whose livelihood comes from the soil. They work with winds and weathers. They cultivate, and sow, and plant. They hope in the seedtime, and later experience the joys of the harvest.

"Let us now give thanks!" the pioneering forebears said, that long-gone autumn, when they came to their first harvest-home. So shall we do as they, returning thanks not only for the corn and potatoes and pumpkins but as well, for the freedom to plan, and work, and harvest as we will, in the life and living we enjoy. . . How warm to our footsteps is the bit of soil we call our own! What a castle is our home, be it small or great-or an old, old farmhouse, with a sandstone doorstep, where one may sit, toward a summery day's close, and watch the dusky shadows fall into the cup of valley. To hear the robins' springing and the frogs' wistful tunes; to smell the lilacs' scent and the roses'. To see a wishing star light above the old mill. But what could one wish for, who has so much that is good? Not an added gift surely! Just to give thanks every day and especially at Thanksgiving, for every favor given. "blessing de Lawd" the Giver, because ours is a fair and good land, ours a good life. . . One-a dear friend has sent us the verses of Margaret E. Sangster's "Gratitude", we would at this season share:

"I thank Thee for these gifts, dear Lord,
 Upon Thanksgiving Day. . .
 For love and laughter, and the faith
 That makes me kneel to pray.
 For life that lends me happiness
 And sleep that gives me rest. . .
 These are the gifts that keep my heart
 Serene within my breast.
 Love, laughter, faith, and life
 And sleep, every one. . .
 They carry us along the road,
 That leads from sun to sun."
 Until Tuesday - Diary - - -
 Good-night. . .

HAPPENINGS

Mrs. John Myers (nee Carol Howatt of Tryon) whose marriage took place recently, has been entertained at several pleasant events: Prior to her marriage a shower was held by the staff of the Royal Bank, Summerside, where Mrs. Myers was a valued employee at the home of Mrs. Graham Linkletter.

Mr. and Mrs. David Best entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Myers at a surprise party at their home in Tryon.

Following the rehearsal for the Myers-Howatt wedding, the wedding party was entertained at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Myers in Crapaud. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Sheila Myers, Mrs. Russell Lea and Mrs. Frank Myers.

A community miscellaneous shower was held for the bride at the Baptist Hall, Tryon, for which the Baptist Women's Auxiliary catered.

Dr. L. M. and Mrs. Callbeck, Summerside, recently entertained Mrs. E. W. Crawford and Mrs. Gordon Hitchcock, B. C. who visited the Island for a few days before attending the national CWUW convention in Saint John, N. B.

Summerside hostesses entertaining their bridge clubs this week were Mrs. John Cobb, and Mrs. Harold Crockett.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fiskerstrand, Montague, returned recently from a vacation trip to Seattle Wash., and Banff, Alta.

Joan Watkins, Montague and Helen Leck of Brazil who has been her guest for several weeks, returned recently from a trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls.

Eskimo Girl Goes To Beauty School In U.S.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) - Minnie Trader wants to be a beautician.

So do lots of other girls, but Minnie has a special problem: There aren't any beauty schools in Emagang; so she's going to one in Chicago, and that's where the Seattle orientation centre of the U.S. bureau of Indian affairs comes in.

Minnie, 25, who grew up in an Eskimo village on the Kuskokwim River in western Alaska, is one of about 750 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians from Alaska who have passed through the centre since it was founded three years ago.

Like the others, she is getting a helping hand from the government under a program designed to provide Alaska natives and Indians with jobs and training to keep them off welfare rolls.

NEVER RIDDEN BUS
 The Seattle centre, housed in seven miles of a motel, was established to ease the transition from village to city life for the Alaskans. Many of them have never ridden a bus, used a telephone, shopped in a supermarket or made a budget. On arrival here, they are given an allowance - $25 a week for single persons and a little more for families - and left to do their own budgeting. The bureau pays their rent.

Mrs. Jimmie Owens, a transplanted Texan who heads the centre, periodically gives them assignments which require them to take buses to designated locations, shop for specific items and report back by telephone. They also visit factories, libraries and other institutions.

Minnie Trader has had more exposure to the outside world than many of the villagers. She attended high school near Sitka, Alaska, for four years. After returning to Emagang she went to work for the teachers in a native school at nearby Napasikak.

What will she do when she completes her training?
 "I guess I'll go back home and go to work - maybe in Bethel." Bethel, the largest community in the Kuskokwim basin, had a population of about 1,200 in the last census.

Piusville Couple Celebrate 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Corcoran, Piusville, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary recently at their home. Six of their family of 10 were present for the occasion. They were, namely: Hazel (Mrs. Desmond Gallant, Duvar, Norma (Mrs. Roger Bulger), Foxley River; Dale, Piusville, Winston, Rosebank; Aleitha, Charlottetown; Allyson, Piusville. Members unable to attend were Marie (Mrs.) William O'Brien Toronto, Ont.; Zeta (Mrs. Joseph Clarkin) Montreal P. Q.; Lorraine (Mrs. Garry Walker, Calgary, Alta.; Arlene (Mrs. Blair McCallan) Toronto, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Corcoran have 31 grandchildren.

An address was read to the couple, after they had been escorted to decorated seats of honor by their son Winston, and little Laura Lee Corcoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Corcoran presented her grandmother with a bouquet.

Presentations of gifts from the family and friends were then made, and Mr. Corcoran expressed the appreciation of his wife and himself for the gifts, and for honoring them on this occasion.

Refreshments were then served, followed by a program of musical selections. Arthur Gallant, Boston, a visitor to Rossville, played the violin; Fred Fitzgerald, Tignish, and Mrs. Charles Gallant, Piusville, were pianists; Ralph Hardy, Summerside, the mandolin; and Steve Clements, the electric guitar. Singing were Erma and Gloria Gallant, Edward Fitzgerald, and Terrance Arsenault, Tignish, and Mrs. Winston Corcoran.

White Batizi Nuptials Held At Alberton

A double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. S. MacBride, in the Presbyterian Church, Summerside, October 3, at 2 p. m. when Anna Batizi and Gordon White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. White Alberton were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Andrew Halupa, wore a white lace floor length gown with long sleeves, veil and crown and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Mrs. Clair Matthews, wearing blue lily life accessories. Clair Matthews was the best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the groom's home, "Riverhurst", Alberton. Mrs. G. G. Bennett poured tea and Mrs. Stan (Dr.) Helmich cut the ices. Rev. A. Murray, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Alberton, asked a blessing on the happy occasion.

Mr. White is a business man of Alberton and Cascumpee and his European bride came by plane from Budapest to Halifax less than a year ago. Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. White left on a motor trip to the U. S. A. and will return by way of Niagara Falls.

MARY HAWORTH
Girl Says Her Mother Is Driving Her Crazy

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Next Spring I will be 16 and my parents say that if I have earned the money by then, I may go to Central America.

A former classmate of mine is there and she has asked me to visit her. I would love to go. It would be my first time away from home and family, but I look forward to it.

My problem is: I don't know how much it would cost, or what kind of job a girl of 15-16 could get meanwhile. Already I am saving my 50c daily lunch money allowance. Please advise me.

DEAR L. S.: Get details on transportation costs from a travel agency. Or you might do comparison shopping for bargain rates by checking two or more travel agencies. See the "back of the book" commercial listings in the telephone directory for agency addresses.

Out-of-season excursion rates so-called, might be available. The costs of the sojourn you contemplate would depend upon the style in which you travel. A first class tourist class or budget class, plus the length of your stay. You should have some cash in pocket on arrival, above and beyond your round-trip travel tickets, wherewith to meet incidental, unforeseen necessities.

As for how to finance the journey by your own efforts, I doubt that you can. Legitimate earning opportunities for a school girl of 15-16 are limited.

However, here are try-out ideas: 1. Systematic baby-sitting or mother's helper work, late afternoons and on weekends as a routine round, perhaps divided between two or three regular employers, for the winter. A classified placed in the neighborhood weekly newspaper (if any) might lead to a full schedule of such employment.

2. Late afternoon and or Saturday apprentice work in one of the department stores or retail shops in your town, as bundle wrapper, errand girl or the like, if you are qualified, a ge-wise, and have your parents' consent.

3. Possibly your room teacher or the principal of your school would take your aspirations under advisement if you appeal to them for guidance, and give you first-hand continuing coaching help in working to-

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To remove paint, use turpentine, paint thinner, or gasoline. To remove lacquer, shellac or varnish, apply denatured alcohol.

Paint a spring-type clothespin a pretty color and nail it near the front door to hold store lists and memos.

When a bottom-type contour sheet wears thin in the center, stitch a flat mattress pad to it to make a stay-put contoured mattress pad.

To wash rice thoroughly and easily, place in a large bowl with plenty of water and beat with an egg beater. When drained, it's ready to cook.

You can remove starch residue from electric irons with rubbing alcohol. Let the iron cool, scrub off the starch, wipe with a damp cloth and let dry before using.

New use for your paint roller: Use it to apply sudsy water to your walls and ceilings. Rinse with a sponge dipped in clean water.

BORDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Lavie and family of Souris were recent guests of Mrs. Lavie's aunts, Mrs. Clinton Howatt and Mrs. Joseph Kelly.

One of our esteemed citizens in the person of Mr. Colin Love, passed away. He will be greatly missed here as he was a favorite not only of his fellow workers on the ferries, but was also a good friend and neighbor. The heartfelt sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Love and family.

MR. AND MRS. GLEN FERGUSON WED IN CALGARY

The wedding of Joan Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mountain of Summerside, P. E. I., and Glen Ian Ferguson, Calgary, son of Mrs. John Ferguson and the late Mr. Ferguson of Anonmore, Ont., was held recently in St. Giles Presbyterian Church, Calgary, Alta. Rev. H. L. Simpson performed the ceremony. A wedding reception was held in the Balmoral room of the Highlander Motel following which Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left on a honeymoon to the Pacific Coast. They are residing at 1703 - 20 Ave., N. W., Calgary, Alta.

CENTENNIAL COMMISSION GRANTS TO CANADIAN AUTHORS

Prizes awarded to authors of essays, short stories, poems and children's books

The Centennial Commission announces a programme of grants to Canadian authors designed to encourage the publication of Canadian works to coincide with the Centennial of Confederation. THREE PRIZES are offered in each category. Three English works and three French works will be selected.

1st prize:	$1250
2nd prize:	$ 750
3rd prize:	$ 500

In the case of children's books, there will be two series of three prizes ($1250, $750 and $500). The first for children's books written for ages eight years and under, and the second for works applicable to ages eight to twelve years. The first prize in each of the two categories will be supplemented by an additional grant of $2500 to allow for publication, translation and illustration. In addition, the Centennial Commission will award honourable mentions for outstanding works.

- Candidates must be Canadian or have resided in Canada since 1962.
- The subject chosen should be one of particular interest to Canadian readers.
- The manuscript must be an original and should not have been published before.
- The copyright on winning entries is reserved by the Centennial Commission throughout 1967. After Centennial year, the copyright reverts to the authors. The Centennial Commission is unable to return any copies of manuscripts submitted.
- All entries must be submitted by December 1, 1966.

Information and application forms in connection with this programme are available at the following address:
