This morning Mr. McLaren, Q. C., representing a number of creditors, made application before the Hon. Mr. Justice Tordance for an order to examine Messrs. C. J. Brydges, F. E. Gilman, and J. H. Menzies, before a Judge on matters connected with the Mechanics' Bank Insolvency. His Honor granted the petition and an order was issued. READING, Pa. Nov. 13.

The Knights of Labour have been recently sending emissaries among the miners and iron workers all over the State, urging a strike for next Monday. Many of the principal iron works in Lehigh County and Liegersville are idle, the workmen having struck. The helpers at Bingham works, 757 in number, are expected to strike on Friday. Some of the older men advise arbitration, which may yet be adopted. The employes of Reading Co are averse to a strike, but will join the movement if it includes all the mines in the anthracite region.

MARINE.

LONDON, Nov. 13.

The crew of the British barque Royal Arch, from Liverpool for Halifax, before reported abandoned at sea, were brought to Liverpool by the British steamer Minnesota. The Minnesota sighted the Royal Arch on the 2nd inst., off Nova Scotia, and rescued the crew. The vessel had been leaking and they had been at the pumps for several days, but the pumps were then choked. One man had been washed overboard and drowned two days before. The steamer sent a boat to take off the crew, but the weather was so rough the men were compelled to jump into the sea and were hauled into the boat by a line.

EUROPEAN.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.

The Porte has ordered Minister Layard to explain the approaching movement of the British Channel squadron to Turkish waters. At a recent interview the Sultan told Layard that his ministers had submitted to him a proposition for the immediate introduction of reforms in the administration of Turkish affairs, but his authority over his subjects would suffer if he appeared to be under pressure from the British Government. Layard promises to communicate the declaration to Lord Salisbury. Under these circumstances the order to Admiral Hornby to sail eastward is declared by the Porte to be inexplicable.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.

The Irish farmers associated with the anti-rent agitation have in many cases resorted to violent measures against those who have declined to join them; and who still continue peaceable, and pay their rent without dispute. In several instances barns belonging to the latter have been set on fire, and their lives threatened. More prominent landlords are recognizing the difficult position occupied by their tenants, and among the number is the Earl of Rosebury, who has issued notice to his tenants remitting 25 per cent from their rents.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.

There is a strong tendency on the part of the Turkish Cabinet to enter into an Alliance with Russia. The Grand Vizier and Osman Pasha, Minister of War, especially, advocate a close understanding with Russia. It is said that the Sultan has been gained over to their views. It is rumored that Osman Pasha will shortly go to Livadia on a special mission.

AFRICA.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 28.

The ill-feeling between the Dutch inhabitants of the Colony and the English settlers and authorities is increasing. The Boers at Potchefstroom are defiant, and make no concealment of their intention to resist British authority at any cost. Commandant Laaf has quitted Middleburg, fearing assassination. The Boers in that locality have congregated in an extensive and strongly prepared Laagar, and are preparing for an obstinate and determined resistance. Among them are the authors of the recent raids upon the gunpowder stores, which were plundered and robbed of their contents. The Boers are determined to prevent these men from being brought to trial. Chief Mofosi refuses to submit to the British, and Lord Chelmsford (!) has ordered preparations for an attack upon him and his tribe.

Some Sugar Statistics.

The total importations of sugar into Canada during the fiscal year 1877-8 amounted to over one hundred and eleven millions of pounds (111,000,000) valued at over $5,000,000.

Mr. Drummond, a partner in the Redpath Refinery, Montreal, in his evidence before the committee of Parliament to enquire into the depression of trade, in 1876, stated that the full capacity of the Redpath Refinery would be 60,000,000 pounds of sugar per annum.

To refine this quantity of sugar, would give employment to about 400 men and 60 horses, the shipping that might be required in the importation of raw sugar, or for other purposes, not being taken into account, and from 10,000 to 12,000 tons of coal would be consumed.

Thus, the Redpaths, if their refinery was run at the highest rate of production, would be able to manufacture a little more than one-half the quantity of sugar imported into Canada in the year 1877-8.

But on reference to the Blue Books for 1876-7 it will be found that though the trade of Canada fell off in other respects in 1877-8, the importation and consumption of sugar increased over ten per cent.—With a revival of trade generally, the official statistics of sugar consumption in Canada during the past warrant the belief that in a year or two the Redpaths, with their present facilities would be unable to supply over a third of the demand, not taking export into consideration at all.

The money spent in the Dominion directly, (not including importation of raw sugar) on last year's consumption, allowing that all should be refined in Canada, it is estimated would reach about $700,000.

Canada Salmon in England.

(Liverpool Post, Oct. 21.)

An experimental shipment of fresh salmon from Canada has just been made with every assurance of success in opening a new trade in food supplies. The salmon was caught in Canadian rivers, packed in ice, transported across the Atlantic in the refrigerators of the Allan steamers, and landed in Liverpool in perfect condition. The fish are of large size, splendid symmetry, and equal in weight and soundness to the best produce of the Norwegian rivers. That they can be placed on the English market in excellent condition has now been proved by the receipt of several consignments, the principal of which reached Liverpool this week. No doubt the trade thus opened will become an important one. Large quantities of "canned" or preserved salmon have been imported here from California and Canada, but hitherto there has been no attempt to import fresh fish. The present experiments have shown that there is no practical difficulty in doing so, and we hear of immense quantities being already prepared for the English and continental markets. The fame of the Canadian rivers for salmon is known to anglers, and the supply is practically unlimited in quantity and excellent in quality. The extent of the yield may be inferred from the fact that during 1878 no less than 2,803,468 pounds of fresh salmon and 3,327,400 pounds of "canned" salmon were exported from Canada. The fresh salmon went exclusively to the United States, owing to the proximity of these markets, but now that it can be carried safely across the Atlantic no doubt an equally large demand will arise in England. The fish mongers do not look with favor upon an experiment that threatens to flood the market with cheap, good food, and, perhaps, also to ruin their "rings" and fishery speculations. But the public will, no doubt, encourage a trade that promises to augment the food supplies of the people at a cheap price, as the fish can be landed at Liverpool at the cost of a few pence per pound.
