PURE BLOOD.

"Long Life and Good Health" In Kickapoo Sagwa.

Take Nature's Remedy Now.

All Persons Suffering from the Impurities of the Blood are Ready Prey of Epidemical Malarial Fevers and all Forms of Prostration—Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is the Safest, Best and Most Reliable Blood Remedy Made.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa will cure all troubles originating in impure blood, safely, speedily, permanently, and with economy. Impure blood is manifest in Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Eruptions or Sores, Sallow Skin, Salt Rheum, Etc.

The only way in which to alter this state of things is to Cleanse the Blood from all Impurities and allow a Free, Unobstructed Circulation Through Every Vein and Artery of the Body.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa as a Blood making, Blood-cleansing and Life-sustaining medicine has eclipsed any blood purifier yet produced.

"Indians Gathering Roots, Herbs and Barks for Kickapoo Indian Sagwa."

Of all races in the world the Indians stand pre-eminent for their longevity and health. Why is it? Listen! If perchance sickness attacks them, no Poisonous Drugs are resorted to, nothing but nature is consulted and nature's gifts appropriated to their cure. The best and most reliable of roots, herbs, barks and gums constitute their medicines—hence the Indian's noble physique, pure blood, high muscular development, strong frame, and sound lungs.

Scrofula Cured By Sagwa.

WINCHESTER, N. H., March 17, 1892.

For the past 25 years I have been terribly afflicted with Scrofula, and have tried everything there was in the market, but could get no relief. A year ago I purchased six bottles of the Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, and by its use was completely cured, and the entire poison was eliminated from my system. I always keep it in the house, and my wife and myself both take it whenever we feel the least bit "run down." I would rather pay $5 a bottle for Kickapoo Indian Sagwa than to be without it.

CHARLES D. SEAVER.

SUFFERED FOUR YEARS.
Doctors Powerless—Kickapoo Indian Sagwa Cures.

MERIDEN, N. H., Dec. 3, 1892.

I have been a constant sufferer from blood and skin diseases for four years, and employed the best medical skill obtainable in this state, besides trying the Boston doctors. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa afforded me more relief in two weeks than all the different physicians in four years, and today I am a well man, thanks to this splendid medicine.

LITERARY NOTES.

GOSSIP ABOUT AUTHORS LIVING AND TRANSLATED.

Failure to Found the Shelley Memorial—Death of "Mother Shipton"—Unexpected Criticism—Meredith and Hardy.

The contemplated Shelley memorial library at Horsham, near the poet's birthplace, will not, after all, be founded. Though the project was received with approbation it has failed to win financial support, the £300 contributed being wholly inadequate. The scheme has therefore been abandoned, and it is now proposed that the money should be devoted to the endowment of an annual prize for English literature at the Horsham Grammar school.

The fate of this Shelley fund would seem to show, says the New York Tribune, that Shelley is emphatically a poet for the few.

Death of "Mother Shipton."

Mother Shipton is dead, or at any rate the real author of her famous prophecies is no more. In other words, the bookselling world has to deplore the loss of Mr. Charles Hindley, who long ago, confessed to the innocent imposture. He wrote a good deal in one way or another, partly to the press and partly in books, but Mother Shipton was his most famous achievement. He died at Brighton where he used to carry on the business of a bookseller.—London Globe.

Criticism of Unexpected Kind.

Chief among the curosities of literature must be accounted the strange judgments of men who would be supposed to have an appreciation of what is best upon the works of others. It was no less a person than Goldsmith who observed of the poems of Milton that "they betray a narrowness of education and a degeneracy of habit," adding to this extraordinary dictum the still more audacious assertion that "there is no force in his reasonings, no eloquence in his style, and no taste in his composition." Waller, an ant-hill poet compared to the soaring loftiness of Milton, yet presumably a man who could reason, said of "Paradise Lost," that if its length be not considered as merit, it has no other. Hume deemed Shakespeare "a disproportioned, misshapen giant," while George III., who ought to have known better, and yet, all things considered, could hardly have been expected to think otherwise, sapiently asked: "Was there ever such stuff as the greater part of Shakespeare?"—Harper's Bazar.

Meredith Recognized Hardy's Genius.

It is pleasant to know that George Meredith had something to do with Thomas Hardy's first success as an author. The MS. of Mr. Hardy's exquisite book "Under the Greenwood Tree" was sent in vain to several publishers and at last reached Chapman & Hall. Mr. Meredith, who is still one of the "readers" for the firm, read this MS. by an unknown writer, advised that it be published and straightway wrote to Hardy in hearty praise of it. This praise was to the author like a draught of cool water in the desert.

Why was this lovely woodland idyl refused so often? Perhaps for the same reason that Mrs. Wood's books have been so successful.

A Good Business Head

Archibald Covering Gunter, the author of "Mr. Barnes of New York" and kindred works of fiction, is an industrious young man who is making hay while the sun shines. He is reported as saying frankly: "I don't believe people will read my truck much longer and I am going to load them up while they want it." Which shows that Mr. Gunter has a long head, whether he writes good novels or not.

Not All of Us—For Reasons.

In one of Thackeray's books he speaks of the unconcerned way in which we lay ourselves open to the comments of our servants, who doubtless have many a laugh below stairs over our peculiarities, and discuss eagerly the current bits of scandal which they cannot fail to hear while attending upon us. The freedom of speech which we permit ourselves to use before these seeming automatons is truly remarkable. At a woman's luncheon, particularly, it seems to be the accepted fact that James Yellowplush and his subordinates are simply to be considered as mere machines, sans eyes, sans ears, sans everything, save as regards their vocation; whereas they are really uneducated, rather coarse men, with as much curiosity and as unscrupulous tongues as any other human beings of their calibre. "Mais, ma chere, appelle tu ca un homme!" lisped a fair beauty of the First Empire as her more straight-laced friend suggested that the footman had better be considered; and apparently this is the accepted standard by which we are to regard our men servants.

Memorial to Mrs. Browning.

In the market place at Ledbury, where Elizabeth Barrett Browning spent most of her life from childhood to womanhood, an imposing memorial to her is about to be erected. This is to take the form of a quaintly picturesque building with a clock tower, and it will be used as a reading room and library, with classrooms above. The Ledbury people have subscribed two-thirds of the necessary funds. Old Hope End, Mrs. Browning's early home at Ledbury, has been pulled down. It was a queer old place in appearance with some pretensions to castellated effects.

Place aux Dames.

Mrs. Arthur Stannard (John Strange Winter) has just been elected a fellow of the Royal Society of Literature, a distinction that has only been conferred on one other woman since the society was founded in 1823. The other lady fellow is Mrs. Napier Higgins, wife of the Q. C. of that name. This lady wrote a standard work on the women of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, which took her ten or twelve years.

Two Relics of Shakespeare.

Two interesting relics of Shakespeare were sold at Christie's in London recently for $785. They were a jug of cream-colored earthenware, much like a modern coffee pot in size and shape, and a Malacca cane in an excellent state of preservation. These souvenirs of the dramatist have descended from his sister Joan, to whom he bequeathed them.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Picture.

Send 25 "Sunlight" Soap wrappers (wrappers bearing the words "Why Does a Woman Look Old Sooner Than a Man") to Levey Bros., Ltd., 43 Scott St., Toronto, and you will receive by post a pretty picture, free from advertising, and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you would leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

CURING CONSUMPTION.

Eleven Third-Stage Patients Reported Improved Under the Dr. Amick Treatment.

The Board of Health reports to the Times, of Chattanooga, Tenn., that each of the eleven third-stage consumptives placed under the treatment obtained from Dr. Amick, of Cincinnati, by the city authorities several weeks ago, have improved to a degree almost miraculous. The results as given to the press by Ward's Island Hospital, New York, while equally sensational, were not so comprehensive, and local medical men claim that this is the most complete demonstration that consumption is curable thus far made. The Times says the eleven patients to whom were administered Dr. Amick's medicines are so far improved that their appetites have returned. They sleep well at night, have no night sweats, the irritating cough has disappeared and they feel much stronger in every way. Local physicians report similar results in private practice from medicines furnished them by the Cincinnati doctor, and all apparently agree that it is the most important discovery medical science has yet brought to light.

How Can We Prosper?

Personal prosperity should be sought, because by it we build up character and can better advance the kingdom of Christ. But how can we be surest to thrive? Since mind and motive are most important factors, we begin with spiritual essentials and name the industrial afterward.

1. Live an humble, consistent, Christian life. A teachable, spiritual mind, walking humbly with God, is the best fitted for insight, prudence and action.

2. Keep the Lord's Day holy. A religious rest best keeps up the tone of mind, invigorates the judgment, and renews the bodily strength.

3. Attend the mid-week service, for it is a bulwark against the overweight of care. Active business is promoted by so safe and refreshing a let-up in the midst of the six working days.

4. Be regular in family and personal devotions. Thus to keep the affections and motives well balanced is a protection against those misjudgments, notions and mere conceits which are so disastrous to business.

5. Work, but not overwork. Be busy; but never hurry. Energy of will and nerve and muscle must be wrought into every prosperous enterprise.

6. Think. One thought may be worth a hundred blows. It is the mind that manages and finally wins or loses.

7. Watch the important littles. A small waste may consume the narrow margin between profit and loss. To attend to important trifles is high art, but to spend time upon unimportant trifles is fussiness.'

8. Promise only with great care to fulfil. A promise kept is a credit and a source of strength. A promise forgotten, neglected or broken is a weakness and a damage as well as a wrong.

9. Be careful of debts and credits. Watch the maturity of claims. Pay promptly and collect carefully. Always thank a creditor for notice, but settle without due, but courteous notice.

The Voice.

Voice, like carriage of the body, should be an indication of character, rank, culture. The spirit should compel the tones or speech to interpret it correctly. It is, moreover, a scientific fact that if you seek, mechanically even, to cultivate life in tone, brightness in speech, you will produce the structural growths of body and soul at first only suggested. Thus, if a woman, worn and debilitated, refrain from expressing in her voice the weariness of which she is conscious, and seek, instead, to make her tones expressive of the happiness she does not possess, she will, as the result of her effort, be spiritually and physically refreshed.

The effect that the cultivation of a joyous tone has upon all life should be impressed upon the mind during the early years. The cultivation of the speaking voice is one of the imperative needs of the day, and no young lady's education is complete whose tones are harsh and discordant, or flat and tuneless. Study of the voice ought not to be delayed until other studies are completed. As soon as a child begins to read, an idea of how the voice should be used should be given him. Children naturally use their voices correctly, but they are ready imitators, and if the tones about them are harsh, throaty, and guttural, theirs soon become so. Very few teachers, even in the best schools, have any scientific knowledge of the voice. The importance of speaking distinctly is impressed upon the youthful mind, and, as his idea of distinctness is applied to that sound, sharp, disagreeable tones are cultivated.

A teacher's voice will often express the irritation she refrains from manifesting in other ways, and the moral results and influences of such actions are hardly less serious than the physiological.

A child should be taught to have the voice always sweet, and this teaching should be more by example than precept. Breathing exercises should be early given, and the voices and bodies allowed to develop naturally.

To keep the bright, happy, joyous ring of youth in the voice, is to keep the heart young as well as the body.

The kindergarthers, those wisest of all people regarding the education of the young, say that at a very early age the musical ear of the child should be cultivated; and if it could be trained to detect false notes in the speaking as well as singing voice, new possibilities in the art of speech would unfold themselves.

Reading or reciting certain lines of poetry in various keys is an excellent way to cultivate music and variety of tone. Speaking on every note of the scale, alternately increasing and decreasing the volume of the voice, is also a commendable practice.

Often marvellous changes can be effected in the voice by simple exercises calculated to free restricted muscles, and one is never too old to take these exercises. Faults in the voice are due to physical reasons which can and should be known, and it frequently happens that a course of lessons in vocal culture is a means of revivification to the entire system.—Penn. School Journal.

Entitled to the Best.

Evidently prompted from official sources, the Quebec Chronicle announces that the long-desired equilibrium between the provincial expenditure and income has at last been re-established, thanks to policy of economy and retrenchment pursued by the Taillon administration. Accounts for the fiscal year ended June 30th last, now about complete, show that the ordinary expenditure of the province has been kept well within the ordinary revenue.
