AGRICULTURE.

WARM WATER FOR STOCK —Every now and then we come across a paragraph, copied probably from some agricultural paper that is edited by a city man, who knows little practically about what he writes of, recommending that in cold weather the water given to animals to drink should be warmed. Well, now, we would like any of these very clever writers to just try the experiment of drinking warm water themselves. If tea coffee, or anything palatable is infused in warm water, it becomes drinkable; and so with stock, if you add a little meal, bran, or salt, to warm water, they will drink it. We have tried the temperature of water from spring wells, and have found that in the coldest freezing weather it does not go below 39 =, and we have proved to our own satisfaction that in cold weather, if a horse or cow is offered a choice between a pail of cold water just pumped from the well, and one of water that has been slightly warmed by the addition of hot water, they will not touch the latter. Animals should get water fresh from the well or spring, not that which has become partly frozen, and is full of lumps of ice, which are sure to be swallowed to their injury. When stock are kept long without water, or get it only once a day, they are apt to drink too much at once, which is the reason why they are observed sometimes to get chilled after drinking. They should have access to water at all times, or if kept confined should have it given them often and little at a time, three times a day at least. In summer they prefer water that has been warmed by exposure to that which is very cold from the well.

FARM WELL IT PAYS

As a general rule, no man should attempt to cultivate more land than his capital will enable him to fully occupy with profitable stock and well cultivated crops. A farmer with a large farm half cultivated and half stocked, is like a merchant with a large and costly store in which to show a small stock of goods. The rent, in the shape of interest on dead capital for outside show, eats up more than the profits made, and his labour goes for nothing beyond a bare living, while he gets poorer each succeeding year.

We know of a farmer, not far off, who owned one hundred acres of a farm. He sold half of it a few years ago, and has since then applied to the remaining fifty acres the same amount of capital and manure that he formerly expended on the hundred. He finds he now actually makes more money from fifty than he did from one hundred acres, as his crops have doubled, in yield per acre, while his labour is greatly lessened, and his stock being better fed and cared for, gives larger returns, both in money and manure.—Toronto Globe.

ON BREAKING IN COLTS.

Dr. DeBonald, of Berthier, explains in the "Minerve," at great length, the chief mistakes made in breaking in colts, premising that it is the most vigorous and valuable colts that are most difficult to break in. Winter, which is the usual time for breaking, is, he says, by far the best, and a traineau is the best vehicle. In winter, on account of the snow, there is much less danger for either the man, the horse, or the vehicle than upon the hard roads and with the noisy wheel carriages of summer. There is also more leisure for the business.

The first error occurs in harnessing. All the parts of the harness are strange to the colt, and especially the collar and saddle, and he is naturally frightened when he feels them. If when he tries to defend himself from them he is beaten till he has to give in, he ever afterwards shudders when harnessed, or even touched, and is called a ticklish horse.

The second error occurs in leading him out of the stable with his harness on. As soon as he begins to move, the parts which are hanging loose strike him, and he turns to see what is the matter. He thus comes to the door with his side foremost, his harness catches on something, and, in a state of terror, he leaps out in order to escape, often hurting himself, and still more frequently tearing the harness, unless, indeed, it be large enough, which is often the case, to come off entire. For this escapede he is angrily beaten, which makes him still more afraid of going through the door again, and ever afterwards he jumps through it at the risk of hurting himself or harness.

The third fault occurs after he is attached to the vehicle, and tried to be started. Then he usually makes some difficulty, but at last sets off with a bound which causes his driver to tumble backward, and for self preservation to draw the reins suddenly. By this the horse is more terrified, and more difficult to start than before. If he has to go through cahots he is frightend by the cross-bar of the shafts touching his legs; if he is to turn to one side, the shaft on that side comes against him and frightens him; and if the only remedy for these frights be blows, he soon begins to strike back, and there is a hand to heel combat, which usually results in the destruction of the vehicle and ruin of the horse.

All these errors are to be avoided by the man keeping cool, good natured, and patient and taking time and pains to let the horse know what he is wanted to do, and showing him that there is no danger in doing it.

This is sound advice, which we hope all who have to perform this important duty of breaking in colts will read and ponder.—Montreal Witness.

BLANKETING HORSES.—The Canada Farmer says: The blanket should not be used upon a horse at all in winter, unless it is used faithfully. The trouble arises in this way: When a team has been driven a few miles to market, or the same distance for pleasure, blankets or robes are put on, but when drawing logs to the saw mill, or doing other heavy work, they are made to haul large loads a mile or two, and return at a brisk trot, and stand uncovered until a load is put on. In this way the horses are suddenly cooled off, and the succeeding day finds them sick and unable to labor for some time, if not ruined entirely. Blanketing at one time and omitting it another is worse than offording no protection at all.

Farmers as a class should discuss their vocation and interests more extensively than they are in the habit of doing. The information they possess and may command should be generally disseminated, digested and brought within the scope of practice; and the means to effect this lie in Farmers clubs, agricultural books and journals. Winter gives the farmer some leisure, which should be improved in every practicable way to gain such knowledge as will direct manual labor to more effective results.

BEDDING AND FEEDING MILCH COWS —First in respect to bedding. Now when straw and all kinds of bedding sell high for cash, farmers feel the want of an article that they can really afford to use as liberally as in former times. Hence, cows, oxen, horses and pigs are not unfrequently left without sufficient bedding for comfort. It is an acknowledged fact among the stock-feeders, that the more comfortable domesticated animals are made, the less the food eaten, and the better the condition of the animals. Milch cows must also be well fed, if they are to produce well; for, it is admitted by all thinking farmers, that it is in vain to look for anything in the pail that has not gone in at the cow's mouth. Meal, shorts, roots, potatoes or some such feed should supplement good English hay at this season of the year, and so on till the cows are turned out to grass.

MEAT FOR FOWLS TO MAKE THEM LAY.—It is the nature of fowls in good health to lay, and they cannot help it—the eggs will come. Scanty fare will reduce their laying propensity, and, on very short commons, eggs cease altogether. Rich food promotes the tendency; certain seeds, like buckwheat, sun flower, and hemp seeds increase it, and meat of any kind does the same. All this, however, forces the fowl into an unnatural state, and ordinarily shortens her life. The eggs, besides, have often a poor flavor. Occasional feeding of fresh meat, like the lights of hogs chopped fine, are very good in winter when the fowls find no insect food. They need, besides, hearty food in cold weather, especially if they are not kept in warm houses. In cold weather, hens running about in exposed places, will not lay, though richly fed; their food goes to keep them warm.—Agriculturist.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
Publications of John Dougall & Son
MONTREAL.

THE phrase "GET THE BEST" has passed into a proverb, and all will agree that the best Family Paper is one that has something interesting and profitable for every member of the family, not excluding the children, and which includes within its scope all the best interests of humanity, temporal and eternal. Such a paper the MONTREAL WITNESS has aimed to be from its commencement, 23 years ago; and that the country was prepared for such an enterprise is shown by its success. The WITNESS in its three editions—"Daily." "Semi-Weekly," and "Weekly"—issues about 16,000 copies; and, consequently, reaches probably Eighty Thousand readers; but what are they out of a population of four millions, all of whom we desire to reach?

Our publications are as follows, and we respectfully call attention to their cheapness as well as quality, and ask all the friends of interesting and wholesome literature everywhere to aid us in extending their circulation Nor will their circulation interfere with that of local papers, which are a necessity in their respective localities, and which are, generally speaking, very meritorious

1.—The DAILY WITNESS contains as much reading matter as the ordinary Dailies, and of a choice quality, at about half the price, viz., $3 per annum. Besides being a first-class Family Paper, it is especially valuable to business men on account of its abundant commercial intelligence, prices current, &c.

2.—The MONTREAL WITNESS, Eight Pages, Semi-Weekly, $2 per annum, contains all that appears in the Daily, except part of the purely city matter and advertisements.

3.—The WEEKLY WITNESS, Eight Pages, $1 per annum, contains the greater part of the News, Contemporary Press, and Editorials of the Semi-Weekly, with a portion of the Family Reading and Prices Current.

4.—The CANADIAN MESSENGER, containing Eight Pages, is published twice a month, at the very low price of 37½ c per annum. Postage paid; or Seven Copies for $2 to one address. It contains Religious, Temperance, Agricultural, Scientific Educational matter, Stories for Children, &c., &c. This paper is recommended to the public generally and it is hoped that its adaptation for circulation through schools will greatly extend its usefulness. It has at present upwards of 20,000 subscribers, representing, probably, 100,000 readers, but at the very low price (namely, 25 cents per annum, Post-paid, if 100 copies are sent to one address) it is hoped that its circulation will greatly increase,

5.—The NEW DOMINION MONTHLY is a handsome Monthly Magazine, containing a rich selection of original and copied articles every month, together with one or more choice pieces of music, and pictorial illustrations. Price $1 per annum, Post-paid. This Magazine has been favorably noticed by nearly the entire Press of the Dominion.

The terms of all these publications are necessarily CASH IN ADVANCE, and the periodicals are invariably discontinued when the subscription expires.

Any one who will kindly make up a club for the above publications to the value of $8, and remit the same Post-paid, in Bankable funds, will receive, if asked for at the time, the WEEKLY WITNESS or the NEW DOMINION MONTHLY gratis, and One Dollar's worth of our Publications for every additional Eight Dollars remitted for them in P. O. Money Order or Canadian Bills.

N. B.—Postmasters are authorized and requested to receive individual subscriptions in Silver (but not Club-Subscriptions), and convert the same into Bankable funds at our expense.

RING'S
Vegetable Ambrosia
FOR GRAY HAIR.

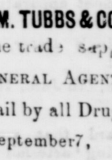
This is the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Man who was bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gay,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.



This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

The Most Reliable Friend.

Holloway's Ointment,

Its Searching & Healing Properties are known and recognized throughout the World.

The number of years this invaluable Ointment has stood the test of public opinion, (and the longer known the better appreciated) is a testimony of itself more convincing than anything that could be written in praise of its truly wonderful healing properties. In the cure of bad legs, bad breasts, sores, wounds, and ulcers, its effect is marvellous. For ring-worm, scald-head, scrofula, and diseases of the scalp generally, there is no remedy to be compared to it. When assidiously rubbed upon the skin (previously well bathed in warm water) this Ointment is quickly absorbed into the system, and cleanses, in its passage, every part to which it is applied.

Glandular Swellings, Mumps, Bronchitis, Quinsey, Sore Throats and Diptheria.

In any of the above diseases, immediate and permanent relief is obtained by effectually rubbing this detergent Ointment, twice a day, upon the neck, chest and back. Its acts upon the very mainsprings of life; for through the glands pass all new matter required for the body's reparation and all old particles detrimental to its preservation. The Ointment, used conjointly with Holloway's Pills, will act so searchingly and certainly as to effect cures in the most hopeless cases.

Rheumatism, Lumbago, Contracted and Stiff Joints.

Many thousands of martyrs from the above complaints have found life almost unsupportable; yet, if Holloway's Ointment be briskly and perseveringly rubbed upon the parts affected, ease may be safely guaranteed, especially if the pores of the skin by previously opened by fomentations with warm water. The gross humors require expulsion from the system; it is therefore necessary to have recourse to Holloway's admirable Pills, which, by purifying and strengthening the system, greatly assist the operation of the Ointment and facilitate and confirm they cure ad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Ulcerations of all kinds.

There is no medicinal preparation in the world which may be so thoroughly relied upon, in the treatment of the above ailments, as Holloway's Ointment. Nothing can be so simple or safe as the manner in which it is applied, or its action on the body, both locally and constitutionally. The Ointment, rubbed around the part affected, enters the pores just as salt enters meat. It quickly penetrates to the source of the evil and drives it from the system.

Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores

In all irritations of the skin, sores, ulcers, burn or scrofulous enlargements of any kind, Holloway's Ointment presents a ready and easy means of cure. It manifests a peculiar power in restraining inflammation, removing stagnation, cooling the heated blood, and checking all acrimonious and unhealthy discharge.

Diseases attendant on Childhood.

Diseases incident to early life fall more under the management of the mother than the medical man. Holloway's Ointment should therefore be regarded by her as a "Household Treasure," as it never fails in bringing out the rash in measles and scarlatina; and for the removal of all skin diseases its effect is miraculous. In cases of whooping cough and croup, this invaluable Ointment should be rubbed twice a day upon the throat and chest, and the youngest infant will derive therefrom the most soothing relief. Two or three of Holloway's famous Pills, reduced to a powder, will augment the curative powers of the Unguent.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bad Legs	Corns (soft)	Rheumatism
Bad Breasts	Cancers	Scald Heads
Burns	Contracted and Stiff Joints	Sore Nipples
Bunions		Sore Throats
Bite of Moschetoes and Sand Flies	Elephantiasis	Skin Diseases

Coco bay	Glandular Swellings	Tumours

Chilblains	Lumbago	Wounds
