

Swiss Gov't Uncovers 5 Year Old Spy Network

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The Swiss government announced Tuesday the expulsion of a Hungarian diplomat on charges he operated a five-year-old spy network by blackmailing Hungarian refugees into his services.
An Italian woman also has been expelled and a Hungarian-born Swiss woman is being held for trial.
The announcement said Mate Vegh, former second secretary of the Hungarian Legation who left Switzerland last September, tried to return Monday and was immediately expelled. He could not be brought to trial under Switzerland's anti-espionage laws because diplomatic immunity covered his activities prior to last September.

ARRESTS KEPT SECRET
The women, neither of whom was named, were arrested several weeks ago, but the news was kept secret until Swiss counter-intelligence had completed its investigation.
The Italian woman acted mainly as a courier and was expelled because it could not be proved she intentionally helped organize the espionage service. The Swiss woman, who acquired her Swiss citizenship by marriage, will be tried before a federal court.
Attorney-General René Dubols said the ring operated mainly against Italy, a member of the North Atlantic alliance.
CUNNING METHODS
The government announcement said Vegh's ring collected military, political and economic information for the Communists through "very cunning methods."

Vegh was alleged to have recruited Hungarian refugees as his agents by blackmailing them with threats against their families in Hungary.
Dubols said the ring originally was formed by Emeric Pehr, counselor of the Hungarian Legation from 1951 to May, 1955. Vegh was then appointed second secretary and took over the operation.
The legation informed Swiss officials last September that Vegh no longer was a member of the staff and had ceased to enjoy diplomatic privileges. No explanation of the change was given and he soon left the country.

Recommendations Made At W. Prince Game Meeting

An increase in the bounty on foxes from three to five dollars on a year around basis, an annual license fee of ten dollars on all dogs for hunting, and continuation of the present licensing arrangements pertaining to farmers and fishermen were the main items of business approved at a meeting of the West Prince Fish and Game Association, held in the Alberton Legion Hall last night.
A one dollar bounty on ravens was also approved.
Some discussion was held regarding a closed season on pheasants and Hungarian partridge in Prince County next year and the matter was left over for the next meeting.
It was generally agreed that a feeding program for pheasants and Huns should be started right away and the following members were appointed to look after the distribution of feed in their areas: O'Leary, Marne Kennedy; Tignish, E.C. Perry; Alberton, F.C. Weeks; Bloomfield, Keith Pratt; St. Louis Frank Shea.
The annual meeting of the branch will be held at Alberton in January at a date to be decided later.
Vice-president Joseph MacDonald, Tignish, presided at the meeting.

Rev. Cecil Webber Speaks At Club

The value and importance of a good sense of humour was the subject of an address delivered to the Men's Association of North Bedouque, Freestone and Traveller's Rest at their monthly meeting the speaker was Rev. Cecil Webber, pastor of Trinity United Church Summerside. The president, Allison Profit, presided.
Mr. Webber, who is a native of Newfoundland, noted that a prevalent sense of humour was common to Canada's two Island provinces. He felt this was due in a large measure to the fact that the people lived close to the work of God in farming and fishing. He termed this faculty a God-given gift which helps greatly to take people over the so called rough places of life.
The meeting took the form of open house with the wives and friends of the men as special guests. A delicious lunch with ice cream was served by the ladies of Traveller's Rest Church.
Previous to the meeting, a rousing sing-song was led by Rev. Grant Walls of North Bedouque. Scripture reading was by Delbert Raynor. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by James Clark. The thanks to the ladies was extended by Eldon Drummond. The collection taken will be forwarded for boy's camp work at Augustine Cove.
