

BAD BREATH-ME?

TESTS PROVE THAT IN 7 OUT OF TEN CASES COLGATE STOPS BAD BREATH ORIGINATING IN THE MOUTH... CLEANS YOUR BREATH AS IT CLEANS YOUR TEETH

LOOK! LOOK!

CHILLS... THRILLS... MIDNIGHT SHOW - FRIDAY -

EDW. G. ROBINSON LORETTA YOUNG 'The Hatcher Man'... PRINCE EDWARD

PRINCE EDWARD

CAPITOL FINAL TO-DAY

15 - FAMOUS STARS - 15 'IT'S A BIG COUNTRY' ALSO NEWS - SHOWS 3:30 - 7 - 9

THUR. - FRI. - SAT.

The BLOOD-RED TRAIL! ROD CAMERON WAGONS WEST IN BLAZING COLOR! SERIAL - COMEDY - CARTOON

PRINCE EDWARD TODAY ONLY

RAY MILLAND - JOAN FONTAINE 'SOMETHING TO LIVE FOR' ADULT - MEALTIME MAGIC - SHOWS 3:30 - 7 - 9

3 BIG DAYS THUR. - FRI. - SAT.

Here's that Marvel of Merriment and Melody! RAY BOLGER 'Where's Charley?' ALLYN McLERIE NEWS 'DAREDEVIL DAYS'

THE EASTERN GUARDIAN

AGENTS-MONTAGUE: Harold F. Landry, Mrs. Byron Stewart, Mrs. Bruce MacPhee, Miss Joyce Wigginton, Pius McKinnon. AGENT GEORGETOWN: Waldon Lavers.

The Guardian may be bought at the following places in Montague: Blue Dome Restaurant, and Guardian Office; in Georgetown: The Post Office; in Souris: The Snack Bar and H. Richards & Son.

CO-OP Insurance, Life, Fire, Auto. Above Co-op Super Market. MASQUERADE dance, Beaver Hall, Montague, October 30. Prizes, Messer's Orchestra.

PANTRY SALE at Stewart and Beck's Saturday, October 25th, at 2:30 p.m., sponsored by Kilmuir Women's Institute.

Rev. and Mrs. G. B. Cunningham and son Peter of Alberton are guests of Rev. and Mrs. F. N. Young, Montague.

Mrs. Preston McIntyre, Mrs. A. C. MacKay, and Mrs. S. C. MacLean, motored to Halifax for the weekend, returning to Montague on Monday evening via Wood Islands.

Mrs. Stephen Shaw, a former resident of New Perth, spent the past week in Montague where she visited her sisters, Mrs. J. Mori MacLean and Mrs. A. C. MacKay and her brother, Mr. John P. Beer.

Mrs. Margaret Arnett, Dorchester, Mass., Mrs. Stephen Herring, Newton, Mass., and Mrs. Arnett's daughter, Mrs. Paul Neilson, Dorchester, Mass., are visiting in Brudenell, guests of Mrs. Arnett's and Mrs. Herring's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Dewar.

ATTEND CHURCH OPENING - Among those attending the opening of St. George's Church on October 12 were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rogerson and family of St. Patrick's Road. Mr. Rogerson was foreman on the new church and at the dedication of the building, Mr. Rogerson and Mr. Livingston of Cardigan were honoured by having the privilege of placing the cornerstone.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY - The funeral of the late Mrs. John A. MacKenzie, who passed away at her home in Victoria Cross early Sunday morning, was held from her late residence yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. A. C. Fraser of Valleyfield. The hymns sung were 'The Lord's My Shepherd' and 'Abide With Me'. A favorite hymn of the deceased, 'Higher Ground' was beautifully rendered by the Brooklyn Trio. The pall bearers were Leo M. O'Halloran, Emmett Power, Norman Nicholson, Stewart McKenna, Daniel MacDonald, Ambrose O'Halloran. Interment took place in the Montague Community Cemetery.

RUGGED AREA - Afghanistan, a mountainous country north of India, has an area of 250,000 square miles.

Whim Road and Vicinity

Mr. John Campbell, Whim Road, has as his guests, his brother-in-law, Mr. Oscar Collings and Mrs. Collings, who recently motored from Massachusetts.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lawson, Stanhope, were recent visitors to Whim Road, where they were the guests of Mrs. Lawson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Campbell.

Mr. Lloyd Farquharson, Southport, spent the weekend of October 18th at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Farquharson, in Kilmuir.

Mr. John Clarey, Murray River, was a recent visitor of Mr. and Mrs. George Clarey, Whim Road.

A large number spent an enjoyable time at the old time square dance at Whim Road Hall, on Wednesday evening, October 15th.

Mr. John Clarey, Whim Road, was a recent visitor to Saint John, N. B.

Mrs. Webb Nicholson and son, Vernon, Whim Road, were recent overnight guests of Mrs. Nicholson's mother, Mrs. Priscilla Shaw in Brundenell.

Mrs. Ethel MacLeod returned to her home at Whim Road after visiting in Lower Montague with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ross.

Mr. Stanley Streight was warmly welcomed back by members of his Sunday School class at Whim Road after his absence due to illness. Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Webb Nicholson, Whim Road, the classes were in no way disrupted while Mr. Streight was absent, and were continued every Sunday morning.

Mrs. John Clarey, Whim Road, who recently entered the P. E. I. Hospital, Charlottetown, for treatment has now been discharged and is at present the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. Steele in Charlottetown.

The recent scrapping of the Whim Road greatly improved travelling conditions for all concerned at this time.

The potato digging season is keeping everyone busy these days with a crop this is reported to be better than usual.

U. S. Editors

Continued from page 1

Under the Middle Atlantic states likely to go solidly Republican, results are just what they were in earlier soundings around Labor Day.

In New York, however, the combined estimate of editors is that Eisenhower would win by some 277,000 votes if the election were held today, whereas the first survey estimated the margin at perhaps 350,000.

Elsewhere in the Middle Atlantic area, editors say Eisenhower generally has picked up a little political power in the weeks since the first survey.

In the last four presidential elections, the Middle Atlantic states followed a consistent voting pattern. They were on the winning side with the Democrats in 1936, 1940 and 1944, then supported the losing Republican ticket.

But it was only because Henry Wallace, the Progressive Party candidate, pulled votes away from Truman four years ago that the Republicans squeaked out skimpy victories in New York and Maryland.

They are being extended to that grand old man, Dr. Roddie J. MacDonald, on his elevation to knight-hood in the ancient order of St. Gregory the Great. Despite his years he is still doctor to all especially those he brought into the world. Mr. John McKinnon was the first baby this old doctor brooded into the world when he started practice in this vicinity sixty four years ago.

FARNBOROUGH, England - (CP) - Officials appealed to the public for any pieces of wreckage from the De Havilland Jet fighter that disintegrated during a recent air show. Souvenir hunters may hold tiny bits of wreckage that would help to solve the cause of the accident.

BIGGER TEA EXPORT KARACHI - (CP) - The Government of Pakistan has announced a provisional export allotment of 40,000,000 pounds of tea for the 1952-53 fiscal year. This is 10,000,000 pounds more than the target first announced.

ASPIRIN RELIEVES COLDS... FEEL BETTER FAST!

H. J. Mabon R. O. Optometrist. Fitting and Supplying Glasses, etc. Office Hours: 10 to 12 A.M., 3 to 5 P.M. and by appointment.

DODDS KIDNEY PILLS... THE GUARDIAN'S FAVORITE

Prices Discussed

Continued from page 1

investigation and research. Mr. MacDonald said the purpose of the legislation 'is to preserve the highest competition of which a given situation is capable in the public interest.'

'The new competition,' as defined by various speakers, emphasizes the braking power of prices of such factors as research, advertising, and substitute products. It differs in emphasis from the 'classical' concept of competition which simply envisioned many people making a profit, with many buyers picking and choosing among them.

Mr. MacDonald said literature on 'the new competition' tends to indicate that emphasis on price competition is becoming increasingly unnecessary.

He repudiated any such idea. He said that undoubtedly certain elements in competition, such as research, even if not new, have taken on new significance, and it was not the purpose of Canada's combine legislation to 'turn back the clock.'

Nevertheless, the purpose of the legislation was to eliminate any situation which might forbid price competition and which was to the public detriment. Whatever price competition was possible, should be maintained; and he felt that it was the real spur to many of the factors included under 'the new competition.'

R. M. Fowler, of Montreal, chairman of the panel discussion, asked Mr. MacDonald:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

'My experience is that "big business" does not stifle competition. We must accept the necessity for some national supervisory machinery, but I feel the machinery should be to investigate and that it should be permissive in intention and not instinctively prohibitive, like, for example, the Sherman Law in the United States.'

Dr. W. J. Worboys of London, England, commercial director of Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd. said in an address:

'It would today be hard to find examples, common though they were in older times of such abuse of economic power by "big business" as the buying up of new inventions in order to suppress them, or off "big business" killing small competitors by ruthless price policies, and exploiting the consumer by excessively high prices.'

Judges Appointed For Winter Fair

AMHERST, Oct. 21 - An outstanding group of judges will handle the livestock and farm produce judging at this year's Maritime Winter Fair. The complete list was released by Secretary-Manager R. F. MacCunn.

All the judges are noted livestock breeders and have a wide knowledge of judging. Newcomers will handle the Guernsey, Ayrshire and Holstein breeds while all the other men have presided at previous fairs.

Following are the judges: Guernseys, Andrew Telfer, Paris, Ont.; Ayrshires, Erakine Rodger, Lachute, Que.; Holsteins, J. M. Fraser, Streetsville, Ont.; Shorthorns, Herefords, beef steers, Grant McEwan, manager, Canadian Council of Beef Producers (Western Section), Calgary, Alta.; Jerseys, Norman Bagg, Edgely, Ont.

Horses, Grant McEwan, Calgary; foxes, D. Bell, Carleton, P. E. I.; swine, G. P. Hooker, Ormstown, Que.; sheep, Garnet Chapman, Waterloo, Que.; seeds, Arthur Dumas, Federal Department of Agriculture, Ottawa; roots, D. C. Schurman, Charlottetown; potatoes, Roy C. Layton, Federal Department of Agriculture, Kentville; H. L. MacLaren, Federal Department of Agriculture, Charlottetown and C. H. Godwin, Federal Department of Agriculture, Fredericton; honey, E. D. Craig, Federal Department of Agriculture, Kentville.

Flahermen in the section from Victoria to the east were definite in stating they wanted a continuation of the present system. They did not favor the one-season plan for the whole Province.

There were several questions asked regarding methods of permitting the short lobsters to get away. One of them was to have different lath spacing on the traps. However, it was pointed out that any such regulation would be just as difficult to enforce as those now existing.

It was also pointed out that while there is an open season of the Province lobsters once landed on the shore are legal and no prosecution can follow. At present it was noted that many fishermen are poaching on one shore and disposing of their catch to canneries operating in an area where the season is open. It was in trying to stop this for the future protection of the industry that the proposal for the one season for the whole Island was made.

Speakers from the North Side thought the season there should start May 10. They said they had special problems not met by fishermen on the South Shore due to heavy storms and great loss of gear. Mr. Shea, Tignish, said it was a hard job for the Department to be fair to all, especially the fishermen in the Northumberland Strait who wanted a later season. Up his way, he said, they wanted the spring season as they found the lobsters in better condition. He did not think the idea of having seasons split into one month in the spring and the other month in the fall would work.

In general much of the discussion on the floor centred about the problems of short lobsters and poaching. One speaker suggested if the Department could not do better in the way of enforcing the regulations on small lobsters they should toss the law away. A suggestion was advanced that one method of controlling the size would be to have an inspector in every canner. This would stop most of the small ones being packed as only a few would be canned in "the woods" or in private homes.

Mainland Buyers - A lively discussion broke out on the question of selling lobsters to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia buyers. Agreeing that they paid a higher price than local canneries fishermen wanted to know why this was so. One idea advanced was that perhaps the out of province buyers might be purchasing poached lobsters at a comparatively low price which enabled them to pay a higher price in an area where the season was open.

It was thought that in New Brunswick more efficient packing enabled the buyers to pay higher prices. Greater law enforcement is needed in the lobster fishing industry, that was agreed on by all, but Dr. Needler admitted that the Department met a great deal of difficulty in trying to enforce the poaching regulations.

It was suggested from the floor that the Fisheries Department should thoroughly investigate the South Shore fishing conditions before making any sweeping changes in the season. It was advised to have a man put out from 75 to 100 traps so the Department would know for itself when the lobsters difficultly in keeping lobsters in a pound in August when the water was warm. There were too many weak and with soft shells.

Action Against Poachers - All fishermen who took part in the discussion appeared to agree on the necessity of action being taken against poachers. They also concurred in stating that the customary fine of $10 for an offence was practically valueless as a poacher could easily get it back from the load of lobsters he caught. One suggestion greeted with applause was to the effect that the fine imposed should be between $200 and $500 with suspension of the fisherman's licence for a period of two years.

At the start of the meeting Mr. Gorman told the group that it was not held to decide anything nor to make decisions. It was simply called to give everyone an opportunity of expressing an opinion to be used as a guide when the Federal Department holds its meeting in Summerside this Friday.

Dr. A. H. Needler, of the Biological Station, St. Andrews, N. B., was present and said that lobster fishing was different to any other kind. When fishing groundfish a small catch simply meant going back for more with plenty of time to do it. The thought behind lobster regulations was that the seasons had been designed purely to enable fishermen to catch lobsters when they had the greatest value. Their use permitted better lobsters to reach the market. He admitted that the "conservation theory" of season setting was largely a masquerade.

Some of the regulations were hard to enforce, he said, as they did not have full public support, but he thought all the fishermen should be appreciative of the regulations if they have the interest of the industry at heart.

One Season Proposal - He said that at the Summerside meeting one season only would be proposed, but whether that would LOGY, LISTLESS, OUT OF LOVE WITH LIFE?

Then wake up your liver bile... Life not worth living? It may be the liver! It's a fact! If your liver bile is not flowing freely your food may not digest... You feel constipated and all the fun and sparkle go out of life. That's when you need mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. You see, Carter's Little Liver Pills fill once again, help stimulate your liver bile flow once again. It's pouring out at a rate of up to two pints a day into your digestive tract. This should fix you right up, make you feel that happy days are here again. So don't stay sunk, get Carter's Little Liver Pills. Always have them on hand. Only 35c from any drugist.

FIRESTONE 'IRE SERVICE

Flats Fixed Vulcanizing - Retreading Phone 747 We Trade Tires.

FIRESTONE BRYENTON & McKay COMPANY

187 Great George St. Wholesale and Retail for P. E. Island. Your Friendly FIRESTONE Dealer

Refrigeration

SALES and SERVICE Repairs To All Makes MOTORS Rewinding and Repairs ELECTRICAL APPLIANCE Repairs Palmer Electric PHONE 1444

ANNUAL MEETING AND CONVENTION

QUEEN'S COUNTY LIBERAL ASSOCIATION EMPIRE THEATRE THURSDAY 23rd OCTOBER, 1952

7:30 P. M. - ANNUAL MEETING 8:30 P. M. - CONVENTION

Poll Chairmen are requested to call poll meetings and elect five delegates to attend the Annual Meeting and Convention.

The constitution requires poll chairmen to advise the Secretary of the Association at least one week prior to the Convention of the names and addresses of the delegates. Rural polls which have not had their poll meetings shall meet on or before Tuesday, October 14th. Fifth District poll meeting will be held Thursday, October 16th, 8 p.m., Clover Club, Charlottetown, for the purpose of appointing delegates.

Credential certificates must be given to each delegate signed by the Poll Secretary and countersigned by the Poll Chairman for presentation at the Annual Meeting and Convention.

P. R. McCORMAC, President. FREDERICK A. LARGE, Secretary.

KING COLE TEA Stimulating and delicious!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

HERE'S A TEN, JASON! WILL YOU FETCH ME A DIME PACK O' CHEWIN' ALFALFA? AN' I'LL KEEP TH' CHANGE! SINCE I GOT DIRTY RICH I'M FEELIN' AS GENEROUS AS A BOY CUTTIN' HISSELF A HUNK O' PIE! HEH-HEH!

Major Hoople

MISTAH JAKE, YOU SURE DONE RAKED YOURSELF UP A NICE PILE O' LEAVES! HE MUG' HANE A MAP O' B' FORT KNOX AN' A SET O' DIGGIN' TOOLS! TOSSIN' $4.90! AT ME FOR PRACLY 'NOthin' IS 'BOUT AS 'USUAL AS NIAGARA FALLS FLOWIN' BACK UPSTREAM!

JAKE'S GOT A LEASE ON EASY STREET