Rain Permits Forests To Open

HALIFAX (CP) — A severe forest fire situation in the Maritimes brought on by a prolonged drought may be over as the result of wet weather and rain in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick for the last three days.

Forestry officials partially lifted a woods travel ban in four Nova Scotia counties Tuesday, on day after New Brunswick opened its forests to public travel. Travel was banned in New Brunswick forests June 27 and in Nova Scotia June 29th, although opened in Cape Breton Island for travel by permit July 8.

Air, Sea, Rail May Play Parts

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Air, sea and rail facilities may all play a part in the transfer of 400 passengers from the disabled liner Seven Seas when she reaches here under tow expected to be sometime Friday.

The 12-ton ship was rendered powerless when a fire broke out in her engine room Sunday. The Dutch tug Ierse Zee (Irish Sea) put out from the Azores and reached her side about 500 miles east of St. John's Monday night.

This port is not equipped to handle big passenger ships and the Seven Seas will be berthed at the main seawall on the waterfront.

Aboard the Seven Seas, bound from Rotterdam to New York, are some 400 passengers, mostly holidaying students and 200 crewmembers. The ship radioed Monday that all aboard were well and that there were no discomforts or food shortages.

RE-ELECT PRESIDENT MONTREAL (CP) — The council of the International Civil Aviation Organization Tuesday re-elected Walter Binaghi as its president for a further term of three years. This is the fourth term of office as president for Mr. Binaghi.

HIS BANK WAS CLOSED

Dominican Revolution Forces Island Holiday

By RALPH CAMERON

"Closed because of the revolution" might almost be the sign he hung on his office door before leaving Santo Domingo for a holiday at his home here. In fact the Royal Bank branch of which he is the manager in the battle-scarred city has been closed since late April because of lack of stability in government circles in the Dominican Republic so Philip "Bud" Rossiter is spending a vacation in Charlottetown.

A former student at Queen Square School and Prince of Wales College, Bud entered the Royal Bank here in 1948 and worked in the local branch for two years before being transferred to Nova Scotia. After five years in that province he moved to the Montreal head office and there became interested in foreign banking.

It was in 1960 he was posted to Caracas, Venezuela, and spent three years in that Latin American city before going to Santo Domingo two years ago. The April revolution was really a small-scale war which, though confined to a relatively small area saw planes, rockets and tanks employed as the army took over control. Only scattered fighting took place outside the city itself and life in the rural sections has continued pretty much as before with even the branches of his bank still operating on a reduced service scale.

hard to get and there were no hospital facilities at all due to all such services being given over to attending the wounded. The various embassies advised all their nationals it would be wiser to evacuate the country and as a result practically all wives and children of officials left the country. Mrs. Rossiter and their three children left by U.S. helicopter for Puerto Rico where they stayed until coming to Canada with Philip for a visit here and in Nova Scotia with her parents.

Mr. Rossiter expects to return to the Dominican Republic for duty on August 16 but is not sure yet if the main branch of which he is to be manager will be open even then. Mrs. Rossiter and the children may accompany him, but in any event they will go back to Puerto Rico to await developments.

WATER SCARCE

It was different in Santo Domingo though with no electricity for a week and water a scarce commodity. Oddly, food was no problem as the foreign section was well supplied. However, medical attention was

Summerside Man Dies Suddenly

SUMMERSIDE — The death of one of Summerside's more popular citizens, Gerald Ferno Rogers, 217 Convent Street, occurred suddenly here late yesterday afternoon.

"Bud", as he was known to nearly everyone in Summerside, was the son of the late Llewellyn and Mrs. Rogers. He was 47 years old.

He was at the time of his death an elder in Trinity United Church here and an active member of the church's Men's Association.

Mr. Rogers was ticket agent for Eastern Provincial Airways and for the old Maritime Central Airways, whose service he joined in 1941, before its takeover by EPA.

He married Eleanor Baglio, formerly of Charlottetown, in 1944.

Surviving are his wife and two daughters, Patricia and Paula; his mother; three brothers, Arthur of Fredericton, N.B., Ralph who is living in England and Gordon at home; three sisters, Claudia in Montreal, Ruth in Moncton and Marion in Germany.

FEARED MYSTERIOUS EYE

Several old ladies are reported to have taken to having their baths fully clothed when Roentgen discovered X-rays in 1895.

QUEBEC TRAVEL GROUP ARRIVES

Fourteen high school students from Rouyn, Que., arrived in Charlottetown Tuesday afternoon as part of the federal-provincial youth travel program. This group is the first of three to be guests of the provincial government. Two other groups are expected to arrive from Manitoba and Saskatchewan in August. The Quebec members will stay for a week during which time they will be shown various points of interest on the island. From the left are Michel Provencher, Jacqueline Trudel and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Bilodeau, chaperones for the Island visitors.

Souris Exhibition Spirits Not Daunted By Weather

SOURIS — Although weather conditions yesterday did not favor the Souris Fisheries Exhibition and Regatta, they failed to daunt the spirit of all those who participated to make the first day of this annual two-day affair a success.

A Souris girl, Michelle Peters, was crowned Queen of the Sea. She will reign over today's festivities.

Her two princesses were Margaret Sutherland of Red Point and Anne Marie White of Rollo Bay.

The queen is a grade 11 student at Souris Regional High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Peters of Souris. Miss Peters was sponsored by the Souris Lions Club.

TUG-OF-WAR

Tug-of-war preliminaries, scheduled to be held near Breakwater Street, were staged in the sports arena.

Lieut. W. J. MacDonald, who arrived at 7 o'clock to make the draw, was introduced to coaches of the various teams before speaking briefly.

In the lightweight division, St. Peter's went against Red Point with Souris Line Road drawing the bye into the finals. The Red Point team defeated the St. Peter's team in two consecutive pulls of 55 seconds and a longer exciting pull of 90 seconds.

The St. Peter's team took two consecutive pulls from Rollo Bay in the open division with identical times of one minute and Red Point drew the bye in the final.

EXHIBITION MATCH

In between these pulls, the Red Point farmers, who are the present Island champions, defeated the Souris Line Road lightweight team in an exhibition match.

Today's championship pull is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the sports arena.

The coronation ball, which highlighted the evening's activities, was held in Souris Regional High School auditorium.

Presentations on behalf of the Souris Regatta Association were made by Jacqueline Boylan to judges Mrs. James Haslam, Mr. and Mrs. Fred MacKinnon and Mrs. James Stewart who supervised makeup for the contestants.

A presentation was also made by William Pierce, president and chairman of the regatta association, to Milton B. Fitzpatrick for outstanding service.

Just One Victim Had Big Policy

VANCOUVER (CP) — J. Leonard Whittaker, vice-president of Mutual of Omaha's Canadian head office in Toronto said Monday only one passenger on a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane which exploded and crashed near 100 Mile House, B.C., now is believed to have taken out a pre-flight insurance policy.

Mr. Whittaker said the name of one policy buyer corresponded with a name on the list of 46 victims of the crash, but there is some doubt if it was the same person.

He would not disclose the name or say how much money is involved.

The Sun reported last week there was a $125,000 policy on Douglas G. Edgar, 40, of Surrey, B.C.

The insurance company originally said two passengers held policies with benefits totalling about $200,000.

Warren Lovell, an aviation disaster expert from the United States, said Monday he considered a stewardess' pink nightie found fused to an overnight bag the most important evidence found.

He was unable to forecast what would become of the Ontario Health Services Insurance Act and said he was not categorically opposed to the compulsory feature of universal insurance. But he regarded the advent of publicly operated medical care as inevitable, and said most private plans now being operated would be scuttled.

Mr. Pearson stated the broad criteria of provincially-operated comprehensive, universal and transferable medical insurance when he opened the conference Monday. He filled in details at the second conference session Tuesday. Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Quebec and Saskatchewan announced their immediate approval.

Premiers Stanfield of Nova Scotia and Shaw of Prince Edward Island feared the cost of medical insurance in their provinces, where there is a higher-than-average proportion of elderly people, would be greater than the $29 per capita national average cost on which the federal plan is predicted.

OPPOSES COMPULSION

"If people don't want to rely on the state, they should not be compelled to do so."

"It is unnecessary for government to bear the full cost of medical care insurance (for people with ability to pay)."

"It is most unwise to wipe out all the private insurance companies providing this kind of service."

What can you expect when you bring home your 1965 Rambler Classic?

One very pleased wife. Be prepared for impulsive displays of affection in public. But be firm. Don't let her drive it until next week.

A surprisingly-ambitious son. He'll beg to wash your car at least twice a week. And now that you've bought a swinging car like this, maybe he'll admit you really are "with it!"

New respect from car-park attendants. They might even start calling you "Sir". Try to keep the size of your tips within reason.

A sad service station owner. He'll say things like, "Well, I guess we won't be seeing much of you around here any more." Buy a bottle of pop there once in a while to make him feel better.

Grudging admiration from your neighbour. Deep inside, he knows you're one-upped him again. Don't rub it in by telling him about all the great Rambler features (unless he really insists).

One rather self-satisfied Rambler dealer. He knows you're going to be happy. And so is his family.

Rambler Classic

By the way, you can also expect: spirited, gas-saving performance, effortless handling, luxurious comfort, long-lasting quality, solid construction features including Deep-Dip Rustproofing, Double Safety Brakes, Ceramic-Armoured Muffler and safe, strong rattle-free Single Unit Construction.

See the Rambler American, the larger Classic and the luxurious Ambassador, all at your Rambler dealer's today.
