

THE EXODUS.

UNDER this head the Patriot of June 17th, says:—

"The exodus to the United States from this Province goes on without any diminution. Since the opening of navigation a great number of our young men and women must have left us. We have no means of knowing how many have gone by the Company's steamers, but we find that during the last month, 385 have left this port by the American steamers alone."

Instead of attributing the cause of the exodus to the N. P., the Patriot, this time, slightly alters the tune by adding the following as a concluding remark:—

"The potato bug is already at work in sundry places in New Brunswick, in Quebec, and in the United States."

This is certainly a more seasonable and original way of putting it than to continue, along with other leading Grit journals, in trying to make the public believe that people are leaving this Island for the United States owing to hard times brought about by the National Policy. A change of tactics on the part of Opposition writers has become a matter of necessity. Times have improved, and are still improving, all over the Dominion—much to the regret, we have not doubt, of those who prophesied "nothing short of ruination to the country" under Conservative rule. In this Province, business men cheerfully admit that times are better this year than last, and better last year than the year previous. Owing principally to the good prices received this year for their oats and other grains, and the prospects of good crops, our farmers recognize an improved state of affairs and are encouraged by the outlook. In the starch manufactories which are springing up in various parts of the country, they see a home market for their potatoes—the only article of farm produce that does not bring, at present, a fairly remunerative price. As manufactories are the making of a country, we hope that this new enterprise in our midst will prove mutually profitable to manufacturers and farmers.

Although the means of employment in a small Island like this are not very extensive, no one need be out of work who is able and willing to do an honest day's work for an honest day's wage. Our laboring classes are not unable to find employment. On the contrary, there is a great demand for various kinds of labor—a demand, we venture to say, never before equalled in the history of our Province. Last year there were along our coast, thirty-five lobster canning factories in active operation, employing about twelve hundred hands, that is to say about five hundred men and seven hundred girls, boys and women. Numerous additional factories have been built during the present year. A new one at the mouth of St. Peter's Bay, belonging to an American Company, employs about seventy hands. All along our coast, from Campbell's Cove, at East Point, to West Cape, new lobster factories have been started the present season, and not less than three thousand of our people are employed in this industry alone.

It will thus be seen that the fact of a number of our young men and maidens leaving the Island for the United States is not due to hard times here. There is a certain class of people, who, never satisfied with doing well enough at home, are constantly looking abroad with the hope of doing better. To that class belongs the large majority of persons who go to the United States from the Lower Provinces, to return after a year or two better dressed, and, perhaps, wiser, but we regret to say it, in too many cases, not better men. We began this article by quoting from our neighbor the Patriot. Here is what we find in that paper of the 19th inst. Our readers will mark that, contrary to the example of running down Canada and praising up the United States—set him by the Leaders of the party of which he is such an ardent admirer—the editor of the Patriot, after all, seems inclined, unconsciously or otherwise, to do justice to his native land, while he publishes truths not very complimentary to that much-landed country—the United States. He publishes two letters—the one from a resident of the North West Territories, the other from a young Islander at Leadville, Colorado. Of the former he says, it was written by an observant and educated lady, and may be taken as a disinterested expression of opinion. "The Canadian emigrant speaks of a settlement in which nature has been generous and which is peopled by quiet, honest and industrious people. The Colorado adventurer has a different story to tell," so says the Patriot.

And now, for the special benefit of any of our young men who contemplate leaving home to seek their fortune in Colorado, we reprint a few sentences from the letter already referred to.

"Some of the Island papers contain flattering accounts of this place, and we read of the bone and sinew leaving for this land of promise. There are hundreds here already, who curse the day they left the land of their birth to seek wealth on these mountains. The press of Leadville would almost convince the reader that this was a kind of heaven. It is stated by those who ought to know that the press here is paid by those interested to write favorably of Leadville. I am sorry that some of our Island papers have lauded this place a little too much. I understand there are many who intend leaving the Garden of the St. Lawrence, for here. To such I would say, don't rush. There is ample scope here for random slings at giant wrongs. Judging from the number of idlers in this camp I have no hesitation in warning Islanders not to be in a hurry to exchange their comfortable homes and green fields, with sweet birds among the bowers, for these snow capped mountains where even the melodious song of the owl would be cheering."

These are the words of one whose personal observation and experience enable him to know whereof he writes. We would merely say to our fellow Islanders who intend leaving home for the purpose of seeking wealth and bettering their condition: ponder well over the important step you are about to take. If your circumstances are such that you must leave the Island, there is no necessity of your leaving Canada, for our own great North West offers advantages and inducements to settlers not to be met with in any other part of the world.

N. B. and P. E. Island Methodist Conference.

(Special Correspondence of the Examiner.)

SABBATH SCHOOL MEETING was held in the Exmouth Street Church. Rev. Mr. Chapman presided. Report was read by Rev. Robert Wilson. He gave statistics showing that there were 157 schools, with 1,098 officers and teachers, 8,565 scholars, and 14,104 volumes in the libraries. Collected for missions $932.83, for school purposes, $2,283.37, and for General S. School Fund, $41.66. Speeches bearing on Sabbath School work were made by Revs. Wm. Dobson, C. W. Hamilton, and J. Howie. The meeting was closed with the doxology and benediction.

FOURTH DAY.

After usual devotional exercises, permission was granted, on motion of Rev. Dr. Pope, for Rev. George Steele to have three months leave of absence for the purpose of visiting England.

Dr. Pickard brought up the Book Room affairs. A committee was appointed to prepare a suitable minute thereon for entry in the Journal.

Rev. H. McKewen, ex-President, moved that the Rev. James Burns, who was 18 years in the Eastern British America Conference, but who had to leave through ill health, be now received into the Conference. Rev. Howard Sprague, moved an amendment that he be not received. There was a long and able debate, but the amendment was carried by 41 against 15 votes. The afternoon being given up to Committees, there was no session.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

SIR,—I do not hesitate to pronounce the article in Saturday's Patriot headed "The Real Tax Curse," the most garbled and untruthful that could be conceived. The Patriot states that "every dealer in Canadian manufactured goods will tell the enquirer that they have all—some slightly and some very considerably—increased in price since the imposition of the 'real tax curse,' the N. P." Will the Patriot get one "dealer in Canadian manufactured goods" to justify his assertion? I venture the assertion that he cannot produce in his columns, over the signature of any dealer in these goods, who has any regard for his character for veracity, anything to confirm his untruthful statement. Take farm implements for instance. There is not a farmer in the country but knows that labor saving machines and implements of all kinds, are much cheaper now than they were before the N. P. tariff came in force. The same reduction, not increase, in prices, will apply to manufactured goods of nearly every description, and yet so callous has the Patriot grown in the art of misrepresentation, and so indifferent has he become as to whether he publishes facts or falsehoods, especially on that awful bugbear, the N. P., that he will tell his readers that which every sensible man must know to be utterly untrue. Yours truly,

A DEALER. June 29, 1880.

ALBERTITE.—What promises to be a valuable find is the discovery of a large vein of albertite near Menaramook, N. B. For some time workmen have been engaged boring, as an experiment, and they are fully satisfied that the article will prove very productive and remunerative when worked.—St. John Telegraph.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."
