NAKED CUBS

Black bear cubs have no fur at birth and usually weigh less than one pound although the mothers regularly weigh 300 pounds.

Detection Is Big Problem For Anti-Submarine Force

OTTAWA (CP) — Commodore Robert Welland, assistant chiefof naval staff for air and war fare, says that improved detection is more important to Canada's anti-submarine forces than nuclear weapons.

Writing in the current issue of Canadian Shipping, Commodore Welland says:

"These (nuclear) weapons should achieve by brute force what very clever electronics can probably accomplish in a homing torpedo.

"Nuclear weapons are unlikely ever to be regarded as an ultimate weapon in submarine hunting, as even the largest can have but a few thousand yards lethal range on a submarine.

"Moreover, the fallout will not be an underwater hazard and the sea will repair itself in a few minutes.

"The real trick is, and will be, to find the rabbit. . . .

FUTURE ASSURED

"The submarine assures its future owing to the difficulties inherent in locating it in the big ocean, or for that matter in quite restricted and shallow waters."

Commodore Welland's view on nuclear weapons tends to clash with that of Gen. Charles Foulkes, retired chairman of the chiefs of staff committee.

Gen. Foulkes has said Canadian maritime forces "require nuclear depth charges and nuclear torpedoes — without them they cannot fully carry out their job of trying to prevent nuclear submarines bombarding Canada and the United States."

Commodore Welland says real progress in solving the submarine problem lies in the realm of pure and applied research.

"There are great gaps in our knowledge: The nature of the sea itself, its peculiar effect on sound waves, its apparent near-impenetrability to electromagnetic waves, the ocean currents, the bottom topography . . . This is a condensed list."

EARLY ASSEMBLY

England's first parliament was an assembly of four knights from each county called together in 1264.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	?

What would you now bid with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠KJ964 ♥Q7 ♦J9542 ♣10
2. ♠AJ75 ♥K8 ♦KJ64 ♣J93
3. ♠KQ82 ♥954 ♦K93 ♣Q72
4. ♠AQ862 ♥53 ♦AKJ ♣974
5. ♠AK9643 ♥J6 ♦8 ♣K953

1. Pass. You can't fight City Hall. Obviously, there is no game in this deal when you have a sub-par hand and partner shows minimum values by simply repeating his suit. Since there is at most only a part score involved, the question is where and at what level the part score lies.

If you were to bid two diamonds in an effort to find a better spot than two clubs, partner would be forced to bid again and this might lead to an even worse position. For example, partner might bid three clubs. The odds are that North has a six-card suit when he rebids two clubs and it is better to let well enough alone.

2. Three notrump. Since we have an opening bid facing an opening bid and a hand very suitable for notrump play, we contract directly for game. A two notrump bid would not be forcing and partner might pass.

A two diamond bid, while it would force partner to speak again, is rather pointless, since the ultimate goal is obviously three notrump. It would serve only to help the opponents in their defense.

3. Three clubs. Despite partner's signoff, there is still a chance for game. It may be that our club raise will stimulate him to undertake a three notrump contract. While the two club rebid by North puts his hand in the minimum class, even so, there are upper and lower levels for signoff bids. Of course, North is free to pass three clubs—and, in most cases, he will.

4. Two diamonds. It is rather unusual to bid a three-card suit, but there are times when it is necessary to improvise bids because the situation calls for them. No better bid than two diamonds is available. The hope is that partner will not be able to bid two notrump, which, of course, we would gladly raise to three.

5. Three spades. This is forcing and partner must bid again. If he raises to four, well and good. We pass. If he bids three notrump, we bid four clubs, since the hand is not suitable for notrump play. Partner cannot pass at this point.

It is better to jump to three spades than four clubs. The opportunity to play for a tentrick game contract should not be by-passed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
