Island Odds and Ends

The American Government has spent billions of dollars building a defensive wall to contain Communism in Europe, Asia, in the Near and Far East, and on this continent the United States has financed gigantic defence projects. Even in this small Province the huge American expenditure has had its effect, by way of the great new air-base in Labrador. For the past four or five years many Islanders have participated in the construction of this mammoth undertaking, sometimes as many as two hundred in a single summer. It has been estimated roughly that workers from the Province have drawn well over $500,000 in wages from this source. This is a mere drop in the bucket compared to the total amount spent, approximately set semi-officially at $140,000,000.

Even this year with the job tapering off, and the working force reduced to about 1500 from a high of two years ago of 4000, about $17,000,000 will have been spent. Uncle Sam has a deep pocket and the old man with the chin whisker is no miser.

Chances are that the fifty or so men working for the Anglin-Norcross Company on the new Federal building will have a long holiday during the Christmas-New Year season. It is said the job will close down sometime around Dec. 21st or 22nd, and re-commence on Monday, Jan. 3rd. There are, of course, three holidays in this period, anyway, Christmas, Boxing Day and New Year's.

No one can forecast what effect the new highway at North River will have on the fishery. At the moment it apparently is having no ill effects whatever. On the contrary fishermen, who have been watching the Milton stream with that mournful closed season look, report more and bigger fish than have been seen thereabouts for some years. This late "run" certainly moved in before the river was dammed, and fishermen in general are wondering if the trout will ascend to fresh water as easily next year. It is known that the authorities have plans which will preserve the traditional right-of-way of the trout, to and from their ancient spawning grounds. That the Trans-Canada Highway is important no one will deny, but many people rate the sea highway for trout, leading to Milton, almost as necessary. It is to be hoped the latter will be broad and easy to travel.

The weather is no respecter of people, events, or things in general. It condemns thousands of Canadians to idleness during the winter months and no one has come up with a solution for seasonal unemployment as yet. But not only men are affected; hundreds of cars are likewise unemployed while winter reigns, not to speak of hundreds of coast-wise ships and small boats. The island is affected by this close-down of shipping, but so also is the mighty St. Lawrence River, and thence, the Great Lakes.

Incidentally Charlottetown has less unemployment as this November draws to a close than it had a year ago, according to figures kept month to month, by the Charlottetown National Employment Office.

Perhaps because its "Islanders" are the current leaders of the Maritimes' most pretentious hockey loop there is renewed interest here in the game in Charlottetown. There have been no over-crowded attendance at the Forum hockey games recently. Counter-attractions such as curling, bowling and bridge parties compete with hockey these days, not to speak of the ever popular movies. But it is a grand game and something will have gone from the Canadian scene if the day of the game, when the full-throated roar, which follows a score by the home team, is heard no more in the land.

However, detectives said Friday a preliminary investigation they have all ruled out any link between him and the mysterious stranger of two immigrant women.

In the strangling cases, $7,000 in reward money still is unclaimed. Trenton was accused in connection with an attack on Mary Harcourt on a driveway outside her MacNaughton road home early Friday.

The get-together was highlighted by a presentation which Postmaster Capt. J. J. Connolly, made to Mr. Brown on behalf of the various branches of the service. Speaking briefly, Captain Connolly touched on the many qualities of heart and mind which characterized Mr. Brown and eminently fitted him for the position he held. "His unfailing courtesy to all from the youngest child to the most prominent business man, from aged ladies to the tourists with whom he had dealings in the summer season, marked him as a gentleman," Captain Connolly said.

"We staff members are fully aware of the courtesy and affability which dominated his life with us, and many others who have passed through the office in an official capacity. I think it is most fitting, and aside from the fact that he has accepted retirement, a great pleasure, to present this little token of our esteem, in the hope that we will, with other citizens, enjoy his friendship for many years to come."

The musical part of the program was provided by Garry Chipman and his father Jackie Chipman, both contributing violin solos. Present and former members of the Post Office staff were also heard in song and readings.

Aged French Farmer Convicted Of Murdering Englishman And Family

(By Pierre Legros)
DIGNE, France (AP)—A seven-man French jury has convicted Gaston Dominici, 77-year-old hill country farmer, of murdering three members of a titled British family Aug. 5, 1952. It sentenced him to die on the guillotine. Sir Jack Drummond, 61, British wartime goods expert; his wife, Lady Ann Drummond, 61, 11-year-old daughter Elizabeth, were slain as they camped near the Dominici farm in the south-eastern French Alpine foothills. The prosecution said the parents were shot to death around midnight with an American-made carbine and the little girl was bludgeoned with the butt of the same weapon about three hours later. The gnarled, whiskered old farmer showed no emotion. Dominici had admitted the crimes to police after two of his sons accused him and after he had been grilled for 48 hours. Later he retracted the confession and maintained his innocence throughout the 11-day trial.

GRABBED BY POLICE
Before the trial, the authorities took Dominici to the scene for reenactment of the crime. He tried to throw himself over a railroad bridge, but police grabbed him. As he faced the court Sunday, Dominici had on the same blue suit, blue shirt and blue tie he wore throughout the trial. His wife, Yvette Dominici, 75, sat quietly. Only one of his nine children, Clovis, was in the courtroom. Clovis had accused his father of the killings. Gustave, the other son who had accused his father, later retracted the accusation.

No date was set for the execution. This is done by the ministry of justice in Paris.

Union Chief Advocates Subsidies For Railways To Improve Conditions

CALGARY (CP)—Frank Hall, chairman of Canada's non-operating railway unions' policy-making body, Saturday advocated rail subsidies "to bring working conditions of railway employees in line with those in other Canadian industries."

Mr. Hall, who heads the unions' 100-man general conference, was chairman of the negotiating committee which dealt with the railways in talks leading up to arbitration by Chief Justice Gordon Sloan of British Columbia.

Mr. Hall's statement was his first to the press since Chief Justice Sloan handed down his recommendations last Monday in the contract dispute between four railroads and 145,000 non-operating employees.

He announced that 40,000 operating employees would be represented at a general rail union policy committee meeting planned for January to combat "long-drawn out delay in coming to settlements."

Mr. Justice Sloan's findings, binding on both the railways and the 17 non-operating unions, gave workers paid by the hour five paid statutory holidays a year, or double rate in lieu of the time off.

Although not empowered to recommend on the point, he said he felt bound to express the opinion that the national economy should absorb part of the burden now carried entirely by the railroads in shipping Canadian wheat at low rates fixed at the turn of the century.

"The chief justice's report supports the position we took in the beginning," said Mr. Hall, "which is that both wages and working conditions of our people are substantially in comparison with other industries."

Fire Damage At Southport Checked

A City fire pumper under command of Deputy Chief J. S. Walker at 10:20 Saturday night sped to Southport in response to a fire which threatened to destroy the modern frame dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Edison Nelson.

The Nelson family was in Charlottetown at the time of the outbreak which was discovered by Mr. Edward MacPail who lives across the road. Neighbors were quickly alerted and did all they could to prevent the spread of the fire until the arrival of the pumper.

The fire was confined to the basement and the first floor and it is reported that for the quick response of City firemen the dwelling and its contents would have been a complete loss.

On arrival of the City Department a hose was run from an artificial lake on the property of Mr. MacPail and this supply proved adequate to save the dwelling from destruction and to prevent damage to an adjoining barn.

The Nelson family consisting of the mother, father and three children were taken into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reardon. Damage to the dwelling alone is estimated to be in the vicinity of $2,000. Until extensive repairs are made the house will be uninhabitable.

Hold Clerk For Attempted Rape

TORONTO (CP)—Police are holding John Trenton, 25-year-old stockbroker's clerk, on a charge of attempted rape involving an attractive 24-year-old school teacher from suburban Leaside. They also questioned him about other recent attacks on women.

However, detectives said Friday a preliminary investigation they have all ruled out any link between him and the mysterious stranger of two immigrant women.

In the strangling cases, $7,000 in reward money still is unclaimed. Trenton was accused in connection with an attack on Mary Harcourt on a driveway outside her MacNaughton road home early Friday.

WARRANT CHARGES PAIR WITH MURDER

ASHLAND, Me. (AP)—A warrant was issued Friday charging two men with murder of an Indian woman whose frozen body was found in an Ashland field.

County attorney Melvin Anderson named the pair as Ralph Miller, 50, of Monticello and Lester Smith, 52, of Sheridan. They will be arraigned in Caribou municipal court today.

Anderson said a medical examiner told him that 40-year-old Mrs. Lucy Newell's death was caused by a ruptured kidney "due in part to a brutal beating."

Mrs. Newell, a former resident of Portland, lived on the Micmac reservation in Victoria county, N.B. Two hunters found the body Thursday. The face was bruised and there was a severe head wound. The woman's dress was torn at the neck.

Presents Trophy At Gyro Dinner Party

On Saturday night the Charlottetown Gyro Club held a dinner party at the Queen Hotel with Gene Goto, 2nd lieutenant-governor of District VI as special guest.

The purpose of Mr. Goto's visit was to honor the local club and present to it the cup won at Cleveland, Ohio in International competition for internal extension. The Gyros and Gyroettes with president Mike Campbell and Mrs. Goto leading, followed by 2nd Lt. Goto, Gov. Goto, Mrs. Campbell were piped to the dining room by young Barry MacGillivray stringing rendering "The Road To The Isles."

Mr. Goto warmly congratulated the local club on winning International recognition and urged its members to strive for even greater honors and to aim at winning the trophy at St. Andrews where the International Convention is being held this year. President Mike, in accepting the trophy for the club, thanked all the Gyros for their support and loyalty for he said "without each one doing his bit, we could not have won this honor."

Past president, Emmett MacDonnell presented Mrs. Goto with a beautiful bouquet of roses on behalf of the Gyros and Gyroettes.

Barry McGillivray entertained the club immediately after dinner and once again led the parade from the dining room. Major R. D. McGillivray was a guest.

Fish Exporter, Two Companies Are Indicted

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Three persons, one a wealthy Canadian fish exporter, and two fish companies were indicted secretly nine months ago by a federal grand jury here for smuggling tullibees and whitefish into the United States at Noyes, Minn., and Bemis, Minn., George E. MacKinnon, U.S. district attorney, revealed last Friday.

The indictments, based on violation of the customs and pure food laws, were made public after arrest Friday in Detroit of Gudmund Finbaggason Jonasson, Winnipeg fish exporter. His bond was set at $75,000 in a court order issued here.

Indicted also on the conspiracy charge were Louis Vitale of Los Angeles; Los Angeles Smoking and Curing Company, Los Angeles, of which Vitale is president; Nathan Fisher, Green Bay, Wis., who is a partner in Fisher Brothers Fisheries, and Keystone Fisheries, Ltd. of Winnipeg, of which Jonasson is the head.

CONTROL CHAIN REACTION

Experiments in several laboratories suggested that the enormous energy available for explosives in uranium, and Fermi was chosen by physicists taking part in the experiments to confer with representatives of the U. S. Navy department in March 1939.

In that conference, he suggested that by slowing fission-released neutrons a controlled chain reaction could be achieved.

During the Second World War experiments were pushed and large government funds allocated to development of Fermi's idea, and on Dec. 2, 1942, Fermi himself, directed activation of the first experimental pile at the University of Chicago, calculating the rise of the reaction with a slide rule as 40 colleagues, awed at what they were doing, eased safety rods from the passive pile.

It was his announcement, "the reaction is self-sustaining," which opened the atomic age. Two and one half years later, the atomic bombs were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, unleashing the most terrible weapons known to that time.

Tourist Expansion Accompanying Progress In Highway Improvement

By Gerald Freeman
Canadian Press Staff Writer
If the trans-Canada highway in Prince Edward Island works as it's confidently expected to do, before long there will be more tourists than natives here during the summer.

The tourist trade already is booming on this Island Province and officials and organizations are thinking up new ways to increase it.

Intensive publicity raised the tourist figures nearly five per cent in 1954. Next year special events like Charlottetown's centennial celebrations, with baskets of flowers hanging above traffic in the city streets, are expecting to boost it "even higher."

"It's going to be the biggest year the city ever had," says George Fraser, director of the provincial tourist bureau.

Even this year the 89,000 resident Islanders barely outnumbered the 90,000 tourists who came by railway and highway to put $5,000,000 into the provincial income.

Mr. Fraser says the Island can't miss on the 74-mile chunk of trans-Canada highway that will curve through gently rolling farmland between the ferry terminals at Wood Islands and Borden.

The Tourist Bureau plans to push a "circle tour" between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick by way of Prince Edward Island. Visitors would put their cars aboard a ferry at Caribou, near Pictou, N. S., for a 24-hour trip across the Northumberland Strait. They would motor west through Charlottetown on their way to Borden, from where another 10-mile ferry trip lands them at Cape Tormentine on the New Brunswick shore.
