

Buyer meets seller with Guardian Want Ads. Dial 8506 ask for classified ad taker, for quick results.

Cloudy with a few clear intervals, scattered snowflurries; light winds. Low-high 10-20. Sunday Snowflurries.

"Covers Prince Edward Island Like The Dew"

CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA, SATURDAY, JANUARY 10, 1959

12 PAGES

NOT MORE THAN FIVE CENTS

VOL. LXXII NO. 8

Authorized as Second Class Mail by the Post Office Department, Ottawa

REBELS EXECUTE POLICE CAPTAIN

Two members of a rebel firing squad draw their guns on Port Police Captain Alejandro Garcia Olayon of Santiago during execution in Santa Clara. Garcia Olayon was sentenced to death by a revolutionary court after being found guilty of the killing of a young revolutionary Arsenio Escalona whose body was found floating in the bay after being tortured. Garcia Olayon was arrested when he tried to escape in a yacht.

Tribute Paid To Canada By U.S. Senate

To Quiet Downing St. Before Collapse Comes

By JACQUES POUTEAU LONDON (Reuters) — Plans were made Tuesday for Prime Minister Macmillan to vacate 10 Downing Street before the historic three-story building caves in from old age.

Macmillan and his staff will move their headquarters to nearby admiralty buildings, according to present plans, while the smog-darkened brick residence built in the 17th century gets a major facelift.

No date has been set for the move, but each day the chances of the prime minister crashing through an old, termite-eaten floor increase.

Macmillan was appalled at conditions of the structure when he moved in with his family two years ago in succession to Sir Anthony Eden. He set up a committee to investigate.

It confirmed his worst suspicions. In a report submitted last year he said 10 Downing Street was in serious danger of collapsing. Floors in the state rooms were so weakened by age and termites that a limit had to be set on the size of official parties.

BUILDER A CROOK

Seventeenth-century diarist Samuel Pepys described the builder as "a perfidious rogue" who was trying to make a fast pound on speculation.

The residence has been altered and patched up through the years, but up to this century it hadn't even a bathroom. Prime Ministers were forced to sit in tubs filled by hot water brought in kettles.

Margot Asquith, wife of Henry Asquith, was outraged at the lack of a bathroom when she moved in upon her husband's becoming prime minister in 1908. She had the situation remedied, but even today there is a shortage of bathrooms both in the residential quarters and state sections.

Macmillan has ordered major structural alterations. Out of respect for tradition and the Englishman's love for the continuity of institutions, the outer facade of the building will be preserved.

Intervention Is Asked In Freight Rate Issue

The following telegram addressed to the Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, Prime Minister of Canada, Ottawa, was despatched yesterday by Premier A. W. Matheson: "The people of this province are alarmed at the announcement that the railways are prepared to request the Board of Transport Commissioners for a further freight rate increase stop Any freight rate increase is bound to add to inflationary pressures stop Would you not try to prevail upon the railways to refrain from requesting a further freight rate increase at this time stop Since your Government has announced its willingness to investigate the entire transportation situation I believe such a request on your part would be proper and reasonable"

Fisheries Minister To Open Canadian Fair At Jamaica

OTTAWA (Special) — Hon. J. Angus MacLean, minister of fisheries, leaves Ottawa Tuesday to open the Canadian Trade Fair at Kingston, Jamaica, on Jan. 16.

Mr. MacLean will represent the Canadian government at the opening of the fair, which is designed to acquaint Jamaicans with the products available in Canada.

The fisheries minister leaves Ottawa for Jamaica on Tuesday and will return Saturday Mr. MacLean will make a brief address at the opening of the fair. Aimed at building Canadian trade, the fair will feature exhibits by 93 Canadian firms, their products ranging from women's dresses to automobiles.

Airline Strike Said Settled

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines said Friday night the company expects to resume service on Sunday at 7 a.m. EST.

The spokesman said plans for resumption were based on assurances from the national mediation board in Washington that a strike-ending agreement had been achieved.

HEADS ROAD BUILDERS

HALIFAX (CP) — D.R. McKay of New Glasgow was elected president of the Nova Scotia Road Builders Association here Friday, succeeding H. H. Latimer of Truro. Vice-president is W.W. Spicer of Newport, Hants County. Directors include Fraser Martell of North Sydney.

Ontario Plans First Seaport At Monsonee

TORONTO (CP) — Moosonee, a community near the shores of James Bay, is to become Ontario's first seaport.

Premier Frost announced Friday work will start immediately in creating a port out of the settlement on the Moose River, 15 miles south of James Bay. He estimated the cost of $5,000,000.

Engineers were already on the job.

He said the port will be as good as Churchill, Manitoba's outlet to the sea 800 miles north on Hudson Bay. He said "great industries" could be built there.

Moosonee is the northern terminus of the 566-mile provincially-owned Ontario Northland Railway which connects with the CNR at Cochrane and with the CNR and CPR at its southern terminus, North Bay. Twice a week the Polar Bear, a mixed train from Cochrane 186 miles to the south, travels through bushland and muskeg to the community.

Four hundred miles to the north are the Blecher Islands, said to hold millions of tons of ore containing between 35 and 45 per cent iron.

London-Montreal Record Is Set

MONTREAL (CP) — A British Overseas Airways Corporation Comet IV jet airliner set a London-to-Montreal speed record Friday, a BOAC spokesman announced.

The Comet arrived over Montreal airport at nearby Dorval seven hours and 22 minutes after it took off from London. The previous record was eight hours and 32 minutes.

Argument Flares Over Control Of Wood Roads In Newfoundland

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP) — A and gate houses leading into all five woods divisions.

He said RCMP backed by an order from the attorney-general's department Thursday took control of the woods road leading into the Terra Nova division. "We are using legal methods and not force of any kind," the official said.

Basic issues were no closer to settlement than they were December 31 when loggers struck to back demands for a wage increase and a shorter work week. There were about 1,200 loggers in the woods at the time.

Meanwhile a company official reports "we are moving step by step to regain control of all gates

Mr. Hall denied a charge that IWA men were stopping A.N.D. supervisory personnel from entering woods divisions.

At the same time the presidents of two Newfoundland locals of a large international union have taken opposing sides on the IWA's stand.

President Walter Hann of Local 6, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers said his 1,200 members at Bowaters Corner Brook pulp and paper plant would give IWA loggers as much financial assistance as possible.

Visiting international representative Ralph Wade said at Corner Brook his union has a working agreement with the IWA and Local 6 has no choice but to support the IWA. The agreement signed last September is expected to result in a merger of the two unions.

However, president A. A. Kelly of Local 63 in Grand Falls said "we are opposed to the IWA and its executives and its tactics. . . . His local has 800 members.

Support for the IWA came from the General Laborers' Union which is affiliated with the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America (CLC) and the Newfoundland Lumbermen's Union which is affiliated with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America (CLC).

Independent contractors hauled wood past IWA picket lines Friday for the second straight day. They were escorted by RCMP and no violence was reported. It was not known immediately how many deliveries were made to the company.

Earlier in the week pickets turned back 10 trucks and dumped wood from some of them. The attorney general's department said charges will be laid.

The loggers want their work week reduced from 60 to 54 hours and a five cent wage increase over the next two years. The demands would give them a basic hourly wage of $1.22 instead of the present $1.05.

Ike Challenges Democrats To Aid In Peace Efforts

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower challenged an opposition Democratic Congress Friday to join him in quest of military and economic strength for the United States and a just peace for a fearful world.

These were the great goals set forth for the year ahead in the presidential State of The Union message. In general terms, Eisenhower outlined a formidable but "sensible posture of defence" along with a balanced budget and war against inflation.

In these days when the latest bombers "cost their weight in gold," Eisenhower said, "we can afford everything we clearly need, but we cannot afford one cent of waste."

ASKS CO-OPERATION

The president appealed to the legislators to work with him to keep in balance the $77,000,000 budget he is sending to them Jan. 19. If this is done, he said, there is hope for tax reforms "in the foreseeable future."

N.S. Tuna-Fishing Contest Is Cancelled For This Year

By ED SMITH

Canadian Press Staff Writer WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP) — Hardy South Shore fishermen battling one of the toughest winters in the history of lobster fishing here absorbed another blow Friday with philosophical Acadia calm.

The announcement that the International Tuna Cup match, held here annually was to be suspended for 1959, generally brought a "we knew it was to be so" reaction. Complacency however, was tempered with the unanimous belief that the suspension was temporary; that the mysterious tuna would reappear; that the world's wealthiest deep sea fishermen would have bigger and better catches.

The suspension announcement by the match directors meeting in New York was openly predicted at the end of the 1956 season. Then eight competing nations managed to land only four fish.

The lean cycle had apparently begun the year before when three tuna were boated by seven teams.

LONE CATCH WINS

In 1957 there were three again with Mexico winning on the strength of its lone catch—a 655 pounder. And Mexico remained the defending champion at the end of last year's competition when four teams tried but couldn't get a single bite.

It was the first fishless tournament in 15, a series that had started in 1937, had an eight year curtailment because of the war, and reached its climax in 1949 when five teams hoisted 72 fish weighing more than 13 and a half tons.

"We hope the good times will be back," said Israel Pothier, chief of the Wedgeport Tuna Guides Association. "Now, it's going to be a little tough but most of us will adjust."

Mr. Pothier echoed the sentiment of match directors' chairman E. A. Manson with the comment that it was "unfair to invite teams from half-way across the world unless we can give them something."

COLD CASH LOSS

In hard, cold cash, the tournament "recess" will mean a loss to this area of many thousands of dollars. Hotels alone stand to lose between $20,000 and $30,000 in the first two weeks of September.

Deputy mayor Hubert Lynch of Yarmouth, 12 miles away, said it was "tough blow" to the area and the province as a whole.

Mr. Lynch who runs a mens' clothing shop felt the "actual money spent could be considered minor in comparison to the millions of dollars of free advertising the tournament gives this province."

Capt. Lellis Coutreau, 46, is one who is prepared. He suggested last September "there are other fish in the sea."

A White House official interpreted this to mean tax cuts, but not before the 1961 fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1960—a period that spans the next presidential election campaign.

To Senate and House of Representatives members assembled in the house chamber, and to millions who heard him by radio and television, Eisenhower said: "One basic purpose unites us: To promote strength and security, side by side with liberty and opportunity."

The president drew his heaviest applause for jabs at inflation and a pledge to defend the people of Berlin "against any effort to destroy their freedom."

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

HEAVIEST APPLAUSE

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

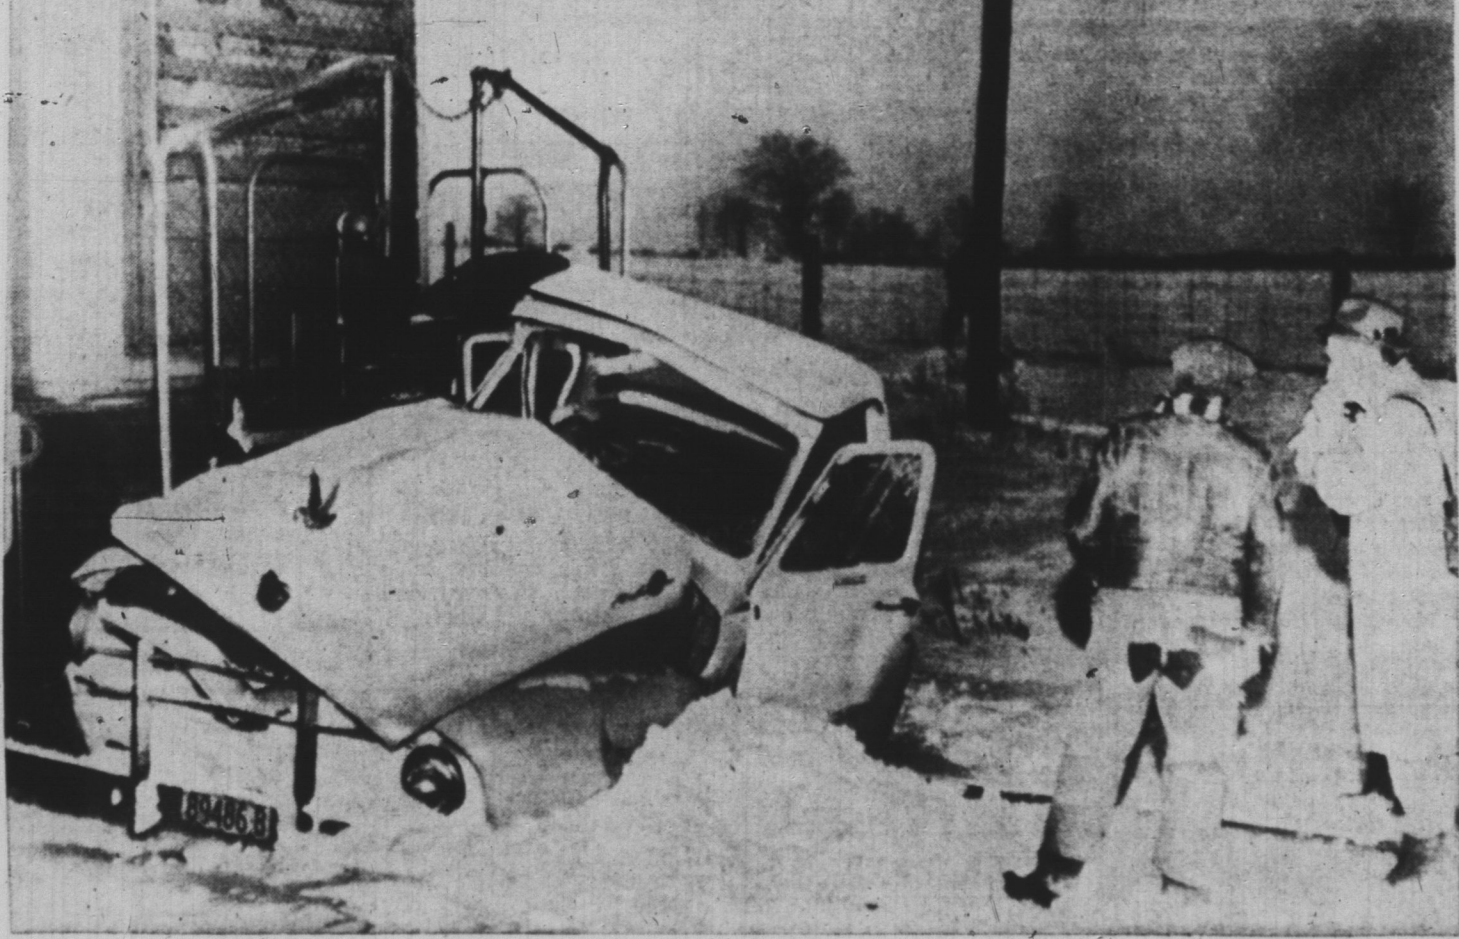

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

Comments after he finished his 5,000-word, 42-minute speech fit into a familiar format. Republicans offered generous praise. Many Democrats found no reason to quarrel with the broad objectives. Some said the speech

EXPLORER'S MOON MAP

LONDON (Reuters) — Leningrad astronomer Alexander Khabarov is working on a map of the moon which will be used for the first landing of a manned rocket, Moscow Radio reported in an English-language broadcast Friday.

The Comet arrived over Montreal airport at nearby Dorval seven hours and 22 minutes after it took off from London. The previous record was eight hours and 32 minutes.

FATHER, THREE CHILDREN KILLED

A father and his three young children died in the crumpled cab of this pickup truck when it was struck by a freight train nine miles northeast of Kitchener, Ont. Wednesday. Howard Rudy, 44, had picked up his two oldest children, Nancy, 11, and Phyllis Mrs. Rudy survives. (CP Wirephoto).

was struck by a freight train nine miles northeast of Kitchener, Ont. Wednesday. Howard Rudy, 44, had picked up his two oldest children, Nancy, 11, and Phyllis Mrs. Rudy survives. (CP Wirephoto).

was struck by a freight train nine miles northeast of Kitchener, Ont. Wednesday. Howard Rudy, 44, had picked up his two oldest children, Nancy, 11, and Phyllis Mrs. Rudy survives. (CP Wirephoto).

Parliamentary Delegation Tendered Warm Welcome

WASHINGTON (CP) — Ranking members of the United States Senate Friday paid Canada an impressive tribute as they saluted nine Canadian parliamentarians here to seek ways of improving relations between the U.S. and her northern neighbor.

Brisk rounds of applause broke out as the august upper chamber suspended its regular business proceedings for 10 minutes to welcome on its floor a Canadian parliamentary delegation led by Mark Drouin, Speaker of the Canadian Senate, and Roland Michener, Speaker of the Commons.

More than a dozen members rose to bespeak their affection for Canada and her people, and Lyndon Johnson (Dem. Tex.), Senate majority leader, said he was happy to welcome such "able and gifted neighbors" because he knew of no country that was "more respected" than Canada.

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

press conference to outline their progress here. They return to Ottawa Sunday.

They were introduced to the Senate by Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.), chairman of the four-man Senate group taking part in the talks.

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."

The Senate foreign relations committee, of which he was a member, long had been "keenly aware of the special relations that exist between our two countries and the benefits to both that could come through close relations."

He said resolutions adopted last year by the Canadian Parliament and the U.S. Congress, setting up special committees to study means of providing closer co-operation between the two legislatures, had not come about "by accident."