Testimonial From Duluth, Minnesota.

DEAR MRS. ROSS.—Having tested your "MAGIC HEALER," I wish to express my gratitude to you by this testimonial, which you can use, if you think it will assist you in selling it: Having cut my hand severely with a chisel, the corner of the chisel having entered the palm of my hand, making a long and deep cut, I applied your "MAGIC HEALER" at once, and after three applications I was able to go to work, and in three days the cut was healed up.
Yours truly,
ALONZO H. LAVERS.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Scott Act Statistics.

Sir,—The Dominion Year Book, published for the Department of Agriculture by the Queen's Printer, for 1889, gives the number of country constituencies adopting the Act called the "Canada Temperance Act," but usually known as the Scott Act, because brought before Parliament by Senator Scott, of Ottawa, as seventy-five, and that of city constituencies as seven. In other words, it has been submitted to public opinion in 82 places, and is now in force in but 35—33 counties, and 2 out of 7 cities. In a majority of those 33 counties it is tolerated only, while in 2 it is sold openly; and in the two cities—one of which is Charlottetown—run never held such high carnival. In 1879 Charlottetown adopted the Act by a majority of 584 votes; in 1884 its sale was prolonged by 40 votes, while in 1887 its life was spared by 20 votes only. At this rate, 1891 will see the end of it. Frederickton, N. B., the other Scott Act city, sustained it this year by only 68 votes. Forty-two counties and five out of seven cities have thrown it overboard, we have seen, not because in these places the people are not good temperance folk, but precisely because it is a good for-nothing law and fosters a vile traffic it pretends to destroy. I cannot get at the statistics of convictions for drunkenness for this province under the Act, but the reader can judge from the aggregate number of such convictions in the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, N. S., N. B. and P. E. I., as given in the Year Book:

Year.	Convictions.
1884	8 537
1885	10 427
1886	10 136
1887	10 895
1888	11 922

It will be seen, then, that the Scott Act, while it does not reduce the evil of intemperance, but rather increases it, has lost its raison d'être. It has been productive of more than drunkards, too, for to-day we have perjurers and hypocrites to no end because of it. Their name is legion. Let Scott Act supporters be honest then. As you say, let them commence with themselves. We're sick of cant. We know rum is a curse of the first water. Let them show us how the Scott Act has abated this curse, or give under and let us try some other means to down the evil, as have 47 out of 75 places that have tried it and found it wanting.

SREHTURRAC.

An Evident Injustice.

Sir,—Your correspondent "Consistency" in his zeal for the liquor party in Tuesday's EXAMINER, either knew that he was doing the Rev. Mr. Carruthers an evident injustice, and penning, will I say, a deliberate falsehood, or else he knew little or nothing of the case, as every one who was present at the banquet given in honor of Dr. Anderson can attest, is that there was but one clergyman present, the Rev. Mr. Jones, and he, it will be remembered stated, and in terms too, that had he known that liquors would have been placed upon the table, he certainly for one would have declined the invitation. He assured myself, and other gentlemen in my hearing, that he would take precious good care that he would not allow his friends to catch him in the same trap again. The Rev. Mr. Carruthers, therefore, was not there. If "Consistency" is a gentleman he will immediately make the amende honorable. Thanking you for the opportunity of dealing out to a city clergyman even this small degree of justice, I am, etc.,

FAITH.

Death of a Noted Red Man.

On Monday, December 1st, at Lennox Island, the spirit of John Nockwood, a noted Micmac Chief, started on the trail for the Happy Hunting Grounds—

"To the kingdom of Ponomah,
To the Land of the Hereafter."

John was a splendid specimen of the Noble Red Man, and in his youth might have sat for a portrait of Hiawatha. Tall and straight, with the spruce tree of his native forest, with shoulders wide, strong, fine limbs and brawny chest, his was a noticeable figure at any gathering or in any crowd. In his later years, before disease had wrecked his fine physique, he presented a noble picture of strong manhood. From his broad brow a full shock of iron-grey hair bristled up; his eagle eye and Roman nose, fit facial accompaniments of the firm mouth and massive square jaws; the whole face expressive of dignity and reserved power. No accident of birth, lowly surroundings, or hard fortune, could take away from that countenance the look that "gives the world assurance of a man." In his day of strength John was a famous hunter, and many a wild goose, duck and brant was brought low by his good old army muzzle-loader. He often accompanied the late Judge Pope, John Green, Esq., of Summerside, and other gentlemen on their expeditions when they

"Shot the wild goose flying southward,
On the wing the clamorous wawa;
Oh, no more such noble warriors
Could be found on earth as they were."

Nockwood was an honest man, whose word was his bond, and to his friends true as steel. At the time of his death he had reached the age of sixty-four years—almost the scriptural portion allotted to man. He died mourned alike by the red man and the white, and was often accompanied to the cemetery of Lennox Island, buried in the cemetery of Lennox Island, where to await the inevitable hour when the archangel shall sound his trumpet at the last day.

Dyspeptique—Is not a palliative, but a cure; it first relieves, then controls, and finally entirely subdues the irritation and inflammation of the stomach that causes indigestion and dyspepsia.

The origin of the No. 13 superstition is not exactly known, but it is supposed the misfortunes men met with who never came home until after 12 had something to do with it.

Obituary.

At Morell Rear, on Monday, 24th ult., Mary Ellen, beloved daughter of James and Elizabeth Phelan, in the 21st year of her age. Her untimely death has brought a deep gloom to the hearts of the sorrowing and bereaved family, who will cherish her memory in kindly remembrance in years to come. The esteem in which she was held was evinced by the large number of sorrowing friends and relatives who followed her mortal remains to the parish church, where a Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Mgr. MacDonnell, thence to the cemetery where it was laid to rest. May she rest in peace.

Beloved sister thou hast left us,
Though not by chance was called away,
A Father's voice hath called thee home,
His will be done by us we pray.

She is gone, that faithful sister,
To her happy home above,
Where there is no pain or sorrow,
But all is joy and love.

Odds and Ends.

It is natural that there should be fewer women writers than men. Most ladies would prefer to appear in silk rather than print.

Henry M. Stanley lectured at Chickering Hall, New York, Wednesday evening, to a crowded house and for the first time in public told the full story of the loss of the rear guard.

The New York Tribune says one bank in that city, the name of which is concealed, took $1,700,000 clearing house certificates on Wednesday. There was a scare about time loans, and large lenders helped to increase it. One lender agreed to a time loan of $100,000 at the rate of about 36 per cent. a year.

The Empress Frederick has placed $250,000 at the disposal of the Minister Gossler, to be used in the interests of Prof. Koch, together with the hospital grounds at Lichterfeld.

Sir Mervill Mackenzie has experimented with the lymph on three persons, one suffering from phthisis, and the other two, both boys, from lupus. The patients are progressing favorably.

Pure gold is so soft that it would soon be worn away by use, and it is always alloyed with a varying proportion of copper or silver, usually about one-tenth. Pure gold is said to be twenty-four carats. Thus, 18 carats gold contains eighteen parts of the pure metal in twenty-four, or is three quarters pure.

Mankind has been taught for a century to believe that the Aryan people started in Asia, which has consequently been called in poetry and geography the cradle of the human race. But now we are called on to reconstruct this sacred belief of our childhood and to accept the view that our Aryan ancestors, when they started out on their career of conquering the world, left their primitive home not in Asia, but what is now the southern part of Russia.

The Swiss school hours are very long—twenty-seven hours a week for the primary classes, and only eight weeks' vacation in the year. The studies in these earlier classes comprehend religion, good manners, German, Arithmetic, elements of geometry, natural history, geography, history, singing, drawing, gymnastics, and for the girls, female industry. The girls may skip the geometry class, if the parents so choose. In the secondary schools where the pupils are from twelve to fifteen years of age, the studies are mostly a continuation and repetition of those passed in the primary schools, except that natural history is enlarged upon greatly, especially in its bearings on farming and other industries. More attention, too, is given to gymnastics and drill. These classes are attended thirty-three hours a week, and forty-four weeks in the year, exclusive of much time spent in gymnastics. The course is for three years.

The New Tariff on Eggs.

Some one has advised the Canadian egg raisers to get the eggs from their hens when they command high prices in Boston and New York; and then they won't feel that extra five cents a dozen, which the new tariff imposes.

We think we hear them reply, "well that's pretty poor comfort when the hens and pullets, too, instead of laying are simply standing around looking and asking for more corn." Please keep in mind if you feed them much corn you won't get an egg, that is a certain fact.

If we could only get an egg a day, or even every other day at this season, we would soon get rich, says many a party who keeps hens. John T. Potter, of Swathmore, Pa., offers hints to such that might profitably try.

He writes I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass. "In the contest which began on the 1st of January last, I began under many difficulties. I had never used Sheridan's Condition Powder, and was pretty much out of conceit with any food or powder to make hens lay. My hen-house was not well heated, but for all that I determined to give the matter a full vote and a fair count. I soon increased enough to encourage the use of Sheridan's Condition, prize or no prize. The result proved that I was the sixteenth winner. I kept on using the Powder about three times each week after the first 23 days of this month my 22 Black Minorca Hens did what I should have presumed an impossibility. I will make affidavit that under the influence of your powder, the product was 457 eggs. Now I am fully aware that this means nearly 21 eggs per hen in 23 days; but these 21 eggs facts nevertheless, and facts which would make me the first prize winner could not have occurred during the contest. I challenge the world to excel it, and am willing to enter the list with any who will agree for a prize of $200.00 and to use a given quantity per hen of your incomparable Powder. I would not be without it though it cost five dollars per lb." I. S. Johnson, & Co., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass., will send free to anyone keeping hens full particulars of this year's premium offers on request.
