The Saguenay Country Hits The Jackpot

Within a short span of years, Canada's fabulous Saguenay country has become the world's largest producer of aluminum... one of the world's greatest potentials for hydro-electric power... what may be the world's most abundant source of iron ore.

In June Reader's Digest, Keith Munro tells the dramatic story of how Canada and U.S. combined to bring about this fantastic boom and how the Saguenay territory can become one of the greatest industrial developments in years.
