Bogert, general officer commanding Eastern Army Command. Five Maritime units are in the camp for a week's training. Above are Captain W. Reddin of Fredericton; Major W. H. MacKinnon of Charlottetown, an assessing officer; and Major General Bogert.

Rochford School Handicraft Display Creates Interest

The subject of considerable interest is the handicraft display exhibited at the present time at Rochford Square School, the work of the children from grades one to six. The display consists of sewing cards, weaving cards, simple embroidery designs and the results of their first attempts at printing and art, all constructed by the pupils of grade 1. The grade two's have on display a number of aprons and grade 3 some dolls' quilts and pillows.

Four Youths Appear In Theft Case

Four youths, appearing on charges ranging from theft to illegal possession of stolen goods, highlighted the heavy docket on Monday morning's session of County Magistrate's Court, presided over by Magistrate Gilbert A. Gaudet. One of the youths, who gave his address as Bloor Street in Toronto, Ontario, appeared on four charges of theft. Included in the counts was one charge of over $50, an indictable offence that drew an election trial by the Magistrate. The other three charges were for articles valued at under $50. He pleaded not guilty to all four charges.

Heavy Docket In City Court

Another youth, charged with an indictable offence, that of having possession of stolen goods over $50, knowing them to be stolen, pleaded not guilty to this offence. He elected trial by judge and jury. He is being represented by J.O.C. Campbell, Q.C. A Victory Avenue youth, charged with possession of goods valued at under $50, pleaded not guilty to the charge as did a Spring Park youth appearing on a similar charge. All four will appear in court on Monday, June 23; The Winsloe youth for preliminary hearing and the other three for trial. Allison M. Gillis will represent the Toronto boy and the Spring Park Road youth and Lester O'Donnell the Victory Avenue boy.

BEAVERBROOK DINNER

He described the opening dinner given by Lord Beaverbrook as an outstanding event with Prime Minister MacMillan seated on his left and Winston Churchill as special guest. Sir Winston later presented the four Premiers with a copy of his book, "My Early Days". Premier Matheson along with the other three premiers enjoyed an hour and a half visit at Buckingham Palace with Queen Elizabeth, Prince Phillip and Princess Margaret. Also in attendance at the reception were the Queen Mother and Canada's High Commissioner, Georg Drew and Mrs. Drew.

MET QUEEN MOTHER

During a chat with the Queen Mother, the Premier recalled that she spoke feelingly of her trip to Charlottetown with King George in 1939. She spoke of the beauty of Government Grounds and the hospitality shown them by Governor and Mrs. George D. DeBlois. Referring to his trip to the World's Fair at Brussels, the Premier described the Canadian pavilion as being open on all sides and of unique design. He thought the exhibits of animals and fish should have been live rather than artificial. He was impressed with the guides supplied by the Canadian Government at the Fair.
