RESCUES PLANE TOO

An U.S. army "Mule helicopter lifts a light two-seater plane which crash-landed while on a search flight for another lowned plane. The huge helicopter is shown here as it lifted the small plane from inaccessible terrain near Williamstown, Mass., and carried it and its pilot to a nearby airport.

Busy Day In Queen's County Magistrate's Court Friday

A party charged with fraudulently failing to account for goods in his charge pleaded guilty in Queens County Magistrates court Friday, and was remanded for sentence to Wednesday October 30 by Magistrate Gilbert A. Gaudet. The accused was represented by G. R. Foster.

Another party charged with unlawfully and knowingly having in his possession goods under the value of $50 obtained by the commission of a crime was remanded for one week without a plea being entered. J Elmer Blanchard appeared for the accused

In the case of a party charged with driving whilst intoxicated, the evidence of one witness was heard, and at the request of the Crown and with the consent of counsel of the accused, R.R. Bell, Q.C., Magistrate Gaudet postponed the remainder of the hearing until November 13th. This was done to ensure the presence of a witness in the case who is at present outside the Province.

A plea of guilty was entered by L.P. O'Donnell. counsel for the accused in the adjourned case of a party charged with possession of liquor not purchased on his own individual permit, and Magistrate Gaudet imposed a fine of $20 and costs or ten days.

TEMPERANCE ACT

Other cases arising from infringements of the Temperance Act resulted as follows: a charge of possession of liquor in a place other than residence was adjourned for hearing to Monday, the accused entering a plea of not guilty; adjourned without plea to Wednesday of next week was charge of possession of intoxicating liquor not acquired on accused's own individual permit; a fine of $20 and costs was imposed when an accused pleaded guilty to possession of liquor without being in possession of an individual permit; fines of $25 and costs or 30 days and 20 and costs or 20 days respectively, were levied on two different parties, one of whom pleaded guilty to possession of liquor not purchased at a vendor's, and the other who pleaded guilty to possession of liquor not purchased on his own individual permit.

Infringements of the Highway Traffic Act disposed of yesterday evening by Magistrate Gaudet included one speeder fined $10 and costs or ten days; driving without an operator's licence - 2 charges, each fined five dollars and costs or 5 days; driving without registration - 3 cases - each fined five dollars and costs or five days; failing to drive on the right half of the highway whereever practical fine of five dollars and costs or five days imposed.

HUNTING OFFENCES

Also disposed of at yesterday's session of the Court were two cases involving contraventions of the Migratory Birds Convention Act and the Game Act.

Each accused was charged with (a) unlawfully hunting migratory birds using live decoys; (b) not being in possession of a hunting lience. One party was also charged with using a shotgun holding more than three shells.

Pleas of guilty were entered in respect of all charges by attorneys for the accused, Frederick A. Large, Q.C., and J.O.C. Campbell, Q.C

Fines imposed were as follows: in respect of charge (a) $25 and costs or 30 days; in respect of charge (b) five dollars and costs or five days; in respect of the third charge against the first accused, a fine of $10 and costs or 10 days was levied

The Magistrate ordered that the guns and geese be returned to the accused.

Charged with failure to stop at the scene of an accident an accused pleaded not guilty and his case was ajourned one week for hearing. He was represented by R.R. Bell, Q.C.

Informations were laid by members of the local detachment of the R.C.M.P. and John White, provincial game warden. John P. Nicholson represented the Crown in all cases.

BADDECK, N.S. (CP) — John MacKillop who worked for Dr Alexander Graham Bell when the inventor was conducting experiments on nearby Beinn Breagh mountain, died here Wednesday night. He was 86.

One of Mr. McKillop's duties with Dr. Bell was to tend the sheep which the inventor used in some of his experiments.

Depicts Tourist Trade Great Opportunity For Goodwill

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor-General Vincent Massey said Wednesday night Canada's tourist trade is a "great opportunity" for promoting national understanding and international goodwill.

In an address to delegates of the federal-provincial tourist conference and the Canadian Tourist Association, he stressed the need for Canadians to travel more in their own country and to teach tourists from other countries about Canada.

He also urged Canadians not to spoil the natural charm and dignity of cities and towns by uncontrolled advertising and removal of trees and to preserve places of historical interest.

"If we are to keep a Canadian atmosphere, preserve what is truly Canadian, this will help to accomplish two ends," he said. "It will stimulate our own national consciousness and it will give the visitor what he has come to see—something characteristically Canadian."

He noted that many of Canada's historic buildings disappeared, chiefly through carelessness and neglect, but "we are doing much better now in preserving those that have survived." He specifically mentioned Fort Henry at Kingston, the Citadel at Quebec and reconstructed Fort Macleod in Alberta and Port Royal in Nova Scotia.

Placing particular emphasis on the need of attracting American visitors, the governor - general said "surely we are blind to the implications of our position in the world if we do not grasp the importance of inducing them to come and see us in our own country."

He said all serious visitors wish to see and understand Canadians as a community, to acquire more knowledge of the country, to understand what makes it different from other countries and how Canada remains a coherent entity.

Want N. S. To Build Abattoir

HALIFAX (CP — Officials of Nova Scotia Abattoir Ltd., suggested Friday that the provincial government build a $900,000 abattoir and sell it back to the company to operate. The government asked that the suggestion be put in writing for full study.

Government officials met with representatives of the company to discuss construction of the proposed abattoir. They considered a report by the Arthur D. Little Company which had said the abattoir would have an annual deficit.

Agriculture Minister Haliburton said the Little investigators will make another survey, placing emphasis on beef instead of hogs. Meanwhile, a representative of the Little firm told the meeting that the minimum cost of getting the abattoir in operation would be about $1,600,000. They placed the figure at $2,200,000 in earlier estimates.

The abattoir has been planned for the Halifax area for several years.

Col. Abel Found Guilty as Spy

NEW YORK (AP) — Russian Col. Rudolf I. Abel was convicted Friday of stealing American military and atomic secrets for Moscow. The maximum sentence is death.

He is the first foreign national ever to stand trial for his life on espionage charges in a civilian American courtroom. He also is the highest ranking Soviet agent ever brought to book here

As throughout his trial in Brooklyn federal district court, Abel, 55, seemed only mildly interested in the verdict returned by the jury of nine men and three women. They deliberated three hours and 35 minutes.

Judge Mortimer Byers, who now holds Abel's life in his hands, scheduled sentencing for Nov. 15.

Defence lawyer William B. Donovan, appointed by the court to represent Abel after the Russian government failed to make any move in his defence, said he would withhold a decision on whether to appeal.

Abel, married and the father of a married daughter, slipped into this country illegally from Canada in 1948.

For the next nine years he posed as a nondescript artist, eventually opening a stuio across the street from the courtroom where he went to trial Oct. 3. He lived quietly and discreetly, and turned out a few mediocre oil paintings.

Abels' studio was equipped with short wave rceeivers capable of picking up radio messages from Moscow. It also was geared to turn to sabotage in the event of war.

Abel microfilmed data he obtained and secreted it in hollowed out objects—coins, bolts, pencils, blocks of wood. He used an intricate code. He went under at least four aliases, one of which he appropriated from the birth certificate of an American infant who died in 1902.
