

The Ballad of MARIAN Hall

My eyes have seen the weakening of the good ole Marian Hall
The home of many freshmen, and a happy place for all.
The news just came upon us, as we all sat in our rooms...

"Marian Hall is closing down"

chorous:

Glory, glory what a hellava way to go,
Glory, glory what a hellava way to go
They put us out the door, before we could say more.

"Marian Hall is closing down"

They moved us just across the way, we didn't want to go,
They split us up and put us with the ones we did not know.
What could we do without the friends that we have come to know...

"Marian Hall is closing down"

chorous:

Glory, glory what a hellava way to go,
Glory, glory what a hellava way to go
They put us out the door before we could say more.

"Marian Hall is closing down!"

We didn't care about the heat, or about the bloody cold,
We would have faced all of this if we could keep our home,
But now we have to do our best, that's all we can do
But in our hearts "Marian Hall will stand!"

chorous:

Glory, glory what a hellava way to go,
Glory, glory what a hellava way to go
They put us out the door before we could say more.

But in our hearts "Marian Hall will stand!"

DISGUSTED!!

Again, a member of this university staff has strayed away from common sense and gone with his favorite golden child. In this case I'm referring to Vince Mulligan who made for the most irrational choice of goaltenders he could have for the Saint Mary's game. Gerard Smith played the game, his first game of the season may I add. Also Gerard Smith has been sick and only attended four practices in three weeks. He did make a few spectacular saves, but even this untrained hockey fan could see he was rusty on a few goals. Maybe another weeks practice would have brought Gerard back to form, but the facts are there, he was not up to par. I'm not blaming him but, I am blaming Vince Mulligan for his poor choice. Steve VanDiest played two fine games last weekend and was an obvious choice to start. Also Dave Boyarski has played well for the Panthers. It is my contention that any employee of the university should use rational thinking when carrying out his or her job. In this case I think Vince Mulligan was totally irresponsible in his choice of goaltenders. Beside this he also went with his favorites in the third and overtime periods when possibly fresh troops could have helped the team. In the future I hope the emotions of a key hockey game don't get to Vince because if they do, he may as well hang up his skates and whistle.

Bob Thompson

You're "right on" with

JEANS

* Lees * Wrangler
* G.W.G. * Balls

STUDENT DISCOUNT PLUS - many tops to choose from

SLACK RACK

University Ave.
CHARLOTTE TOWN

Student Discount
10%