

Trinity Church W. M. S. Held The Annual Meeting

The Afternoon Auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, held its annual meeting in the Social Hall on Thursday, Jan. 9, 1958.

The devotional period was led by Mrs. L. Saunders and Miss Mary McNutt and opened by singing hymn 571 "Standing at the Portal." The Scripture reading was the 104th Psalm read responsively.

Mrs. Saunders gave a fine new year meditation which was an inspiration to all those present. The 121st Psalm was read in unison and Miss McNutt led in prayer. The hymn "Christ whose glory fills the skies" brought this part of the service to a close.

The business was led by the president, Mrs. A. B. Bagnall. After the monthly business was disposed of the annual reports were received each one most gratifying and showing a year of advance in all departments.

The treasurer reported a substantial increase over last year.

Twenty-one members were in attendance at the regular monthly meeting of Parkdale W.I. on January 2. Meeting opened by singing "Auld Lang Syne." Roll call was answered by a health rule or "Practise".

The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance in the funds. Correspondence included $5.00 from the Institute Links, also thank you notes for gifts, and donations at Christmas.

The hall committee reported much activity during the month. Routine reports were heard from the Scouts, Guides, Cubs, and Brownies. The sick committee had six get well cards, and flowers to two members ill in hospital.

Mrs. H. Clay convener of treats for shut-ins reported fourteen boxes sent to homes in the district. The Porch Light Polo Campaign, convened by Mrs. E. Cook takes place on January 16. Mrs. W. Burns, Mrs. L. Johnston, Mrs. A. Seaman, Mrs. E. Cook were appointed a program planning committee for 1959. Several of the members had visited Riverside Hospital on Dec. 23, the first of many visits it is hoped, to brighten the lives of the shut-ins.

It was a privilege to have for a guest speaker Mr. George Haines who spoke on "What does it mean to be Blind?" The informative address disclosed the aims and projects of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, on behalf of the sightless. Mrs. H. Frizzell program convener voiced the appreciation of the members for the splendid address.

Refreshment committee for February, Mrs. F. Messer, Mrs. L. Brown, Mrs. I. Vessey, Mrs. W. Burns. Meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Previous meeting, which were approved and signed. Correspondence consisted of letters from the provincial president's report on National Convention, which she attended in Saskatchewan in October, from Mrs. J. A. MacDonald, provincial press convener and from Miss Beulah Munroe Red Cross material.

A number of bills were presented and ordered paid. Some discussion on League Magazine took place. Secretary is to send names of all paid up members to National Office. 10 cents per paid up member to be sent to provincial treasurer. Collection was taken and meeting adjourned with prayer by Father MacDonald.

Then the ladies were then taken through the new church which is nearing completion.

HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Noel DeBlais left by plane Friday for Montreal to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. John S. Haughey.

Mr. and Mrs. William White-way, Dover, P.E.I., have come to Toronto to spend some time with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander White-way.

Mr. and Mrs. J.E.R. MacEwen have returned from a visit to Nova Scotia. In Halifax they visited their son Mr. John MacEwen and Mrs. MacEwen and in Berwick, Mrs. MacEwen's brother, Mr. Frederick Nash and Mrs. Nash.

American violinist Yehudi Menuhin will play in Hungary next September. A Communist government official announced Jan. 3 that Mr. Menuhin will take part in Hungary's second festival to honor Bela Bartok. If the violinist plays the concert he will be the first outstanding American performer to visit Hungary since the 1956 revolt against the Soviet controlled Hungarian government.

The great pianist, composer and teacher Bela Bartok had for an outstanding pupil Agnes Bacher, whose mother was a Miss Chappelle of Prince Edward Island. Miss Butcher's father was a teacher of classics at the Hamilton Collegiate.

Agnes Butcher is now Mrs. John Searle and has two charming little daughters. Her husband Major Searle is a member of the Canadian permanent army having been with the Canadian Joint Staff in London. They are again posted in Canada.

CARLETON SIDING W.I.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Be sure that the white or light cuffs and collar on a dark dress are detachable for easy laundering or cleaning.

If you're making a washable dress, check the zipper to be sure its tape will be color-fast.

When you choose paint for walls, remember that the color will look stronger on the walls than in the sample. It is generally a good idea to select a color a little lighter than you want.

LET'S EAT

Here Is Special Fare Of Baltimore-Ohio Railroad

"Perfect timing!" exclaimed the chef, as we boarded the train en route to Baltimore. "The waiters are standing at their stations in the dining car, ready to serve."

"May I escort you to your table?" a pleasant voice inquired. And there, almost completely filling the doorway, stood a genial young man with a broad smile on his face.

"May I introduce myself?" he asked. "Your host, Carl Palme, superintendent of dining car service."

Here is what we chose for dinner — all specialties of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Tomorrow's dinner Orange grapefruit cup; Hungarian veal goulash; egg noodles; green beans baked with mushrooms; tomato salad with thousand island dressing; ginger muffins; baked apples; coffee, tea, milk.

Later on, we had a most interesting meeting. I will tell you about it in Tuesday's column.

All measurements are level; recipes proportioned to serve 4 to 6:

Hungarian Veal Goulash: Coarsely dice the meat from 2 1/2 lbs. veal shank. Remove the bones.

Melt 3 tbs. meat fat in a 3-qt. added to the funds.

12 members answered roll call by reciting a Scottish poem. It was decided to write Eatoes and Simpsons again to see if remnants could be had. The members subscribed for the Institute News. Collection $1.45.

The hostess served a dainty lunch assisted by Mrs. Charles Yeo and Mrs. Adrian Dekker. Next meeting to be held at Mrs. Robert Milligans. Meeting closed by singing "The Queen".

MAN NOT ANIMAL

The genuinely human man isn't an animal. He is a different and higher expression of life; a creature both spiritual and physical in his personality, awareness of life and experience of growing. And whilst he retains this vital integration of force, this wholeness, his inborn will-to-choose is his guiding force—the God-factor that does most to set his course and shape his destiny.

He becomes something else, less than human—not an animal, but a shameful parody of the monkey—when and after he forfeits his spiritual potential, to dwell in physical bondage to sensual "excitement." And it's this kind of male that you're bitter about.

You are right that true love doesn't figure in the life he leads, because love and joy are found on a higher level—the genuinely human level (and above). Hidden hostility, cynicism, resentment, callous self-seeking, etc., are the killjoy sentiments that permeate his round-of-days. To lift your mind, read Stake Your Claim (Harpers) by Emmet Fox - M.H.

ELLEN'S DIARY

It's Good To Hear Again About The Likeable Judy

This morning was, we recall now gratefully, a farmwife's ideal of a January washday. Prettily the washed pieces moved on the line, drying in the sunny breeze of day. Gathering too nice scent of the open — of the sprucey branches and others now being stirred by the saws and axes of the woodsmen and the subtle, clean aroma of the present snowy fields.

There was a work-shirt of James, thick to withstand the cold, when in the heat of the choring he may lay his jacket aside, and bright in its plaid. A posied Sunday-apron was there, a gift of one moved from time and space away. Towels in the primrose-yellow shade we love, reminding of first dandelions and buttercups and a hundred other blossoming; a checked tablecloth of aged vintage though still sturdy, red and white, and hemmed as was its everyday mate, by Judy, Mother's Helper to us for some months back in the years.

She was an attractive, vivacious girl, bright and quick, and mostly happy. And generous, and always looking to share things with others, even the one bar of candy she might have, she offered in bites to other children, it seemed to sweeten thus her own. Living in a seaside town in N.S., she is now a seasoned matron, happy and secure in the love of the husband and children that are hers. Yes, she checked cloth. And beside it billowed the winter-night-gown pink and downy, a garment quite fetching in itself. We chuckled as we spread it to the sun and breeze, recalling Granddaughter's admiring "Why, Grandmother what a pretty nightgown you have!" one day when we were laid low with the Flu.

The wash moved to the measure set by drying wind which came down to Alderlea from the west that is to us "up the creek." And everywhere all about. Winter held the light coverlet of snow on the fields, and the dark of the evergreens along the stream and on the slopes above were wearing still their pretty dustings of white.

And the family about their rounds agreed "If this be winter, how pleasant it is!" We spoke of the open stream and the fields so light-clad and recalled with James old-time Januaries when the snows climbed roofs and reached close to telephone wires, and teams were for days the on-tage through stiff sturdy, red and white, and hemmed as was its everyday mate, by Judy, Mother's Helper to us for some months back in the years.

Today we heard as in Summer, a train's whistle echoing along the valley, fading in nicely with other sounds — with the muted rumble and roar of traffic out on the highway, with that of a plane winging overhead in the sunny blue, and with the new song and seasonal we have come to recognize and listen for: the power-saws in the near and farther woodlots about.

Yes this was a nice day — this first of our workaday week. A day of pictured fields, of blue sky and drying breeze, a Monday which as a January - washday, until tomorrow — — — Diary was altogether a housewife's ideal. — Goodnight.

MARY HAWORTH

You Are A Calamity Jane

Dear Mary Haworth: I have started to be suspicious of my husband and actually hate him for something he hasn't done yet! All our friends' husbands are having, or have had, a "fling".

One particular husband is having a torrid affair and I dare not tell his wife. But I can see through these men (who don't even know one another) that marriage is a farce!

As for my husband, he appears to have a glint in his eye that looks like envy, when talking to the man who is having the affair. And he indicates in a jesting way that he considers it an achievement.

Jealousy is a terrible thing; so I have decided already that I shall be prepared, so that my pride won't be caught off balance. How can these wonderful housewives and mothers let themselves be treated so shabbily? I couldn't and won't put up with that sort of thing philosophically.

No doubt you'll call me calamity Jane for anticipating trouble where there is none. But you can't deny reality—and I've seen this happen in my own family. Men are animals, who have no real love for their wives; and therefore I feel it is inevitable that my husband will cheat on me eventually, too.

Men are forever searching for something new and exciting. Why can't they mellow with their families, and become used to their homes and routine? Maybe I'm crazy, but I say there is no such thing as true love. What do you think? - L. T.

MATURE HUSBANDS

Dear L. T.: It is well said that a man is known by the company he keeps. And a proverb tells us that birds of a feather flock together. I gather that you are judging all men in terms of the men you know—or those who attract your interest. In which case, most likely you are voicing a narrow fixated view, that doesn't take in to account the various kinds of men there are—in their different stages of growth (if any).

It takes all kinds of people to make the world—good, bad and

Medical Mirror

Q. Will space travel create new health problems?

A. Yes, and they are problems never coped with before. The big question is how man can live outside the conditions nature provides for us on earth? What happens when the human body becomes weightless for long periods, as will occur in space flight? Brief periods of weightlessness have been created by flying jet planes in certain patterns. The experience is enjoyable for some people, and nauseating for others. Vision in a gravity-free state is likely to get all mixed up and human aiming mechanism may go haywire. These are just samples of many health-in-the-sky problems now being studied at various medical centers.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

KIDNEY ACIDS

Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better.
