IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our daughter and sister Beatrice Moore, who passed away June 18th, 1947.

Somewhere back of the sunset, Where loveliness never dies, She sleeps in a land of glory, Neath the blue and the gold of the skies.

Inserted by Mother, Father, Brother and Sisters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear wife and our Mother, Mrs. McLeod Douglas, Mt. Stewart, who passed away June 18th, 1952.

Two deep bright eyes, a tender smile, A loving heart that knew no guile, Deep trust in God, that all was right, Her joy to make some other bright.

If sick or suffering one she knew, Inme gentle act of love she'd die, No thought of self, but of the other, We know He said, "Well done Dear Mother."

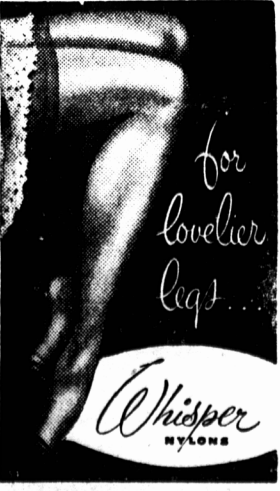

Lovingly Remembered but Sadly Missed by Her Husband, Daughter and Son-in-law.

In the double two-step, twice the number of trips is made in a period of three minutes. These physicians report a summary of 300 patients seen consecutively in private practice beginning in 1946. The majority of the patients complained of pain in the chest. The resting electrocardiograph was normal in all 300. The patients were divided into two equal groups. The first group consisted of 150 patients with both negative single and negative double Master two-step exercise tests. The second group consisted of 150 patients in whom either the single or double two-step exercise electrocardiograph was positive. Positive meant shortness of breath sooner than normal. Both groups were frequently examined or questioned. Among the group of 150 patients with negative single and double two-step, 86 patients (nearly 60 per cent) had spontaneous attacks of coronary occlusion or insufficiency, either before or after the exercise test, was found to be positive. Twelve deaths occurred among these patients—ten as a result of coronary occlusion (thrombosis). This Master two-step is also useful in examination of firemen, policemen, taxi drivers, train engineers, pilots and officers in the Armed Forces, and in any person exposed to undue mental and physical strain. It is particularly valuable in compensation work and life insurance disability.

Ellen's Diary Continued from page 2 when at last they must go... Now only an odd calf to fill the void of stable; with anxious chirp a swallow momentarily off route and on nervous wings seeking a convenient exit; the cats too, "monarchs of all they surveyed," but as James now, lonesome and alone. In the kitchen Rob and his father exchange notes over the event... the odd word which comes to us here at our desk, allows us to follow its trend. Not that we need cues, we who along many years with them have known it all so well—the comparison of poundage... the one "that surprised me" and "that one that should have weighed better." They go into the breeds and lineage, the feed used and consumed in the period of "the feeding," the sale itself, the ease of the loading and transporting. And then we fancy James thinks of the empty stable as he remarks: "Well, we should have a fair-good bunch to put in this fall—that is, if there's any grass for them this summer. With these cold winds and continued dampness, prospects aren't the best right now. But one never knows..." One does know, that night follows day—even these long ones to bring folks on Island farms to their rest! Until tomorrow ---Diary --- Good-night.....

Dorothy Dix's Column— Continued from page 2 congenial companion for yourself, in which case you would be less likely to resent your husband's preoccupation with his pal? Going out as a foursome once a week certainly should not constitute a chore for you, especially since you admit a fondness for both young people. Your trouble is largely boredom with everything, including yourself. New friends and activities will do wonders for you. DEAR MISS DIX: My steady boy friend is attending a local college, and though he professes to love me, we see each other only on week ends, and he doesn't even call during the week. He says he just doesn't have a chance. Should I break off with him? E. R. ANSWER: You need a little briefing on the demands of a college education. Since the boy is studying seriously and ardently, it is quite conceivable that he has little time for telephoning. If lack of attention makes you so angry, you'd be doing him a favor to break off the friendship, but you'd be passing up a worthwhile boy. Would you prefer a nincompoop who had nothing to do but spend his time on the telephone?

Annual Meeting The Annual Meeting of the Trustees of the P. E. I. Protestant Orphanage will take place on Thursday, June 25 at 8 p.m., in the Orphanage Office, 158 Prince St.
