

When the children are hungry, what do you give them? Food.

When thirsty? Water. Now use the same good common sense, and what would you give them when they are too thin? The best fat-forming food, of course.

Somehow you think of Scott's Emulsion at once. For a quarter of a century it has been making thin children, plump; weak children, strong; sick children, healthy.

For The Children

Tommy Wants to Know.

Tommy's brow was ruffled, And so was Tommy's mind; The tears shone bright in Tommy's eyes; He thought the world unkind.

Only yester evening, Because he'd been quite bad, His mother said, "No chocolate cake I'll give my naughty lad."

Now, to-night, expectant— All day he'd been so nice— He pounced upon a lovely cake Chock full of plums and spice.

But, oh, the disappointment! When mother cried, "My dear, No cake for little boys at night; 'Twill make you ill, I fear!"

And now young Master Tommy Would really like to know What is the use of being good, "If fellers have no show?"

Sel.

Little Workers.

Lucy's mother was shelling peas. Lucy was lying on the floor, wishing she had something to do.

"Come and help me shell peas," said mamma; so Lucy jumped up and came over to her mother.

"First you must go into the bathroom," said her mother, "and wash your hands very clean."

So Lucy went and washed her hands till they looked like two pieces of pink cotton. Then her mother went into the pantry and got a green wooden bowl and a bright tin basin, and put them on Lucy's little table. She put some peas in the wooden bowl and said, "Now, Lucy, when you shell them put them in the basin and throw the pods in this basket. Let me show you how to do it."

So Lucy did just as her mother said and out popped the little peas and went rolling about in the basin. It was great fun to see them hop out of the pod. Lucy worked a few minutes and then said she was tired. A big yellow butterfly flew by the door just then, and Lucy said, "I want to go and play now; I must catch that butterfly."

But mamma said, "No; when a little girl begins a piece of work she must finish it. Shell all the peas in your bowl, then you may go."

I am sorry to tell you that a scowl came right between Lucy's brown eyes then, and she said, "Flutterbys and kitties play all the time. Wish I was 'em."

"Finish your work like a good girl," said mamma, "then we will go and see if we can find any little people who work out of doors."

Soon the work was done and mamma and Lucy started.

The first thing they saw was a honey bee buzzing about the flowers.

"Here is a little worker," said mamma; "he is getting something to make our honey of, like that we had last night for tea. Busy bee is the name of this fellow." Just then a bird flew by with a straw in his mouth. He went into the maple tree over their heads.

"Hush," said mamma. Don't make a noise. Look up and you will see another bird worker. Here is a mother bird making a house."

They kept quite still and watched the bird tuck the straw in nicely, then away he flew for another one.

"Now look down at your feet," said mamma.

There was a big ant hill, and every little ant was coming up the hill tugging a grain of sand.

"Oh, how funny!" said Lucy. "What are they doing?"

"They are building a house, too. If such little creatures can work so hard can't my little girl help her mother?" Lucy hung down her head then, and twisted her bonnet strings. She was a-s-h-a-m-e-d.—Canadian Home Journal.

Spearing With "Bobs."

Did you ever take a cork, stick through it a horseshoe nail, put on the top of the cork two or three feathers, tie a long string around the cork, and then spear for apples or potatoes? Just try it some time and see how proficiently and how straight you can learn to throw the bob in a short time. The cork keeps the horseshoe nail in without slipping, and the feathers serve to guide the bob through the air.

Tails of Fish.

The tails of fishes are so much larger than their fins because their tails are their chief instruments of motion, while their fins are employed more to direct their progress and steady their movements.

BRAIN FAG

Is the result of Overwork and an Exhausted Nervous System. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food creates New Brain and Nerve Tissue.

Business and professional men, accountants, stenographers, teachers, students and all brain workers know only too well what it means to have the brain so tired out that concentration of thought is almost impossible.

One-fifth of all the blood in the human body is found in the brain, and unless the blood is pure and rich the brain becomes exhausted for want of proper nourishment.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Blood Food creates new brain and nerve tissue, and produces rich red blood, "the vital fluid" of the body.

All brain workers quickly recognize the merits of this great food cure, and after a few doses enter on their work with new energy and ambition.

Brain fag is unknown to persons whose brain and nerve have been invigorated by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, which is for sale by all dealers at 50c a box.
