

guidance of John Miles manager, Fern Sells, Department of Agriculture. We ate our lunch on the bus on our way to the falls and a view of the Falls at 180 m.

The Canadian Horseshoe Falls Park is 35 miles long extending from Lake Ontario to the Niagara River. We proceeded up river Road to the falls. In this greenhouse there were many beautiful flowers of many different kinds. The Niagara Tower was our next stop. To go there, we had to climb a steep incline and crossed the river Road again, past the concrete dam to the village of Chippewa, up Terrace Road to Falls View and Seagram Tower.

From this tower we could see the vast area of the Falls. It was a very sunny day and we could see many rainbows formed by the Falls which were really beautiful.

We then left the tower to go to a tour of the Ontario Power Plant. Toronto is the main centre for electric power in Ontario. This hydro-electric plant was built in 1924. Our next stop was at the Antique Auto Museum, and at this museum we saw one of the first autos ever built, steam cars, economy cars, luxury cars, and the latest cars which were very interesting, especially for the boys.

Across the street from the Antique Museum is the Sheraton Hotel where we ate our supper. Afterwards we saw the lights on the Falls were the 4-H Club. The buses then left for the Niagara River Bridge Bus Terminal for Toronto which was a 4-hour tour of the Niagara River.

ROYAL WINTER FAIR

By Carol Dickson
I am going to give some of my impressions of the Royal Winter Fair which we attended in Toronto last 4-H week. We had the opportunity of visiting the fair in two different sections. The fair covers 26 acres and is the largest exhibition of its kind in the world. We had good reason to be impressed. Here we saw many fascinating and educational attractions such as a living 14-H pig, which would interest everyone; live stock, fruit and vegetables, many large animals, and a collection of the cutest baby animals you ever saw. I will attempt to describe some of the highlights for you.

The Flower Show was really magnificent. It was a display of many kinds of flowers, and was so beautiful and so many of the flowers couldn't miss it.

The National 4-H Club display were included in the educational section. Club members of Canada especially from Ontario had artistic displays concerning the skills we learned through 4-H.

ISLAND POTATOES

Among the promotional displays was one advertising Prince Edward Island potatoes. It showed some of our best potatoes along with some scenic pictures of the Province. It was very pleasing to see that the scenes was the picturesque village of New Glasgow where I live.

There were many and varied competitive exhibits. One that was very exciting was a display of apples. There were some red apples in the shape of a pig, and different coloured apples taking the form of a sled all set off by a large bell. We also saw the champions of all the different livestock, but the ones that were the most interesting to me were the Holstein cattle as I have had a Holstein calf in my barn for the past six years.

The outstanding highlight of the Royal was the thrill of a horse show which we had. It was a good fortune of mine that on Tuesday evening the International Jumping Championships. Here the best-trained riders met the challenge of the teams from 19 other countries. It was exciting to see the horses face the high jumps and although Canada lost to Mexico, we were chosen to represent them all. The extra special feature of the horse show was the radio telecast of the event. Mr. Arthur Godfrey, with his famous horse "Giddy", it was very entertaining to see his prayers and to do this she got down on her two front knees and bowed her head.

The Royal Winter Fair was a one of the outstanding events in the trip and I am looking forward to a time when I'll be going to the Royal again.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

By Audrey Belger
Our routing trip which began on Thursday, November 28th was a thrilling adventure all the way. From the train trip, and our stay in Toronto, to our journey home.

Our banquets and social activities were unforgettable. Nearly every meal was a royal buffet, and as these were mostly sponsored by well known business firms, we had a good time to meet and mingle with the representatives of these firms. The food at these dinners was delicious. There was everything imaginable to eat.

on 4-H Clubs. The guest speaker was Dr. E. J. Tyler, who was also our discussion leader during the week. After his inspiring and instructive message a candle-lighting ceremony was held. This was really beautiful and it also was our farewell to Toronto as later we boarded the train for our home.

The social activities of the week were very successful. They provided the opportunity for us to meet and know each other. It was hard, however, to meet and remember them all, but truly the ones I met I shall never forget.

SING-SONGS

Generators after our luncheon and dinner we had a singing conducted by David Barrie and Mrs. Kidd.

There was also an opportunity for the individual provinces to show their talent and this they did as you might very well guess.

An enjoyable friendship party was held on Monday evening in the ball room of the Royal York. Everyone's last night was so satisfied by the music of Bob Scott and his band. A buffet luncheon was served and the compliments of Lighting Fastener Company.

EDUCATIONAL ASPECTS

By Eleanor Hyde
Our trip to the Royal Winter Fair was not only a social event but an educational one as well. Our group discussions were led by Dr. Tyler who is a psychology professor at Brandon College, Manitoba. The theme was "4-H and the Changing World".

We had two mornings of discussion, and at each session we divided up into provincial groups. We discussed such questions as economic changes, social change, educational changes, and agricultural changes in our province and how each affected our community. These discussions were very interesting and they helped us to understand these matters as they pertained to the other provinces of Canada as well as our own.

At most of our banquets we had guest speakers. They included Dr. Tyler who spoke on "4-H and the Changing World" and some of the thoughts brought out in our discussion groups. We also heard Carl Voss, Referee-in-Chief of the National Hockey League who told us how you can become a referee at Big League games and the requirements for the position. We also were addressed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker at Ottawa. He expressed the hope that we citizens of tomorrow would be able to take our places in the political world.

On Wednesday evening, before we left for Ottawa, we had our annual banquet which included a candle-lighting ceremony.

Communications

mony. Members from each province of Canada and the United States participated. Yvonne Galbraith our representative. As each of us lit our candles, we pledged ourselves anew to the furtherance of 4-H Club work in our respective provinces.

In all, the educational values of our trip will ever add zest and vigor to our chosen work. It is wherever field we are privileged to choose.

A DAY IN OTTAWA

By Joyce Lowther
Thursday, November 15, the last day in which the delegates would be together, was spent at Ottawa, the capital of Canada.

Our hotel for the day was the Chateau Laurier, a beautiful place which we all had heard about many times and now we were to be guests there.

At the parliament building we were welcomed by the Rt. Hon. John G. Diefenbaker, Prime Minister of Canada. He gave us a very informative and inspiring speech.

GOOD-BYES

By Joyce Lowther
Eventually the last song had been sung, the last bag packed, the last good-byes said, the last tears dried, and the trains departed, one for the East and one for the West.

It was almost the end of our trip which was an experience that none of us will ever forget. We live to be a hundred—with so many new things to do and see every hour of every day, and all those new friends!

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Communications

(Continued from page 8-A)
This program is to assist supervisors in their work to employ face-to-face communications with greater effectiveness. During the series we attempted to identify common barriers to face-to-face communication; to illustrate the reasons why these greater efforts to become more effective listeners in the company or in any organization; some practical guides for overcoming problems in getting and giving information.

"To understand that face-to-face communication is more than the words used between the communicators." If words or instructions can be misunderstood then they will be a dead load. Let me give you an illustration. (Call for volunteers—tell me how to put my coat on.)

"The words themselves do not matter so much, or the general impression they give, but the communicative: it's the meaning another person infers from them: that is the final test to which the 'jargon' of every communication." They do not speak the same language— we mean that other persons have not found the way to reach each other's minds. Their failure to communicate is not of vocabulary, but of emotion. Fear, suspicion or jealousy nullify the sense of the words they use.

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Communications

(Continued from page 8-A)
This program is to assist supervisors in their work to employ face-to-face communications with greater effectiveness. During the series we attempted to identify common barriers to face-to-face communication; to illustrate the reasons why these greater efforts to become more effective listeners in the company or in any organization; some practical guides for overcoming problems in getting and giving information.

"To understand that face-to-face communication is more than the words used between the communicators." If words or instructions can be misunderstood then they will be a dead load. Let me give you an illustration. (Call for volunteers—tell me how to put my coat on.)

"The words themselves do not matter so much, or the general impression they give, but the communicative: it's the meaning another person infers from them: that is the final test to which the 'jargon' of every communication." They do not speak the same language— we mean that other persons have not found the way to reach each other's minds. Their failure to communicate is not of vocabulary, but of emotion. Fear, suspicion or jealousy nullify the sense of the words they use.

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Communications

(Continued from page 8-A)
This program is to assist supervisors in their work to employ face-to-face communications with greater effectiveness. During the series we attempted to identify common barriers to face-to-face communication; to illustrate the reasons why these greater efforts to become more effective listeners in the company or in any organization; some practical guides for overcoming problems in getting and giving information.

"To understand that face-to-face communication is more than the words used between the communicators." If words or instructions can be misunderstood then they will be a dead load. Let me give you an illustration. (Call for volunteers—tell me how to put my coat on.)

"The words themselves do not matter so much, or the general impression they give, but the communicative: it's the meaning another person infers from them: that is the final test to which the 'jargon' of every communication." They do not speak the same language— we mean that other persons have not found the way to reach each other's minds. Their failure to communicate is not of vocabulary, but of emotion. Fear, suspicion or jealousy nullify the sense of the words they use.

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Communications

(Continued from page 8-A)
This program is to assist supervisors in their work to employ face-to-face communications with greater effectiveness. During the series we attempted to identify common barriers to face-to-face communication; to illustrate the reasons why these greater efforts to become more effective listeners in the company or in any organization; some practical guides for overcoming problems in getting and giving information.

"To understand that face-to-face communication is more than the words used between the communicators." If words or instructions can be misunderstood then they will be a dead load. Let me give you an illustration. (Call for volunteers—tell me how to put my coat on.)

"The words themselves do not matter so much, or the general impression they give, but the communicative: it's the meaning another person infers from them: that is the final test to which the 'jargon' of every communication." They do not speak the same language— we mean that other persons have not found the way to reach each other's minds. Their failure to communicate is not of vocabulary, but of emotion. Fear, suspicion or jealousy nullify the sense of the words they use.

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Communications

(Continued from page 8-A)
This program is to assist supervisors in their work to employ face-to-face communications with greater effectiveness. During the series we attempted to identify common barriers to face-to-face communication; to illustrate the reasons why these greater efforts to become more effective listeners in the company or in any organization; some practical guides for overcoming problems in getting and giving information.

"To understand that face-to-face communication is more than the words used between the communicators." If words or instructions can be misunderstood then they will be a dead load. Let me give you an illustration. (Call for volunteers—tell me how to put my coat on.)

"The words themselves do not matter so much, or the general impression they give, but the communicative: it's the meaning another person infers from them: that is the final test to which the 'jargon' of every communication." They do not speak the same language— we mean that other persons have not found the way to reach each other's minds. Their failure to communicate is not of vocabulary, but of emotion. Fear, suspicion or jealousy nullify the sense of the words they use.

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Communications

(Continued from page 8-A)
This program is to assist supervisors in their work to employ face-to-face communications with greater effectiveness. During the series we attempted to identify common barriers to face-to-face communication; to illustrate the reasons why these greater efforts to become more effective listeners in the company or in any organization; some practical guides for overcoming problems in getting and giving information.

"To understand that face-to-face communication is more than the words used between the communicators." If words or instructions can be misunderstood then they will be a dead load. Let me give you an illustration. (Call for volunteers—tell me how to put my coat on.)

"The words themselves do not matter so much, or the general impression they give, but the communicative: it's the meaning another person infers from them: that is the final test to which the 'jargon' of every communication." They do not speak the same language— we mean that other persons have not found the way to reach each other's minds. Their failure to communicate is not of vocabulary, but of emotion. Fear, suspicion or jealousy nullify the sense of the words they use.

MEANING IS HEART

Yes—meaning is the heart of communication. In order to improve the techniques of transmitting and of understanding meaning, we need to study it in two ways.

1. Meaning in communication as a joint process between people.
2. Meaning as composed of the following three elements, among which objective facts of life are the most important.

Objective facts, and the logical ideas that we have about them, are one element in meaning. Feelings arise from subjective factors in experience that are never exactly the same for any two individuals. We are a more sure, it is a wonderful feeling to know you have friends all over Canada and parts of the United States who will only be too glad to see you if and when—you ever go their way.

Board okays "N" request

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners announced Thursday the CNR has been granted permission to abandon a 15-mile branch line between Victoriaville, Que., and Astor Junction.

Under the board's order, the branch line cannot be abandoned until July 31. The railway's application to abandon the line was heard by the board at Arthabaska, Que., June 15 and was opposed.

Curfew cuts festive life in Chesapeake

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (CP)—A curfew and other restrictions may put a crimp into the sun-drenched life of this recalcitrant Chesapeake Bay town.

Troops from state national guard units moved into Cambridge two weeks ago to enforce the peace after racial violence erupted into riotous demonstrations.

Under the curfew, everyone must be off the streets by 10 p.m. Street music is prohibited, and about 20 taverns have closed. Demonstrations are forbidden.

Troops patrol the streets and stand by at checkpoints on the perimeter of the Negro district. Streets are all but deserted at night.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

The day after troops arrived, Cambridge was a scene of riotous demonstrations.

WELCOME TO THE HAYING SEASON

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

WELCOME TO THE HAYING SEASON

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

WELCOME TO THE HAYING SEASON

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

WELCOME TO THE HAYING SEASON

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

WELCOME TO THE HAYING SEASON

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members

MARKING HER 50th ANNIVERSARY

Remember the Haying Season is M-F Season. . .

SAVING THE HAYING SEASON

P. E. I.'s 4-H CLUB Members