Address.

To Russel H. Palmer, D. G. W. P. Onward Division, S. of T., No. 125.

DEAR SIR,—With profound sorrow we learn of your intention of leaving us, for a time at least, to seek your fortune in the Great West, and the members of our Division cannot allow the occasion to pass without showing you some mark of their appreciation of your services in their behalf. Your conduct, both as an ardent temperance worker and a useful member of society, cannot but merit the just approbation of all right-minded persons, whether temperance people or not; but it is the temperance party especially who owe you a deep debt of gratitude for your consistent and arduous but extremely successful labors in the temperance cause. Seldom has success followed the labors of a temperance worker in such a marked degree as has been your privilege to attain. In fact, it may be said that your every effort under the "Temperance Banner" has been a decided success, for which you have our heartfelt thanks. By your departure the Division loses a member whose every action was characterized by a single eye to its interests—always at your post, consistent to its principles, ready to extend its influence; a member whose conduct in the chair for several terms, and as Deputy of Division, as well as in every other capacity, was marked by a becoming dignity.
Although you will be far removed from our midst, we feel confident that the same principles you advocated so earnestly when here will guide your actions wherever your lot may be cast, and will, no doubt, find practical application whenever an opportunity is afforded.
Should the All-Wise Providence in His infinite mercy permit us to meet before we are called to our eternal rest, let us endeavor to meet as we part—temperance workers and Prohibitionists.

Though we now part, let us hope the remembrance of our associating together may remain fresh in the memory of each and all of us to life's close.

We bid you farewell in behalf of the Division, and pray that the All-Seeing Eye may guide your steps to life's end; and that, should we not meet again on earth, our conduct may be such that we shall meet before the Great White Throne in Heaven, and be greeted with the words, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Victoria, P. E. I., June 23rd, 1887.

REPLY

To F. M. Nelson, C. A. McPhail, John Bentley, J. S. McQuarrie and Miss Anna Wright, in behalf of Onward Division:—

I cannot help feeling very much gratified for your kind and generous sentiments expressed in your address to me.

Let me assure you, dear friends, if my efforts as a son of temperance have been in any degree attended with success it has been owing to your hearty co-operation and support, and in taking my leave of you I can honestly say that the hours spent by me in Onward Division are among the happiest of my life. My hope is that the memory of them may be as much a source of pleasure to the Division as they will be to me.

Although far away I shall never forget the Division, but shall take as deep an interest in it as ever, and I trust some of my friends will let me know from time to time its progress and strength; let it be onward and upward in truth. My Excelsior ever be your motto and the Almighty your inspiration and strength, and if we should never meet in this world again, may we have strength given so to act that we may have the supreme felicity of meeting in that eternal rest where parting is no more. That it may be so, will ever be the earnest prayer of your friend

The Little Isle Safe.

Admiral Porter, of the United States Navy, ridicules the "scare" about the invasion of England. He says: "Any expedition fitted out against England would meet the same fate that befell the Spanish Armada in 1588. To show the difficulty of landing 100,000 men in England, I will merely mention the number of steamers required to transport the British army of 23,000 to Egypt in 1882. Seventy large steamers many of them 6,000 tons were necessary to carry 23,000 troops, to say nothing of the innumerable transports that were continually busy in carrying provisions, stores, munitions of war, etc. At the rate it would require 3000 large steamers to land 100,000 men with their guns, stores and all appliances of war. Great Britain is the only country in the world that could furnish such means of transportation, and besides her powerful navy she could arm a hundred swift and large steamers which would play the mischief with any invading force. England may go to sleep in peace; nobody will trouble her.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. [April 1 '88 struction of the plant of the Reading Har-

Lecture at Elmira.

Pursuant to public notice Mr. John O'Brien delivered a lecture in Elmira Hall on Saturday evening the 23rd inst. Subject: "The Way of Duty the Path to Glory." Mr.
Archibald J. McPhee, President of the Literary Institute, occupied the chair, and the undersigned acted as Secretary. The Chairman, in a few well chosen remarks, introduced the lecturer, who, upon taking the stand, was greeted with rounds of applause.
The learned lecturer began his discourse by giving an outline of what a lecture should be, its relation to history, and its bearing on original. He then gave a short account of the great poet who gave utterance to these sentiments. His next reference was to Great Britain and her greater general, the Duke of Wellington, of his entering the army, his movements in India, his campaigning in Portugal and Spain, and a condensed history of the Battle of Waterloo, in which the hero of a hundred fights tumbled the great Napoleon the First and demonstrated that the way of duty is the path to glory. William Pitt, and Lord Chatham came in for a share of the praise due a truly great and noble statesman; showing the part he played in the most critical period of English history. His opposition to the Walpole policy of employing every means at their disposal to subvert the American colonists.

The novelist's idea of governing men was touched off in splendid style. He next paid a high tribute to the merits of Benjamin Disraeli, who, by his unaided perseverance and determination, rose to the Premiership of the greatest empire the world has ever seen, proving to a demonstration that the "Way of duty is the path to glory." His reference to the great and noble Gordon was heartily applauded. He spoke in glowing terms of that patriot, hero, philanthropist, martyr, who died for the cause of humanity. Hon. Mr.
Gladstone and the Irish cause was treated in a masterly manner, giving as his opinion, supported by public opinion, that the settlement of that vexed question was only a matter of time. He next referred to the colonizing power of the British people, and showed their superiority over all other nations. He next treated on the resources of the Empire and the proud position we occupied of being a part and parcel of a kingdom upon which the sun never ceases to shine.
The lecture throughout was an expression of patriotic sentiment, and was enthusiastically applauded. After the applause had subsided, the undersigned arose to move a vote of thanks to the lecturer, and spoke a few words, complimenting the learned lecturer on the success of his effort, and thanked the audience who so nobly responded to our invitation.

Mr. F. J. McKinnon, in seconding the motion, delivered a short address, touching on the principal points of the lecture. He also complimented the learned gentleman on his success.

Short speeches were made by Messrs.
Alfred Rose, John J. Campbell, Raymond McPhee, Malcolm J. Campbell, John B. Mc-Eachern and Michael McMahon; all expressing themselves well pleased with the evening's entertainment; after which the motion was put and carried.

The Chairman then arose and tendered the lecturer the unanimous vote of thanks of the meeting for his interesting and instructive lecture.

Mr. O'Brien, in replying to the vote of thanks, complimented the young men of Elmira upon the completion of their hall, and assured them that he was well pleased with his first visit to Elmira, and hoped that the time was not far distant when he would again pay them a visit.

The chairman, after thanking the audience for their patronage and good order, declared the meeting closed.

JOHN F. MELLICK,
Secretary.

Elmira, June 26, 1888.

Contested Will Case.

Before the Probate Court, of Nova Scotia, J. Y. Payzant, the Rt. Rev. Peter McIntyre, Bishop of Charlottetown, and Rev. E. F. Murphy, of Halifax, executors of the late Archbishop Hannan have set forth that by the will of the late P. Walsh, made in 1874, and proved in 1880, $4,000 was left to Archbishop Hannan for "educational or religious purposes in the outer mission of the provinces." The petitioners say that although probate was taken out, no inventory of the estate of the deceased P. Walsh was filed or final accounts thereof passed, and pray for an order of the court to have it done. In response to that Mary Catherine O'Connor, only child and sole heir-at-law of P. Walsh, pleads that his will was proved in the ordinary form at the time; that Patrick Power and Michael Dwyer, the appointed executors, renounced the same before said will was proved; that at the time of the execution of said alleged will, Patrick Walsh was not of sound and disposing mind, memory and understanding; that from the time the said will was so proven in common form, the petitioner has refused to recognize or act under it, and now avers that it is null for the reason as set forth. She sets forth the following as the heirs and legatees: Herself, Miss Mary Ballard, Halifax, sister-in-law, aged 82; Johanna Walsh, Aclanora, Ireland, aged 80, sister of deceased; John Walsh, aged of the same place, brother of the widow of Frank Walsh, and another brother; Mrs.
Ellen O'Connor, of Dillingstone, Wexford, Ireland; P. F. O'Connor, of Halifax, and the above executors of Dr. Hannan. The petitioner now prays that citations may be issued to all these parties for the proving of the will in solemn form, the effect of which is to bring all the parties or their representatives into court.

The Manufacturers' Life and Accident Insurance.

Mr. J. B. Paton, general agent, intends spending the first week of July in Charlottew. The numerous parties applying for local agencies on the Island, and parties desiring either Life or Accident insurance on a liberal basis and easy terms, will do well to call on him at the Hotel Davies, or address him there.

These companies, both Life and Accident, have met with most unprecedented success everywhere, taking the lead of all others from Vancouver to Halifax.
