BRITISH O BSERVERS

AMONG THE FARMERS

Federation of Agriculture Newsletter

PLAN OF ACTION

Out of each of the three county federation meetings and it arose spontaneously came a plan designed to bring about two things, first, the strengthening of the Federation and second, the creation of greater interest in better farm practice. These two things are to be brought about by the holding on a monthly basis of meetings in each electoral district.

The recommendation is that the three Federation directors in each electoral district will become responsible for the planning and conducting of these meetings. Persumably there would be set up a list of persons representative of, for example, the Federal Department of Agriculture, the Provincial Department of Agriculture, Experimental Farm, Science Service Division, and farm organizations. From this list each district would make a selection of a speaker or speakers on the partucular topic in which the meeeting might be interested.

The supporters of this plan pointed out that little use has been made of the country directors in the past and that the suggested responsibility should be good for them personally and would result in their taking a much greater interest in the improvement of the Federation and the development of better farm practices.

The final decision on this program and the planning to put it into effect will rest with the Provincial board of directors.

COUNTY MEETINGS

Attendance at the three county meeting ranged from good at O'Leary and Souris to poor at the Charlottetown meeting. In every case there was, however, quite lively interest in the meetings and excellent discussion. Discussion on potato tariffs established the fact quiet clearly that Island farmers expect increased protection against the movement of American new potatoes into Canada. It was felt that the period from January 1 to June 15 is far too long a one in which to have free movement. There was also agreement on the point that every effort should be made to have the quotas into the United States restored to the original levels.

Butterfat producers are unanimous in requesting that there be an increase in returns.

Registration fees on farm trucks came in for discussion and it was generally agreed that there should be a request made for a concession in this matter. Quite recently Nova Scotia has moved to make a substantial reduction in commercial rates for the benefit of farm trucks.

The O'Leary meeting agreed that cream and milk testers should have recognized training in the form of short courses before being permitted to work in this field.

Marked controversy developed in the O'Leary meeting on the question of Unemployment Insurance for farm workers. Supporters argued their case quite strongly on the grounds of social justice and to improvement in the farm labour situation, opponents were inclined to view coverage as a mixed blessing which would do little to improve the labour situation and would entail considerable paper work. However, there was unanimous decision on the point that Unemployment Insurance be made available on a voluntary basis in agriculture.

FOWL AND TURKEY

The decision of the government last week to immediately establish a floor price for fowl and turkey and to restrict American importations of both should go a long way to reassure producers that their market situation should generally improve. With turkey particularly a critical situation was building up importations of American supplies at prices as low as 16 and 17 cents a pound and were proceeding in large volume.

With turkey the real value lies not in the floor price but in the restriction of imports as a means of retaining the Canadian markets for our own producers. With fowl a floor price lr 23 cents live weight basis Toronto should generally give returns more satisfactory than has been the case on many occasions in the past.

EXHIBITION CHORES

Livestock exhibitors are reminded that the entry deadline is July 29 and that this is the final date. The lateness of hay-making will likely effect to some extent the decision on the part of cattlemen to show their herds. However, with modern methods and given fine weather a great deal of hay can be made in two weeks.

DAIRY BOOTH

Once more the Prince Edward Island Dairymen's Association is planning a dairy booth which will make available to the public tasty and nutritious dairy drinks. The booth will also display samples of Island dairy products and generally endeavour to attract the attention of the public to the goodness and value of dairy foods.

POULTRY SURVEY

Present information is to the effect that the Poultry Industry Survey being carried on in this province by the Atlantic Province Economic Council will be available to the Agricultural Committee on or about August 20. Shortly after that date the document should be available for public consideration and whatever action may appear indicated.

TARIFF HEARING

Next Monday the potato interest of Canada will be appearing before the Tariff Board of Canada to state their case with respect to a better deal for the industry. The main representations will be made by the Canadian Horticultural Council and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, these representations will embody the collective thinking of the different provinces.

Bible School Of Brookfield Holds Closing

Sunday afternoon, July 21, 1957, saw the lovely old church at Hartsville filled by the parents and friends of many of the children of the Brookfield Charge, it being the final demonstration of the Bible School.

This school which has come to be an annual event and one to which the children and their parents look forward, was in session from July 15th through the 19th, from 9 a.m. until noon each day, with four departments.

The beginners department was under the supervision of Mrs. Benjamin Cousins. The primary had Mrs. Ewen Lamont in charge, the junior supervised by Miss Christine MacInnis and the Senior department was under the care of Mr. Burton Smith, student minister of the Brookfield Charge.

The following volunteer teachers ably assisted: Miss Bertha Smith, Mrs. Sally Parsons, Mrs. Ken MacRae, Mrs. John Nicholson, Mrs. Sterling MacRae, Mrs. Duncan Nicholson, Miss Shirley Gamester, Mrs. Frank Bagnall, Mrs. Burton Smith, Mr. Ira Drysdale.

The programme for the week while a very flexible one, was concise and interesting. It consisted of Hymn and chorus singing the memorizing of scripture verses, Bible lessons according to age groups, several interesting flannelgraph demonstrations by Mrs. Burton Smith, recreation with outdoor games and handicrafts.

The missionary journeyings of St. Paul were being studied and the boys of the senior group constructed a contour map of paper mache, protraying the land through which he travelled. This map was the subject of great interest and the pupils deserve much credit for it.

Poster and maps depicting scenes from the Old Testament and also of Paul's missionary journeyings, were made by the junior and primary departments, while the senior girls busied themselves during the handicraft period making bedroom slippers.

A contest to determine the best all around student was carried out.

It was based upon attendance, bringing ones Bible to Church school conduct, and bringing others to the classes. It was won by Dorothy MacLean of Hunter River, and she received a nice prize. Besides fulfilling all the requirements of the contest, Dorothy had taken eight other children with her to Bible school.

Mrs. Isabelle Watts of Milton, was in charge of the music, and during the closing period, the children under her care seated in the chair made a very fine contribution to the final programme with their singing as a choir and in individual and special groups. Several other groups seated throughout the church, also took part in the singing.

Ira Drysdale, student minister of Breadalbane, kindly assisted during the week by bringing children in from the Breadalbane district, and helping with the singing.

At the closing on Sunday afternoon, his magnificent voice filled the old church with fitting melody when he sang "When I Survey The Wondrous Cross".

Ben Cousins of Stanchell very kindly treated all present on Friday, to ice cream. This was a kind gesture on Mr. Cousins's part and was deeply appreciated by all.

The Hartsville Bible School for 1957 was brought to a close by the benediction, pronounced by Mr Smith.

Are Berra And Campanella Showing Signs Of Wear?

NEW YORK (AP)—Are squat, brick-tough Yogi Berra and durable, free-swinging Roy Campanella — generally acknowledged to be the two greatest catchers in action today—showing signs of the wear and tear of years of action behind the plate?

There are some who are even bold enough to venture the opinion that the 32-year-old Berra and the 35-year-old Campanella, each a three-time most valuable award winner, have begun that inevitable downward slide to the point of no return.

There is no question that this is the poorest season ever suffered by Berra in his 11 years with New York Yankees. This may not be Campanella's worst in 10 years with Brooklyn Dodgers, but it isn't far from it.

Both are slumping, weary and worried. Both appear in need of rest. Both probably will get it soon.

Brooklyn Manager Walter Alston has indicated he may switch to Rube Walker and if the second-string receiver should perform well at the plate, he may continue there for some time.

Berra and Campanella have identical .228 batting averages, many points below their lifetime marks. Yogi has hit 16 home runs and Campy 12 but their respective 49 and 45 RBI figures are disappointingly low.

AFFECTING WORK

Berra's sickly batting average appears to have affected his work behind the plate. The fleet-footed Chicago White Sox stole three bases and drew a wild throw from Yogi in beating the Yankees 7 2 Wednesday. Even Casey Stengel the understanding manager, is worried.

"I admit Berra's tired," Casey said. "I admit he could use a couple of days of rest. But with Harry Simpson needed at first base and Tony Kubek at shortstop, I've got to use Elston Howard in left field. Otherwise I'd put him behind the bat.

"I still believe that before long Berra will work out of his troubles. However, if you tell me that Yogi should have rallied long before this, I ain't going to give you an argument."

Campanella, the former iron man, has been plagued with injuries, serious and otherwise, during the last few seasons. A crippled hand kept him out of many games last year. Pulled muscles in both legs, a sprained thumb and colds have kept Campay out of action at regular intervals this season.

Berra isn't in the best of health, either. He hasn't been able to breathe normally since his nose was broken by a foul tip last month and he claims he gets tired in the middle of a game.

Canadians Have Left Korea Area

OTTAWA (CP) Only one Canadian soldier will be left in Korea after July 31.

Army headquarters announced Wednesday 29 soldiers, the last but one of more than 22,000 to serve in the Korean theatre, will have returned by the end of the month.

Staying behind is Maj. Gordon Douglas Cochrane, 41, of New Glasgow, N.S., Canadian representative on the military armistice commission at Munsan - ni, Korea.

The returning troops comprise the Canadian medical detachment which has provided medical and dental care for the remaining British Commonwealth troops in Korea. The entire Commonwealth contingent is being withdrawn.

Most of the soldiers already have arrived back in Canada. The final four are to arrive by air at Vancouver next week.

SPECIAL FORCE

North Korea invaded South Korea in June, 1950, and within two weeks Canada announced formation of a special force to fight with the United Nations.

The first Canadian Army unit to reach Korea was the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. It landed in Korea Dec. 18, 1950, and went into action Feb. 19, 1951.

The Patricias won a United States presidential citation for their heroic stand at Kapyong April 24,25, 1951.

Remainder of the 6,000-man Canadian brigade arrived in Korea May 4, 1951, and joined the Commonwealth division soon after. It was involved in periodic heavy fighting until the truce was signed July 27, 1953. The bulk of the brigade came home in September 1954.
