PROMPT PAYMENT.

To George McKenzie, Deputy of the Independent Order of Foresters,—

Please accept my thanks for yourself and the Supreme Court of your Order for the prompt manner in which you have settled the life insurance held by my son the late Perley C. Welsh. The cheque for one thousand dollars handed me today, only eight days after the funeral of my son—your Brother—is proof to me that the Foresters is a good business institution, as well as a great fraternal society.

I desire also to thank the officers and members of Court Avondale for the kind letter of condolence presented to me by your Chief Ranger, C. B. Warren, as well as for your kindness to us during the sickness and death of my dear son. This to me will be a reminder all through life of the wisdom and thoughfulness of him for whom I had hoped he would live and grow to a goodly age, but Heaven has decreed otherwise, and while it will be hard for us, his parents and sister, to bow to Divine Will, your earnest solicitude will help us to bear up under such a great loss.

Wishing your Society every prosperity,
I am yours sincerely,
ANNIE WELSH

CONCERT AT SOURIS.

A fairly large audience attended at St. Patrick's Hall on Wednesday evening last, to listen to a concert given by Miss Aimee Cecil Jones, Dr. McLellan, Dr. W. O. Peake and others. The recitations, songs and posings rendered by Miss Jones were very well executed and Dr. Peake as an Irish comedian brought roars of laughter from the audience who gave him great applause. The Ochestra conducted by Dr. McLellan was also highly appreciated. Following is the programme rendered:—

PARIS, Oct. 27.—It is understood that the fundamental basis of the difficulty between Great Britain and France in West Africa is that France declines to recognize the treaties concluded with native rulers by officers of the British Niger Company, until the text of such treaties hes been officially communicated to France by the British government. The French government claims that many treaties made with African potentates in behalf of France take precedence over the treaties negotiated in behalf of the British Niger Company.

The Dean of Rochester gave the following picture of the condition of the church in the past at the recent Church Congress in England: "Sixty years ago the Church of England was the church of the rich and not of the poor. In the villages the house of God was the dreariest and most neglected of all, and in the towns it was the house of merchandise, occupied most entirely by those who paid for the pews. There was one service on Sunday. The celebrations were quarterly. The sick were only visited when death was imminent. The shepherds lived away from the sheep. They ate of the fat and clothed themselves with the wool, but they did not feed the flock. The laity were alike to be blamed. The people loved to have it so. The heavenward road seemed smooth and easy as they nodded in their sleeping-cars. At long intervals they paid a church rate of a few pence in the pound grudgingly and of necessity, to whitewash the walls and keep the roof from falling about their ears, while they dwelt in houses of cedar painted with vermillion." This had been almost wholly changed. The clergy "were now as a rule working men, and the sarcastic observation, 'Them parsons has six blank holidays a week and only work half-time on Sundays,' was no longer just. New churches had been built and the old ones almost universally restored. The clergy were resident, the services far more frequent and devout, the sacraments rightly and duly administered. The house of prayer was in a large proportion free and open, so that the poor might have the Gospel preached to them; and it was preached to them more and more extensively as the apostles preached it without manuscrip and with simplicity."

ADDRESS TO MR. F. PETERS, Q. C.

The Law Society Present. Their Address This Afternoon.

Mr. Frederick Peters, Q. C., ex-Premier and Attorney General of this Province, will leave tomorrow morning for the Pacific coast. This afternoon he was presented with the following address from the Law Society of the province, the presentation being made in the Law Library at three o'clock:—

To the Honorable Frederick Peters, Barrister, etc.

SIR,—We the members of the P. E. Island Bar cannot permit you to leave the Province without expressing our regret that you deem it advisable to remove to the Pacific coast an act which will necessarily to some extent sever your professional connection with us. We are sensible of the wide gap the removal of one who attained and maintained so prominent a position among us will cause in our ranks. We have pleasure in testifying that while you discharge your professional duties with ability and fairness you conducted yourself with courtesy and consideration towards professional antagonists.

We are glad to think that although a wide space is to intervene between you in your adopted home on the Pacific and ours on the Atlantic, we shall still be fellow citizens. As citizens of the same Dominion it is pleasing to remember that although you are comparatively young in the practice of your profession the vast capabilities of the part of our country to which you are going have only been fully discovered since the beginning of your professional career; that within the same time the means of rapid intercommunication between the Eastern and Western part of your country have been completed, that these provinces have not only been consolidated by facilities of intercourse and common pride of country, but have extended their commercial enterprises across the Pacific Ocean to the Eastern Hemisphere. We are proud that our own country affords so inviting a field for men of enterprise and ambition. The older members of our profession will watch your career with interest and hope of your success; to the younger members it will be a profitable example and will afford them encouragement to think that, though trained in a small province, their professional exertions need not necessarily be cramped within a limited area, but that they can follow your example in seeking a more extensive field of action in the rapidly expanding territories of our bounteous country. That you may be successful in the Great West is the unanimous wish of your professional brethren, who part with you with regret, with pleasant remembrances and unbounded good wishes for your welfare, personal and professional success.

The address was signed by all the members of the Bar.

Mr. Peters made an appropriate reply to the address.

WINDSOR FIRE

The North British and Mercantile Insurance Co., represented here by Mr. Fred W. Hyndman, was amongst the largest losses in the Windsor Fire, their losses reaching over $60,000. The Company has, however, sustained its reputation for prompt and liberal payment of its losses, as may been seen by the following, addressed by the claimants to the Agent of the Company nine days after the fire.

WINDSOR, N. S., Oct. 26, 1897.

To D. P. ALLISON, Esq.,
Agent North, British and Mercantile Insurance Co., Windsor, N. S.

DEAR SIR,—We, the following citizens of Windsor, N. S., sufferers by the late conflagration, desire to express our appreciation for the very prompt and satisfactory settlement of our claims on the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company.

It is very gratifying to receive such prompt attention and liberal treatment at a time of so overwhelming a disaster as we have experienced, and we cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing our thanks to the officers of the Company and yourself for the kind and considerate treatment which they and you have extended to all claimants.
