Closing Scenes in an Assassins Trial.

The closing scene in the trial of Joseph Brady one of the Phœnix Park assassins, is graphically described by a correspondent:—"At half-past eleven Mr. Adams began his address in defence of the prisoner, who was now allowed to be seated in the dock. He stigmatised the evidence given for the prosecution as false from beginning to end, and described Carey as "Judas," a "liar," "a hypocrite," and a "murderer"—an informer who was selling his soul for the sake of saving his own miserable life. The evidence of Carey and his associate Kavanagh was, he contended, a concoction from beginning to end, and between them they had woven a web of falsehood in which it was sought to involve the prisoner at the bar. In conclusion the learned Counsel made a solemn and eloquent appeal to the jury on behalf of the prisoner, and on resuming his seat he was patted on the back by Dr. Webb; but there was no possible approach to applause or murmuring to be heard in Court. The Soliciter-General, at a quarter past twelve, rose to reply on behalf of the Crown, and, at considerable length, sifted the evidence which had been given during the trial. The Judge then proceeded to charge the jury, during which the prisoner, who now leaned on the bar of the dock, cast restless glances from time to time about him, as if anxious to gather the effect of His Lordship's observations upon the occupants of the Court.

AN ADVERSE VERDICT.

On the close of the Judge's charge, at ten minutes past three, the jury retired to consider their verdict, and the Court adjourned for half an hour. Very few persons left the building, evidently anxious to be present to learn the decision, and to witness the final scene in this famous trial. Every eye was turned upon the prisoner, who submitted to the trying scrutiny with a dogged expression of courage on his face, notwithstanding that it was evident he believed that his doom was sealed. At ten minutes to four, after a deliberation of forty minutes, a murmur ran through the assemblage, followed by a breathless silence, as the jury returned into the Court, and the Judge once more took his seat on the bench. Hereupon the prisoner rose to his feet and stood between two prison warders, facing the Judge. The Clerk of the Crown put the usual question to the foreman, who, in reply, said that the jury had unanimously agreed upon their verdict, finding Joseph Brady guilty of the murder of Mr. Thomas H. Burke, in the Phœnix Park, on the 6th May last.

A TERRIBLE POSITION.

A painful pause ensued, and for a moment the strong frame of the prisoner perceptibly trembled, whilst his face blanched to a deadly pallor. Then Dr. Webb rose, and applied for an arrest of judgement, on the ground that the jury were disqualified from trying the prisoner, not having been empanelled in accordance with the provisions of the the Crimes Act. The Solicitor General on the other hand, held that no irregularity in the proceedings had taken place, and eventually His Lordship overruled the objections raised by the counsel for the prisoner, who was then addressed in the usual terms by the Clerk of the Crown, asking him whether he could show any cause why sentence should not be passed upon him. In a harsh, stern voice the prisoner asserted that he was not guilty of the crime laid to his charge, and that the informers who had given evidence against him would do the same for His Lordship on the bench.

CAPITAL SENTENCE PASSED.

Mr. Justice O'Brien then, in solemn tones, said that no reasonable man who had listened to the evidence in this long trial could entertain a possible doubt as to the justice of the verdict to aggravated or intensify the pain which the prisoner must feel at the awful position he occupied, the more so that others would have to be arraigned on a similar heinous charge, and because the prisoner would have to soon follow his victim into eternity. His Lordship then assumed the black cap, and sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on the 14th of May next. The unfortunate man again protested his innocence, and before turning to quit the dock addressed the Counsel who had defended him, saying, "Dr. Webb, I thank you; thank you, Mr. Adams, and Mr. Sullivan." He was then removed to the cells below, and shortly after, under the usual escort, conveyed back to Kilmainham. The Court then adjourned on Monday. A vast crowd had assembled in Capel street, which has hitherto been the route to and from Kilmainham, but the authorities, evidently anticipating a demonstration even more pronounced than that of the previous day, altered their arrangements so that the vans containing the prisoners and approvers returned by way of North King street, which at the time was comparatively deserted. The escort consisted of a troop of Hussars and the usual body of mounted police.

SUPERB PHOTOS.

THIRTY YEARS practice on the "human face divine," has given Lewis that wonderful command of the art he is reputed to possess in delineating those who take advantage of his skill. He has also succeeded in securing the services of Mr. Turner, of Notman's, Montreal, where he has been employed for seven years. Now, every one knows that Mr. Notman would NOT keep a MAN in his employ for that time, if he was not a first-class workman. Mr. Turner has also worked for a number of years in England and Scotland. Lewis' Gallery is large and commodious, furnished with all the latest improvements. Lenses, which are entirely free from distortion, works the instantaneous and wet plate process. GAS COOKING STOVES.

WE have made arrangements with the best makers of Gas Stoves in the United States, which we will be able to supply the public, at the lowest possible price.

We have also agreed with the Gas Company (for the purpose of introducing these stoves), to sell the first fifteen (15) for which we may receive orders,

At their Net Cost,

LANDED HERE.

TESTIMONIALS.

The following are a few testimonials from a list of several hundred:—

The capacity of the Stove is surprising. With a No. 8 Stove we cooked for a party of seven, giving them broiled oysters, steak, lamb chops, and baked biscuit, in 45 minutes, at a cost for gas of 4½ cents. On another occasion we gave a dinner in courses of twenty men, the bill of fare as follows: Broiled shad, beef steak, roast quarter of lamb, baked biscuit and coffee; heating the water for washing the dishes four times, re-setting the table three times. All was accomplished in one hour and forty minutes, at an expense for gas of eleven cents. This work was all done on one No. 8 stove. All were enthusiastic over the manner in which the oysters, fish and meats were cooked; none had experienced any so tender, juicy, and of such full flavor before. We consider the stove a great success, and most complete in all its parts and arrangements

A. C. WOOD, Supt.

I bought one of your No. 12 Gas Cooking Stoves last September, for use in my restaurant, and have used it ever since for baking, broiling and stewing.

I can say for it that it is always ready and does its work rapidly; that there is no dust, no dirt, no surplus heat, as we are using only that portion that we need, and as soon as the article is cooked the gas is extinguished and there is no waste. I think it will do the same amount of work at less cost than coal, even at the high price of gas. It takes much less room than a coal range that would do the same work. I am perfectly satisfied with it and would not be without one for double the price.

J. T. HARKER.

The Gas Stove you sent me, I am glad to say has proved an entire success.

If my testimony is of any value to you, you are at liberty to use it. The decrease in the coal bill more than offsets the increase in the gas ditto. The cooking is excellent and uniform in its operation.

No dirt or dust irritates the careful housewife, and Mrs. S. describes it as a "real treasure."

In my humble opinion, any man who really wants to add to the number of allotted days of his better-half, had better invest in a Gas Stove and save her worry, and himself expense.

W. H. SEYMOUR.

We are perfectly delighted with our Gas Stove. It gives entire satisfaction in every respect.

MRS. M. PENNINGTON, 2103 Vine St.

Your favor of the 1st inst. was duly received asking my opinion of the Gas Cooking Stove bought last May, and in reply, would state that the satisfaction rendered by the stove was far beyond my expectations, and the work it will accomplish is marvelous, together with the small expense and comfort attending the same.

EDWIN A. GARETT.

Having used one of your No. 7 Gas Cooking Stoves for a considerable time past, it is with pleasure that I bear testimony to its genuine merits.

It boils, bakes, broils, roasts, and in fact, does everything that a first class stove or range can do, and with a saving of time and labor, that can only be appreciated by those who use them.

It has given us the most entire satisfaction, and to use my wife's words, "I would not be without it for ten times the cost."

From statements of our gas meter taken, we find it more economical than coal
