Montreal Tourist Business Reported Down This Summer

MONTREAL (CP)—In the last summer before the 1967 world's fair here, the city's tourist business is down by an estimated 25 or 30 per cent on 1965.

Tourist officials and hotel and motel operators, in general agreement on the extent of the falloff, give a number of reasons for the poor season.

They say the Viet Nam war is keeping U.S. tourists at home; that the U.S. airline strike has upset the plans of many others who may have been coming here and that the recent 38-day strike of longshoremen in the port of Montreal scratched many passenger sailings which would have brought visitors to the city.

Another reason—or hope—put forward by some is that thousands of Americans are not coming this summer because they are holding off for the world's fair.

The season's tourist picture has not been altogether bad. Summer convention business has "never been better," hotel men say.

Frank Bloodsworth, general manager of the Montreal Convention and Visitors' Bureau, reports a gain in convention business this year of between seven and 10 per cent. And this, he says, on top of a particularly good year in 1965.

But conventions constitute only a small fraction of the tourist business—about 10,000 convention visitors compared with about 3,000,000 general tourists each year for the last five years.

INQUIRIES OFF

Lucien Bergeron, director of the city's tourist bureau, reports a gain in convention business this year of between seven and 10 per cent. And this, he says, on top of a particularly good year in 1965.

Exhibition Is Termed Successful

The Provincial Exhibition 1966 drawn to a close on Saturday night and it will undoubtedly be remembered as one of the most successful on record.

Paid admission at the main fair ground to Friday was 14,000 as people from all sections of the Island and tourists alike had the time of their lives.

President Allison Profit estimated that an easy 12,000 people jammed the Charlottetown Raceway on Friday night which featured the Gold Cup and Saucer classic.

Hundreds of fans were required to cross the track to obtain standing space in the center field.

One of the most enjoyable features of the racing program has been the special entertainment for race goers as this must include mention of Arlene MacDonald who sang, The Island Hymn, as the horses were paraded to the post for the Gold Cup and Saucer race.

The Spartan Drum and Bugle Corps, from Nashua, New Hampshire gave a special concert in front of the grandstand on Saturday night.

MONASTERY'S SALE BANNED

DUBLIN (Reuters) — Ireland has banned the sale of pieces of a ninth-century monastery to Americans at $5 a stone.

The monastery is on tiny St. Patrick's Island, three miles out in the Irish Sea. It was bought recently for £20,000 pounds ($60,000) by English real estate agent Herbert Harriet.

He planned to sell the stones to Irish-Americans and hoped to build an orphanage in Northampton, England with the proceeds.

The Irish government declared the monastery a national monument and warned Harriet it would be illegal to alter, demolish or remove the ruins.

Money Supply In The U.S. Tightens Up Another Notch

WASHINGTON (AP)—The tight money picture tightened another notch during the last week and the outlook is for more of the same, at least in the immediate future.

Interest rates—the price borrowers pay for money—now are at record or near record levels and pressure for further increases will undoubtedly intensify before easing up. A combination of factors will make September a key month.

The Johnson administration, at this point, plans no drastic moves to roll-back rates. One government source said such a switch in policy might do more harm than good considering the delicate nature of the problem.

But the door has been left open for a possible tax increase, partly to help pay for the rising costs of the war in Viet Nam, to cover extra appropriations voted by Congress, and to help dampen inflation by cutting off some of the consumer demand for goods and services.

"It's still an open question," one administration source said Saturday in emphasizing that no decisions have yet been made.

MONEY NEEDED

A request to Congress for a tax increase, however, is more likely to come next January, if it comes at all, when the administration is expected to seek more money—possibly between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000—for the war in Viet Nam.

For the immediate future, the administration was reported planning no further request to Congress to limit interest rates beyond what it has already proposed. And these proposals are designed mainly to make more money available to the home mortgage market.

Some members of the Federal Reserve Board, which has repeatedly tightened credit over the last few months as an anti-inflationary measure, have publicly urged the administration to seek a tax increase to dampen inflation, contending that money is being asked to carry too much of the burden.

One administration source said the federal reserve, in tightening the money picture, is convinced that any loosening would not result in greater output but only in higher prices—in other words, inflation.

High interest rates are only a symptom of inflation pressures.

C. A. Smith Is Remanded

Craig Andrew Smith, North Wiltshire, appeared before city magistrate, A.J. Haslam, G.C. in city police court Saturday morning on a charge of having possession of stolen goods valued in the excess of $50.

The accused was found in the possession of a diamond set wedding band belonging to Mrs. Joyce Pert of Montreal, who is visiting in Charlottetown at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper, 261 Grafton Street.

The crown attorney is John P. Nicholson, G.C. and Mr. Smith's attorney is Charles R. MacQuaid, G.C.

City Magistrate, A.J. Haslam, G.C. heard the evidence of Mrs. Pert this morning.

Mrs. Pert testified that on Thursday, August 11 she returned to 261 Grafton Street from uptown and went immediately to the kitchen of the semi-detached residence to have dinner, which was ready. After dinner she helped with the dishes and took some clothes off the clothesline in the backyard and on coming in from the yard neglected to hook the screen door. She went into the living room to watch television shortly before 7:00 p.m. leaving her purse in the kitchen.

At about 7:10 she said her mother brought her purse to her and upon examination she found her wallet, containing a sum of money and personal papers and a brown envelope which had contained her wedding band, engagement ring and a sum of American money missing her parents, she said, had been sitting out in front of the house. She said that she immediately notified the police, but it was about a half-hour before she discovered the envelope missing and called the police again to report this.

The only thing that she has seen since, she said, was the wedding ring, found in Smith's possession, that was marked exhibit "A".

Mrs. Pert was cross-examined by Mr. MacQuaid.

After hearing the evidence, Magistrate Haslam remanded the accused until August 23, to set date for hearing.

Gerald MacKay of Murray River was fined $20 and costs on a disorderly conduct charge, on complaint of city restaurant owner, Walter Lee. And James Francis Garland of Millville was given $30 and costs or 30 days after pleading guilty to a similar charge.

Seven persons appeared in Police Court this morning on charges of being drunk and incapable and one on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

A motor bike operator escaped injury but his cycle sustained an estimated $235 in damages when it collided with a 1959 Ford driven by Neil R. MacNevin of 11 St. Peters Road.
