WHITEWASH AT NEW LONDON.

Sir Louis on the Results of the Protective Policy Still in Operation.

Contemporaneously with the advent of Sir Louis, the steam dredge with two tugs made its appearance in New London.

The meeting was organized by appointing Mr. James McLeod, of Graham's Road, Chairman.

After a few remarks, of his own, the chairman called upon Mr. George Found to read an address to Sir Louis, which was very complimentary, indeed, reciting all the wonderful achievements of Sir Louis in Parliament and his heroic deeds in Washington and London.

Sir Louis was received with applause. He spoke fluently and well, in fact his whole speech was a glorification theme and thoroughly whitewashed himself as the cleanest and purest politician in the land.

The meeting was graced by the presence of several ladies and Sir Louis did not fail to attribute his success in political life to the presence and influence of the ladies although they had no votes.

He said it was now thirty years since he entered public life; and while he admitted that there were many points upon which he might have done better still he boasted that he always did his duty and kept his hands clean. "I have returned as you know from an important mission to England in the matter of the Alaskan boundary. I was authorized to settle it by arbitration or let them take Dyea and Skagway and leave us Pyramid Harbor. I spent three or four weeks in England on this question. I wrote a book upon it and I left it with Mr. Chamberlain. Although it is not public property I am in hopes it will be submitted to the public. I submitted my report to the Government and we have agreed upon a temporary line for the present." He then launched into the Imperial question and praised the Government for their united action in sending troops to the Transvaal and also to the good feeling existing between the United States and Great Britain. "It would be criminal on my part," said Sir Louis, "to obstruct the good feeling of the two countries which has only manifested itself for the last two years," and one would infer that this good feeling was all due to the influence of Messrs Laurier and Larte and the present Dominion Government. He said the sending of a contingent to Africa was an extraordinary step without a precedent. "Some of our men hesitated, without calling parliament, but the heart of the Canadian people was in favor of it. While I acknowledge that those who hesitated had law on their side, yet Canada was justified in sending them. Today, it was required, more could be sent. At present the second contingent is not required."

At this time, he said, the Tories were trying to make party capital out of this matter, but they were irresponsible men, and the great body of Canadians are satisfied with the caution exercised by the Dominion Government. Party government is to be subordinated to the general good.

Then Mr. Davies alluded to the prosperous time. "The country is progressing at a rate unprecedented in her past history," he said: "From 1896 to 1899 there was an increase of 100 millions, equal to the previous 27 years." The Government of the day, he said, had a right to take credit to themselves for this prosperity as it was aided by their policy and under their rule. We are also accused of not keeping our promises, said the learned minister. Tupper the dear old man with great vim and vigor goes about the country saying we did not keep our promises. "I say there never was a government that kept their promises like the present government. When we came into power we had a racial war on the school question. There could be no peace or harmony until that was settled. Will any one say it was not settled. We settled it as we promised, but if the policy of the Conservatives had continued in power the country would be distracted. Then he says have we reformed the tariff, the old Foster tariff which was building up millionaires in the country. We reformed it in the direction of free trade. We have removed the hateful specific duties, took 25 per cent off all British goods coming into this country from Britain so that it fixes the price of all other goods from other countries to the same level.

"For years we had the Tory party talking loyalty. They never acted it. We are proud that we have reduced the tariff, and are giving cheaper goods and building up the Empire. What are the facts? Where you found one tall chimney five years ago, you have now ten. In every department you find the benefits of the grand old policy of—Mr. Fielding. There is now hope in the future of Canada. Who would the Tory party be? Where would they get their support only from those who are seeking for offices and could not get them? The people of Canada are more than satisfied with the policy of the Liberals. In 1895, Mr. Foster had a deficit of four millions. Last year they showed a surplus of five and a-half millions by Mr. Fielding's policy more than our expenditures. We carried out our pledges. Who knew of the Yukon when we came into power? We are spending two millions a year on the Government of the Yukon. But our revenue is doubled and trebled from there and the Kootenay.

"Mr. Blair said the Intercolonial must be carried into Montreal, and instead of a deficit we have a surplus of $53,000. Is it not better to have more railways when you increase the revenue from them?"

"Reciprocity with the States. Don't be in a hurry. We worked for it. We reached within a measurable distance, but separated on the Alaskan boundary question. I am not one of those who want to surrender anything. I am in hopes of a settlement. We did our best on the Franchise Act, and in all of these we have kept our promises. Are you going to introduce the Manitoba school question? The whole policy of the Tory party is to turn us out, Dear old Sir Charles lives in the past. The young men prefer to look to the future; and come what would, we would give you a clean government. No corruption, or uncleanness. We can come and say these hands are clean today. The Liberal party was a party of performance and the Tory party one of promises. The Liberal party is a party of action. In short you will soon have a cable of your own. We gave you the two cent postage. We built the Crow's Nest and tapped that great country and stopped American supplies."

We believe in Canada for the Canadians. We are spending more money than we were. But instead of having deficits we have surpluses. I read in THE EXAMINER that Sir Louis Davies was a failure. They talked about another winter boat and we built one costing $180,000 and she is now lying at the wharf. They talked of the Belfast Railway, but Sir L. H. Davies came in and passed the law to build it. If they want a nonentity to send there they have plenty of them in their ranks. I believe that the country will renew their confidence in me. I am not ashamed to face my foes. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for your reception of me.

Some person in the meeting asked about the plebiscite on the prohibition question, and Mr. Davies replied that he had given a written promise if a majority was for prohibition he would vote for it. But only 22 1/2 per cent of the electors had favoured it. The most pronounced temperance men they met thought it unwise to introduce legislation where the people did not vote in favour of it. The question is now under consideration to meet the views of their temperance friends.

Mr. John C. Clark and Mr. George Simpson were called upon by the chairman and they were so completely whitewashed that they approved of everything and were prepared to follow Davies in everything. There was only one volunteer speech, that of Mr. Harrington. He must have swallowed O'Connell, Grattan and Burke for he made the speech of the evening and lauded out from the shoulder with loyalty of Prince Edward Islanders in fighting for country and Queen.

This satisfied New London Liberals. They will never see another poor day. No one asked, for there was no opportunity given, about the price of oats and potatoes and the price of kerosene oil, and the great reduct on Mr. Davis secured on binder twine, whereby the Brantford Company declared a dividend of 100 per cent. No one asked about the New London branch railway, and the petition of the electors that he ignored. And to hear Sir Louis one would think that he attended to all the affairs of his own district. New London may well exclaim,—

"Nought shall make us rue
If we to ourselves do rest but true."

Have You Catarrh?

If you are troubled with Catarrh and want to be cured, use Catarrhzone, which is a guaranteed cure for this distressing disease. There is no mystery about Catarrhzone though its effect is magical. Ointments and snuffs cannot reach the diseased parts and have thus proved useless, but Catarrhzone is carried by the air you breathe directly to the diseased parts, where it volatilizes, killing the germ life and heal the sore spots. It cures by inhalation. No danger, no risk, sold by all druggists or by mail, price $1.00. For trial outfit send 10c in stamps to N C POLSON & CO. Box 540 Kingston, Ont.

Flow End Ties as popular as ever.—In the early part of the season a fair proportion of puffs and tecks were sold, but retailers have not disposed of them, particularly puffs have been slow sale, so that now the demand is largely for Imperials and English Squares. Barwing and other wide-end ties have been in greater demand than usual for this time of the year, which is owing to the high cut of waistcoats, and they will continue to sell all the season. Puffs are doing better to-day than two weeks ago. A puff is a winter scarf, and this shape will go better as the winter advances.

Don't allow anyone to persuade you that there are other places just as good as ours for clothing. There are others but none so good, none so cheap—Prowse Bros. 264 Sims.

Gloves, gloves, mens gloves, 50 dozen. A second shipment, gloves for walking, gloves for driving, lined and unlined gloves. Prices 25c to $2.50 per pair. Yours for gloves.—J B Macdonald & Co.

It is expected that everything will be in order and accoutrements received within the next two or three weeks. The drill shed at Summerside is being thoroughly repaired.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.—The Dominion W. C. T. U. Convention opened last Thursday night in Halifax. A complimentary concert was given to the delegates by the pupils of the School for the Blind. Mrs. Dr. Sprague, of Sackville moved that each delegate wear a badge with her name and address, in order to avoid confusion. An amendment was moved that each Province wear a badge. Both were lost. Greetings were received from Lady Henry Somerset of England, Pres. of the World's W. C. T. U., and from Miss Agnes Slack, corresponding secretary of the World's W. C. T. U. A service in memory of F. E. Willard, the departed leader of the W. C. T. U., was conducted by Mrs. Rutherford.

The Dominion Treasurer's report showed the total receipts to be $1865.88. Expenditure $640.16. Mrs Rutherford of Toronto, President of the Dominion W. C. T. U. gave her annual address which was eloquent, forcible, and full of valuable suggestions.

RECENT WEST INDIAN WRECK.—The steamer Beta arrived at Halifax last Thursday evening from Jamaica. On board were over twenty officers and sailors, the crews of three Nova Scotian vessels lost last month in the West Indies. The vessels were the barque Greenland, the schooners Nugget and Sorbas. All three crews were the victims of terrible West India hurricanes and all had narrow escapes from death. In almost every instance the rescued mariners lost all their belongings, and the British Board of Trade will look after their wants. The Greenland and the Nugget were wrecked on Turk's Island, and the San Blas on the coast of Jamaica. While disabled, previous to the wreck, the San Blas had spoken the United States transport Burnside and asked to report the schooner's condition. The steamer replied in the affirmative, but neglected to carry out her promise.

The Beta left the schr. Omega at Turk's Island all safe and crew well. She sailed on the 3rd Nov. for Charlottetown. The Omega had terrible weather from Demarara to Turk's Island, but came through it all right.
